COST OF WAR ONE BILLION

This Is Japanese Estimate for Campaign of Two Years.

RUSSIA IS CORRUPT

Count Okuma Declares This Weakness Favors the Mikado's Arms.

URGES HEROIC SACRIFICES

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

TOKYO, Oct. 6.—In addressing the members of the united clearing houses of Tokyo today, Count Okuma, the leader of the progressive party, warned the people to prepare for a long war, the date of the termination of which it is now impossible to foretell. He predicted that the cost to Japan for a two years' war, including the loans which had been already placed and the expenses consequent upon the war at its termination, would total one billion dollars, which would make the per capita share amount to $20.

Count Okuma said that corruption appeared to pervade the military, political and financial departments of the Russian government, and that this corrupion had almost reached a climax which threatened revolution. It was even reported that Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel, now defending Port Arthur, and upon whose shoulders rested the responsibility for the loss of a large share of Russian prestige in East Asia, was guilty of dissipation during the siege. The speaker declared that the weaknesses of the Russians gave the Japanese many victories. He pointed out that despite her defects Russia continued to hold the prominent and commanding position in Europe, and said that even Emperor William was "courting the favor of the Russian autocrat."

Heavy Sacrifices Needed.

Despite her weaknesses, Count Okuma said, Russia possessed immense resources and had tremendous advantages in the size of her population and the greatness of her wealth, and it would be for the Japanese to make heavy sacrifices in order to attain success. He predicted that the war would cost Russia from one and a half billion to two billion dollars, and said it would be impossible to raise loans or to increase the taxes in Russia, because the limit had been reached.

The count predicted that it would be necessary for the Japanese government to borrow $250,000,000 next year, and added that if $75,000,000 were secured abroad, the country must face a depreciation in the value of its securities.

Count Okuma urged the nation to carefully husband its strength and resources, and expressed the fullest confidence in the ultimate victory of Japanese arms.

The prefectural governors are now meeting in Tokyo and are conferring with members of the cabinet. The prefectural expenses have been reduced $10,000,000 since the beginning of hostilities, and other retrenchments are planned for the purpose of strengthening the national finances.

Orders to the Guards.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 7.—Significant orders have been issued to keep time-expired members of all the guard regiments stationed in and around St. Petersburg with the colors till March, 1905.

Orders were issued today to all seamen belonging to the battleship Orel and the cruisers Oleg, Zemtchug and Izumrud to rejoin their vessels at Cronstadt immediately. It is believed that this presages the sailing of these vessels tomorrow for Reval, where Emperor Nicholas is going to review the whole Pacific squadron.

JAPANESE MAKE READY FOR WINTER CAMPAIGN

FIELD HEADQUARTERS OF THE SECOND JAPANESE ARMY, OCT. 5, 2 P. M., VIA FUSAN, Oct. 6.—The Japanese are bringing up enormous quantities of supplies and ammunition for the winter campaign, using the reconstructed railway, carts and junks on the Liao and Taitse rivers. The railroad traffic is uninterrupted, and additional soldiers continue to arrive. The troops are standing the climate splendidly, few being reported sick.

BLACK SEA SQUADRON PASSED DARDANELLES?

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—(Special Cable.)—It is rumored here that the Russian Black sea squadron, which consists of eight battleships, three first-class cruisers, three second-class cruisers, six gunboats, 10 destroyers and 27 torpedo boats, has passed through the Dardanelles with the consent of the sultan, and is now waiting in concealment until such time when it shall be able to join the Baltic fleet.

AUSTRALIAN WARSHIPS TO WARN RUSSIANS

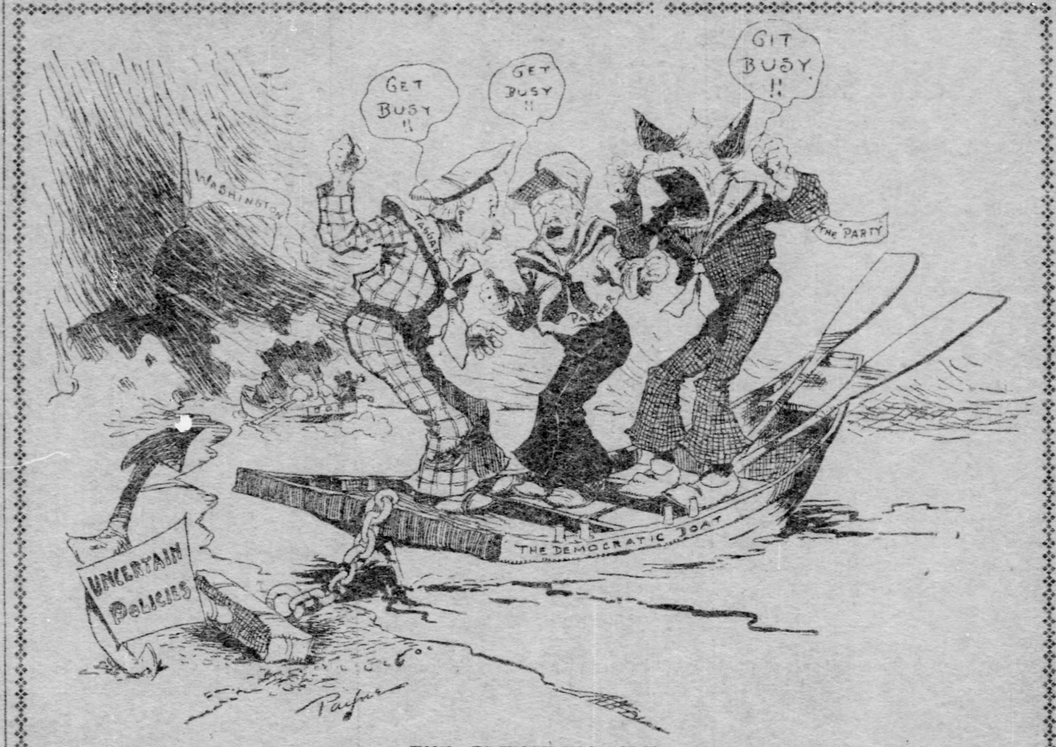
MELBOURNE, VICTORIA, Oct. 6.—Admiral Fanshawe, commanding the Australian squadron, has ordered the warships Pylades and Cadmus to proceed to Torres strait to warn the Russian warships, reported to have been seen cruising off Thursday island, against committing any breach of international law.

ROBBER IMPRISONS GIRL.

Steals $1,700 from Bank and Locks the Assistant Cashier in Vault.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, IA., Oct. 6.—A robber walked into the savings bank at Treynor today and at the point of a revolver, compelled the assistant cashier, Miss Frances Flood, to take $1,700 from the cash drawer and vault and put the money in a bag he carried. Then he drove the young woman into the big vault and locked her in. Later customers heard the girl's screams for help and released her from the vault.

An armed posse is in pursuit.



THE PREVAILING CRY.

AUTO GOES OVER BANK; STRUCK BY A TRAIN

Woman and Man Killed and Eight Other Persons Injured in New York.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—While speeding along in the Bronx early this morning, an automobile containing five women and four men went over an embankment at One Hundred and Sixty-first street and Jerome avenue. A woman and man were killed and the other occupants injured. The machine fell onto the New York Central railroad tracks, and the wreckage was struck by a south-bound train. The machine was in charge of Albert

The names of the persons killed could not be learned.

Among the injured are: Emma Perez, New York; Jeannette Davis, address not known; Moses Spies, New York, and Charles Doran, New York.

At Jerome avenue and One Hundred and Sixty-first street the roadway is between 20 and 30 feet above the railroad tracks. When the big machine plunged downward it struck near the southbound tracks and the nine persons and the automobile were caught by an incoming train known as the Crotan local.

When the train reached the Grand Central station shortly before 2 o'clock this morning, Engineer Livingston was placed under arrest. One of the passengers on the train said the train was running at the rate of about 35 miles an hour when it struck the machine. The automobile was a heavy touring car and it is said, was running at a rapid rate of speed. Engineer Livingston threw on brakes as soon as possible, but not before the wreckage of the car had been carrid some distance. Albert Noyes, the chauffeur is missing.

GOLD FOUND IN FAYETTE.

W. F. Stewart of McKeesport Claims Relatives Are Developing Vein Near Uniontown.

Gold in paying quantities is said to have been discovered in the mountains of Fayette county, about 30 miles from Uniontown, on a site formerly occupied by a blast furnace, according to W. F. Stewart of 1008 Locust street, McKeesport, who is a relative of a family owning the property. Mr. Stewart says that the vein has been prospected by three generations of the family who own it and that they are about to realize a fortune.

The discoverer of the lode went to his grave with the secret, but his descendants have been at work for two generations. According to Mr. Stewart, the outcroppings of gold that have been assayed show $3 to the ton and nuggets as large as a grain of corn have been picked up. There is also a distinct deposit of oxide of copper on the ridges.

BID OF TEN DOLLARS FOR $1,200,000 ASSET

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The $3,000,000 International Mercantile agency was sold to Charles H. Barritt of Philadelphia at public auction today for $26,000. The sale was conducted by George R. Beach, receiver. Mr. Beach started the auction by putting up the reports of the financial standing of tens of thousands of firms throughout the United States and Canada. These were supposed to have cost $1,200,000 to collect. The highest bid was $10.

HOYT MAY BECOME ATTORNEY GENERAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Senator Knox came over from Valley Forge today and was in conference with the president at the White House this evening. It is understood that he came to discuss politics, but there are reports to the effect that Senator Knox is interested in having Solicitor-General Hoyt of Pennsylvania advanced to attorney general in the event that Attorney General Moody succeeds Senator Hoar of Massachusetts.

Ex-Mayor Lyon's Condition Critical.

The condition of Maj. Robert W. Lyon, ex-mayor of Pittsburgh, who is at the home of his daughter, Mrs. James Messick, of McKees Rocks, was slightly improved last evening, although no hope is held out for his recovery, and his death may take place at any moment. He has been suffering with liver and kidney disease for the past 12 weeks.

$3,000 in Diamonds Stolen.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Albert B. Gaines, president of the Jefferson Hotel Company, reported to the police today that his room in the hotel had been entered and $3,000 worth of diamonds belonging to his wife stolen. Mrs. Gaines witnessed the robbery.

FACTIONS DRAW LINE OF BATTLE

Scofield to Be the Stalwart's Candidate for Governor of Wisconsin.

LA FOLLETTE IS MUCH PLEASED

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 6.—Developments have been rapid in the Republican factional fight in this state today. The stalwarts have adopted the name of the "National Republican" party; Samual A. Cook has withdrawn from the head of the stalwart ticket and will be succeeded by former Gov. Edward Scofield, whose selection will be ratified by the state central committee of the stalwart faction tomorrow.

After the stalwart conference, attended by Senators Spooner and Quarles among others, at which Mr. Cook's decision was announced, a second conference was held to plan an active campaign, which will mean scores of anti-LaFollette speeches by the best stalwart orators, including both Quarles and Spooner.

Another question considered was the propriety of bringing mandamus proceedings to compel the secretary of state to place the Republican electors in both columns on the ballot. That this action will be good, lawyers agree, since the law about fusion applies to a name appearing on the ballot twice, one each by different parties. No decision was reached on the matter, it being the intention to allow the attorneys for the stalwarts to thoroughly investigate the proposition before bringing the suit.

At Hartland this morning the governor talked. He spoke of the bolt from the state convention, and he said in substance:

"I am glad they went out. I am glad they bolted. They are now out where they will have to stand up and be counted. For the first time we have them where they belong, and the stalwarts, corporation element of the Republican party, is in open alliance with the stalwart and corporation element of the Democratic party. It is time that these wings of both parties were brought together in an open alliance and the people can judge just where they are at. You know where to place them. They are tagged and if you think your interest lies in voting with the stalwarts and putting them into office, that is for you to judge; but if you want to vote for your own interests, then you should send men to the legislature who will represent you. It is of no use to you to elect a governor who is favorable to your interests. All he can do is to recommend good legislation to the legislature."

STEEL COMPANY ORDERS FIVE NEW STEAMERS

They Are Needed to Carry Iron Ore for New Furnaces Recently Acquired.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 6.—The Steel Corporation will, within a week or 10 days, give an order to the American Shipbuilding Company for five steel steamers, each 560 feet in length. This is a movement on the part of the Steel Corporation, through its lake representative, the Pittsburgh Steamship Company, to have boats enough to carry all of the ore that it needs in a season, under the most strained circumstances.

The corporation has bought some new mines, and also some new Bessemer furnaces. It expects to add more furnaces soon, both in the Pittsburgh district and along Lake Erie. The need for ore which will arise when these furnaces open will present a serious transportation problem. Many of the corporation's present boats are too small to operate cheaply on the lakes, while others are not built to accommodate the needs of the new automatic unloading machinery.

PHILOSOPHY MAY CHANGE FACE OF CHRISTIANITY

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Prof. James Ward, head of the department of philosophy in Cambridge university, England, who is the guest of Dr. Francis L. Patton, president of Princeton theological seminary, declared today, in speaking of the present trend of philosophical speculation, that it would work a radical change in Christianity as at present understood, or would lead to the establishment of a new religion.

Lady Curzon Better.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Lady Curzon is reported further improved.

MR. LOREE CUT OFF TOO MANY HEADS

Unsettled Pleasant Relations Hitherto Existing on the Rock Island System.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Press Building.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 6.

The resignation of L. F. Loree as president of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Company continues to be the chief topic of conversation in railroad circles. Railroad men who have worked with him when he was with the Pennsylvania company say that he had the courage of his convictions, and when he decided to do a thing, no matter what objections were made or opposition encountered, he never faltered until he had accomplished it.

Rock Island employes say Mr. Loree had disturbed the pleasant relations among the rank and file of that company. He had no sooner assumed charge when he began to cut off heads right and left, the result being that within a few months nearly 200 officers had been released and their positions filled by men who had either been connected with the Pennsylvania or the Baltimore & Ohio railroad companies. This action alone caused a spirit of unrest, and the men, seeing their efforts of many years counted for nothing, lost interest in their work.

Besides this, a change was made in operating the road. All lines west of Chicago are operated, or have been operated, differently from those in the east. On the western lines long hauls are necessary; the frequent reclassification of trains is not desired, and conditions do not warrant it. It is claimed that Mr. Loree established rules similar to those in force on the Pennsylvania railroad, and that he sacrificed traffic to improve operation of the system.

MONT PELEE IN ERUPTION.

Steamer's Captain Reports the Volcano Emitting Stupendous Black Clouds and Balls of Fire.

KINGSTON, ST. VINCENT, Oct. 6.—The captain of the British steamer Sibun today reports that when the steamer passed the island of Martinique on September 30 Mont Pelee was in full eruption. The spectacle was witnessed by those on board the Sibun at 2 o'clock in the morning of the day mentioned, the volcano emitting stupendous black clouds and balls of fire. This accounts for the dust clouds reported to have been seen yesterday throughout the Windward islands.

Early in May, 1902, Mont Pelee broke into violent eruption, wiping out the city of St. Pierre and reaching other towns nearby. The loss of life on that occasion was estimated at 40,000.

SCHOOLMASTER SURRENDERS AFTER 31 DAYS' SERENADE

CADET, WIS., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—This village has a charivari record with a continuous performance of 31 days. This amazing charivari began September 7, when Prof. Verbeck, principal of the high school, arrived home with his bride. Prof. Verbeck has at last succumbed, however, and has issued a statement showing that peace has been declared upon promises of refreshments.

MADE A NEW RECORD FOR FAST TYPEWRITING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Miss Mary E. Pretty, who broke a world's record several days ago by writing 22,000 words on a typewriter in a single day has lost her laurels. The new champion is Miss Olive R. Cameron, one of her fellow clerks in the interior department, who was given a long record to copy about the middle of September. In seven hours she had written 23,000 words.

INFECTED MILK KILLS SCHUYLER COLFAX'S CHILD

SOUTH BEND, IND., Oct. 6.—Ellen, the 3-year-old daughter of Schuyler Colfax, and grandchild of the late Vice President Colfax, died today as the result of infection in milk delivered to the family. Katherine, a younger child, is critically ill from the same cause.

Mysterious Fire in Warship's Hold.

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 6.—Fire occurred tonight in the hold of the cruiser Washington, being built for the government by the New York Shipbuilding Company. So far as is known no one was on the cruiser within five hours of the time when the flames were discovered. The fire originated in a heap of sawdust. Little damage was done

MAIL CARRIERS FOR AN ESCORT

Uniformed Postmen Will Participate in Payne's Funeral.

A CIVILIAN CORTEGE

Request for Military Display at Washington Services Is Withdrawn.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO MILWAUKEE

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Room 10, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 6.

Flags are at half-mast on all public buildings in Washington in honor of the late Postmaster General Payne, and all departments will be closed tomorrow while the funeral services are being held in St. John's Episcopal church.

Instead of a military escort, uniformed letter carriers of the Washington postoffice will form an escort in the funeral procession. This is an order unique in Washington history. The escort of postmen will march and occupy the positions that a detachment of soldiers would.

A slight misunderstanding occurred in connection with the military arrangements. The war department expressed a desire to have a representative officer at the funeral. This was understood by Mrs. Payne to be the proffer of an escort and she expressed her willingness to have the escort.

When the question was discussed by the general staff of the army it became known that military escorts for civilians are not customary without special orders from the president. The members of the Payne family were not at all anxious to have any military display, and when the misunderstanding was brought to the attention of Mrs. Payne she immediately requested the state department to withdraw the request for an escort.

An Official Funeral.

Mr. Payne's funeral will be official in character and the arrangements are similar to those for the funeral of the late Michael Herbert, the British ambassador, who recently died in Washington. Seats will be reserved in the church for the members of the diplomatic corps now in the city and representatives from the army and navy and the various branches of the government service.

The train which will carry the remains of Mr. Payne to Milwaukee will travel as the second section of the regular train over the Pennsylvania railroad, leaving here at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. It will be composed of three cars, the special car Minnesota, tendered by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, in which the body will rest and which will be occupied by the members of the family, the special car Pennsylvania, tendered by the Pennsylvania road for the use of Secretaries Wilson and Hitchcock, who will be the cabinet representatives going from here, Assistant Postmaster General Shallenberger and others and a combination baggage and sleeping car.

E. J. Cantwell, secretary of the National Association of Letter Carriers, and E. A. Helig of the Postoffice Clerks' association, will represent those organizations at the funeral.

Burial at Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., Oct. 6.—The remains of Postmaster General Payne upon their arrival in Milwaukee Saturday evening will be taken to the city hall, where they will lie in state until 12 o'clock noon on Sunday. The casket will then be removed to All Saints' cathedral, where services will be conducted by Bishop I. L. Nicholson at 3 p. m., after which the remains will be taken to Forest Home cemetery for burial.

MADISON, WIS., Oct. 6.—Gov. LaFollette has issued a proclamation of respect on the death of Henry C. Payne.

POSTOFFICE TO CLOSE.

During Funeral of Postmaster General Payne Business Will Be Stopped.

The Pittsburgh postoffice will be closed between 10 a. m. and 1 p. m. today, in compliance with an order issued by Acting Postmaster General Wynne. These will be the hours of the funeral of the late Postmaster General H. C. Payne.

Postmaster Holliday is now in his new offices, rooms 3 and 3½, on the Fourth avenue side of the postoffice building. Superintendent of City Delivery J. E. Cowan's office has been moved to room 216, on the second floor.

FIENDISH PLOT FAILS.

Dynamite Evidently Intended to Blow Up Threshers Falls from Sheaf of Buckwheat.

WILLIAMSPORT, Oct. 6.—(Special.)—A fiendish attempt to destroy life and property was brought to light today at the farm of Milton Poust, in Penn township. While Mr. Poust and several assistants were hauling buckwheat from the field to the barn one of the men noticed something drop from one of the sheaves. On examination it proved to be a stick of dynamite.

Investigation showed that the sheaf had been pulled apart enough to permit the dynamite to be placed inside. Had the dynamite remained in the sheaf until it had reached the threshing machine, a frightful tragedy would have resulted.

TO PRISON FOR LIFE.

Such Is the Sentence Meeted Out to Eight Chicago Footpads—Crusade Is On.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Four hold-up men were sentenced to the state penitentiary for life here tolay. This makes eight such convictions and sentences of this class of criminals in Chicago within a week.

The state's attorney has begun a determined crusade against all street bandits, and in the future life sentences will be asked for these criminals when their cases come to trial.

BEVERIDGE TALKS

Indiana Senator Tells Republican League Why the Party Is Popular.

TAFT TELLS OF FILIPINOS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 6.—William H. Taft, secretary of war, and United States Senator Beveridge were the speakers tonight at the closing meeting held in connection with the convention of the National Republican league of the United States. A torchlight procession escorted the speakers to the hall, where a large crowd had gathered. President J. Hampton Moore of Philadelphia, who was reelected today as the head of the league, was called home unexpectedly and Sid B. Redding of Little Rock, Ark., national vice president of the league, presided.

Senator Beveridge was accorded a warm welcome when he arose to speak. Senator Beveridge said:

"The world moves; the nations advance, and the republic leads them all. Therefore the young men of America demand a president of their country who is up-to-date. Americans keep step with events; therefore we want a man whose convictions are not eight years behind the times. Americans are spirited and independent; therefore the young men of this country want a president who has no master but the people themselves. Young Americans are trying to be worthy of their fathers; therefore they want a president who believes in young manhood and young men—a president who believes that Americans of tomorrow will be as wise, brave, pure and patriotic as Americans of yesterday and today.

Want a Hand in Government.

"Young men do not want a president whose doubt of them places them under bond to carry out his views long after he is gone—especially when that bond binds them to strike our country's colors even though when the time to do it comes the whole world might aggrieve that such an act would be unrighteous, unpatriotic and unwise. Young Americans want to have some say in the nation's future which belongs to them, and decline to permit that future to be determined now. And this is one reason why the young men of the republic are Republicans this year. It is one reason why young Americans of 1904 are against the opposition's candidate for president. It is one reason why they are for that typical American, Theodore Roosevelt.

"Young men demand to know just what they are voting for and what against—and just what those they vote for mean to do. They refuse to make their ballots into blank cartridges. And that is another reason why young men do not this year belong to the opposition.

"For the opposition stands for neither a protective nor a revenue-only tariff; where six of the opposition are assembled there is difference of opinion—think of Gorman agreeing with Cockran on the tariff question.

"The opposition stands neither for gold nor silver; where two of the opposition are gathered there is difference of opinion—think of Bryan agreeing with Cleveland on the money question.

"The opposition stands neither for remaining in nor withdrawing from the Philippines; think of reconciling the words of their platform and their candidate on the Philippine question.

"The opposition stands neither for nor against new laws for restraint of trusts; neither for nor against old law's enforcement; or rather it stands both for and against—think of Belmont harmonizing with Hearst on the trust question."

Parker Without Decision.

Secretary Taft began by referring to the pleasure he had in visiting the home of the late Gen. Harrison, whom he said was "a great lawyer, a great statesman and a great man."

The speaker devoted substantially all of his speech to the issues respecting the Philippine Islands, and said:

"Judge Parker's decision as to what is to be done with the islands is as indefinite as upon other issues. He did not say whether or not he regarded the people of the Philippine Islands fit for government.

"The danger in bringing the Democratic party into power, in respect to the Philippine issue, is to be stated in the alternative, that if they came into power the Filipinos regard them as pledging themselves to give the islands immediate independence. But should they fail to keep this pledge, the insurrecto element would be certain to charge the government with bad faith. On the other hand, if they granted immediate independence, no greater disaster could come to the Philippine Islands and it would be a disgraceful abandonment of the duties and burden which fate has placed upon the United States."

HERO MEDAL CANDIDATE.

By Strange Coincidence He Is Captain of the Freighter "Andrew Carnegie."

CLEVELAND, Oct. 6.—(Special.)—The first Carnegie medal for heroes may go to a Cleveland man, who, by a strange coincidence, commands the freighter Andrew Carnegie.

When the Iron Chief was disabled off Point Au-Baroues in Lake Huron Monday night the Andrew Carnegie stood by and rescued Capt. Cody and his crew of 17 men. Marine men propose to bring this incident to the attention of the trustees of the hero fund.

Kaiser Not to Meet Italian King.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—The foreign office denies the current report that Emperor William will meet King Victor Emmanuel at some Italian port in November.

"FIERY" ORATORS ARE TO SPEAK

Filipinos Will Hold a Meeting in Behalf of Independence on Sunday.

TAFT CONFIDENT OF NO HARM

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

MANILA, Oct. 6.—A mass meeting of Filipinos is to be held Sunday at the National theater. The call states the purpose to be "to take some definite action upon the popular desire, to-wit, the giving of our sincere support and sympathy to the American committee on Philippine independence in its efforts to attain the end we desire."

Fiery orators will speak, the principal one being Sandico, a former member of Aguinaldo's cabinet, and who in 1899 signed the order for the massacre of all Americans and other foreigners in Manila. The government will not interfere.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 6.—Secreary of War Taft today, in speaking of the proposed mass meeting at Manila, said: "Even though they have what I notice is called 'fiery orators' I am sure that no evil results will follow the meeting. The fact that the government will not interfere with the meeting is pretty good proof of that. Sandico, who, I notice, is referred to in the cablegram as being one of the principal speakers, addressed a meeting the other evening, with no harmful results. In fact, the governor was present at the meeting and spoke also, explaining to the Filipinos present that they are not yet ready for independence. Following these two addresses there was a discussion pro and con."

CARNIVAL IN EAST END.

Business Men Hold Meeting and Complete Arrangements for Rousing Time on Hallowe'en.

The East End business men met last night in the Midland hotel and completed an organization that places the projected Hallowe'en celebration on a basis that will insure a record-breaking demonstration. Monday, October 31, will be the day on which the carnival will be held and many of the features that will contribute to the spectacle were outlined last night. Alderman E. C. Negley was elected president; John C. Thoma, vice president; Eli Normecutt, treasurer, and W. C. Morton, secretary of the organization. The following committees were appointed:

Program—E. C. Negley, J. C. Thoma, J. A. Batchelor, E. G. Robinson and C. S. Davidson. Music—J. A. Batchelor, Edward Cook and Henry Meyer. Printing—George Spickert, E. C. Negley and Charles Jacobs. Parade—John Bradley, John A. Reed, Albert Edwards and James Mertz. Capt. J. A. Batchelor was appointed chief marshal of the parade. The parade will consist of three divisions, one each from the Nineteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-first wards, and they will march in the order named.

The event will be largely patterned after the Mardi Gras of the south. Spectacular floats and masqueraders will abound. Business men will furnish many of the floats and their designs will be elaborate.

PRESIDENT IS INVITED.

Other Prominent Men Are Asked to Attend the Merrill Dam Celebration October 15.

ROCHESTER, PA., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—A meeting of the Merrill Dam Celebration association was held this evening, and arrangements for the celebration October 15 were nearly completed. Governors, senators and other public officers of all the states touched by the Ohio river have been invited, as have President Roosevelt and the members of the river and harbor committee of congress. A feature of the demonstration will be a big parade, to be participated in by all the available river craft. Bands have been engaged, and there will be an immense fireworks display in the evening. At the meeting this evening there were representatives from nearly all the towns in the Ohio valley.

The bear traps at the dam will be raised tomorrow and will remain raised until October 15.

PONY CAUSED ACCIDENT.

Bucking Mustang Collided With a Buggy and Severely Injured the Occupants.

While a Republican cavalry troop was drilling in Grant boulevard last night a bucking mustang caused a serious accident. The pony was being ridden by Chris Hermett. The animal became unmanageable and as it raced along the boulevard it collided with a buggy in which John Hassly of 415 Pearl street was riding.

Hassly was thrown out of the vehicle and was severely injured. He was taken to his home. The pony was so crippled that it had to be killed. Hermett escaped without injury.

TOOK INSPECTOR M'EVOY FOR AN ORGANGRINDER

Acting Inspector James E. McEvoy of the South Side and Sergt. Edward Jacobs of the Twenty-eighth Ward police station are, in the mind of at least one South Sider, professional organgrinders. Anton Rema, a Slav of that profession, was arrested yesterday as he had no license to play his tunes. The organ and its cart have been pulled up in front of the police station. McEvoy and Jacobs went out to look it over. The sergeant began to turn the crank, producing the music. A resident came along and dropped a penny into McEvoy's hand. He had passed on before McEvoy awoke to what had happened. The music ceased abruptly.

Wilkinsburg Contractor Missing.

B. F. Dreming, a Wilkinsburg contractor, is said to be missing. Last Tuesday he telephoned his wife that he would be home at the usual hour, but nothing has been heard from him since. He had just commenced the building of a new home in Wilkinsburg and left a sum of money with his wife and more in the bank.

Only one day more of the great Banda Rossa at the Expo. Hurry to hear it tonight. "The Resurrection."

GIBBONS DEFENDS KING LEOPOLD

REBUKES PEACE CONGRESS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—Cardinal Gibbons has written a letter to the Rev. Edward Everett Hale, in which he says:

I regret exceedingly that many pressing engagements prevented me from assisting at the peace conference in Boston. Had I been able to be present I would make it my duty to say a word in vindication of the policy of Belgium in the Kongo state. The representatives of the different European powers at the Berlin conference were compelled to express their admiration and praise of the noble ideals of the founder of the Kongo state and of the splendid results achieved through his humane policy.

The Italian representative, speaking of the perseverence of the king of the Belgians in the civilization and development of the Kongo state, said: "For eight years with rare constancy he has spared neither trouble nor personal sacrifice for the success of a generous and philanthropic enterprise." In terms no less flattering spoke the British representative, Sir Edward Malet, and likewise "Chinese" Gordon. Lord Curzon says: "The civilization, the development, the present prosperity of the Kongo state; the peace that now nestles in its once turbulent bosom, are all the fruits of the toil and sacrifice of the Belgians."

Keeping in view all this, it would be greatly to be regretted that a conference which bears the very name of peace should discuss a question which is calculated to arouse enmity and strife. Moreover, such a discussion would of necessity be one-sided and unfair, in so much as the representatives of the Belgian government would have no opportunity to reply to the charges made against its administration of the Kongo, nor to present their own case.

In the past, when the Kongo began to thrive, when happy prosperity began to smile upon her rivers and plains, charges were made from the outside against the Belgian administration of the Kongo, but the Belgian authorities have always been able to refute thoroughly and successfully all these accusations against misrule and violation of agreement.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—It has been decided that the United States government shall not at this time intervene in the administration of the Kongo State, as requested by the memorialists, who last week petitioned to the president to investigate King Leopold's administration of affairs there. No sufficient cause has been shown for intervention.

IS MAKING A TERRIBLE EXPLOSIVE FOR RUSSIA

Such Is Report Circulated Concerning Absence of Dr. George Archbold, Famous American Chemist.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MIDDLETOWN, CONN., Oct. 6.—George Archbold, a graduate of the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, who received a degree of Ph.D. from the University of Berlin, is supposed to be in Russia, manufacturing a high explosive for use in the war against Japan.

Dr. Archbold is one of the best known chemists in the world. He has a number of medals and memberships in scientific societies all over the world. He is an expert on high explosives and has invented an explosive that has been carefully tested and found to be more powerful than anything used by the United States, Japan or Russia.

Dr. Archbold's trip to Russia was arranged on very short notice. Two days before he was to start from here two Japanese appeared at the breakfast table at Chafee's hotel and endeavored to engage Dr. Archbold in conversation. Fearing that the Japanese had become aware of his intentions, Dr. Archbold was secretly driven to Middlefield Center and there took a train for New York. He sailed for Russia Saturday, September 24.

COURT JEWEL WAS LOST.

Taken from the King of Wurtemberg; Picked Up in Railroad Station.

Mrs. Tille Cable of Ohio, who is a guest at the home of Dr. Christian P. Seip, 316 North Highland avenue, is grieved over the loss of a jewel presented to her by her brother, who some years ago was created a baron by the king of Wurtemberg. The jewel, while it has an intrinsic value of but $200, is said to have been presented to the baron at the court of Wurtemberg and was therefor valued beyond its real worth by Mrs. Cable.

The lady had left a handbag containing the jewel and $15 in money on a seat in the East Liberty station Wednesday morning while purchasing a railroad ticket, and returning a moment later discovered it had been taken. A preposterous rumor was circulated last night that the bag had contained one of the European crown jewels.

TART SPEECH BY FORSTER.

British War Secretary Says Army for Sport and Social Opportunities Is Not Wanted.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—At Sheffield tonight Arnold Forster, the secretary for war, made a strong speech on the country's military needs. He said his experience in the war office had convinced him that the lessons of the Boer war had not yet been learned and that dangers existed requiring immediate treatment. "We do not want an army," he said, "for sport, for social opportunities or for recreation, but an army which is ready to face a foreign army and defeat it."

Under the peculiar circumstances of this country, Mr. Forster thought, "we should not gain from conscription those benefits which its advocates expected, while we should impose upon ourselves unnecessary burdens."

M. S. Quay Club Reorganized.

ROCHESTER, PA., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—The old M. S. Quay Republican club has been reorganized with 150 members and at a meeting last night effected a permanent organization. The following officers were elected: President, Attorney George A. Baldwin; first vice president, W. L. Peacock; second vice president, C. A. Wallever; secretaries, Charles Coleman and Garrett Bentel; treasurer, James L. Cole; captain, Burgess James W. Doncaster; first lieutenant, Benjamin Chandler; second lieutenant, Marvin Wallover.

Incendiaries Burn Mining Property.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—An unoccupied dwelling and the stables at the mines, owned by W. A. Gorman & Brothers, of Baltimore, at Hungry hill, near Barton, were destroyed by fire of incendiary origin last night. An attempt was also made to wreck the plant and cars.

Grover Cleveland's Health Good.

BUZZARDS BAY, MASS., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Former President Grover Cleveland left here today for his home in Princeton. Persons who have been intimate with Mr. Cleveland here say that he is not suffering from any illness.

TOOK TWO WAYS TO END HIS LIFE

Robert A. Mercer, a Victim of Melancholia, Swallows Poison and Plunges Into River.

GIRL RUN OVER AND KILLED

Robert Addison Mercer, for many years a well-known resident of this vicinity, took his life last night by jumping into the Ohio river at the foot of Greenwood street, Allegheny. He was 45 years old and single. Just a few minutes before his body was pulled from the water his sister, Mrs. Jennie McFerron, of 1435 Locust street, found a note on the dining room table. In the note the brothar informed the McPherson family of his intention to go to the flat at the foot of Greenwood street and commit suicide. He bade an affectionate farewell to all his friends and asked that his body be buried beside those of his father and mother in the Presbyterian cemetery at New Wilmington. Melancholia, the result of ill health, is supposed to have prompted the man to take his life.

For 18 years the unfortunate man was bookkeeper for the Joseph Horne Company. He resigned two years ago because of chronic nervousness, and until last month was living in Los Angeles. During that time he spent his leisure in short trips to various parts of the west. Returning early in September, he attended the Grand Army encampment in Boston. Since then he had been making his home with Mrs. McFerron.

Appeared Well and Cheerful.

From all external indications he had regained his health and was cheerful. It was his intention to return to California tonight, and with this in mind he had a New York draft cashed yesterday by his brother, Andrew H. Mercer, the attorney. The latter spent yesterday afternoon with his brother and arranged to meet him at the train at 7:30 tonight.

The McFerron family went to church last night, leaving Mr. Mercer alone in the house. When they returned shortly after 9 o'clock the note was found. With some neighbors and Dr. McLachlan they went to the foot of Greenwood street, where James Young of 1117 Laurel street pulled the body from the river. The suicide had evidently dived headlong from the street, as his feet were caught on a line stretched from the Iron City Sand Company's flat to the bank. There was a spark of life still remaining, and a patrol wagon was driven rapidly to the Allegheny General hospital, where efforts at resuscitation proved futile. The hospital physicians are of the opinion that Mercer swallowed some kind of poison before going into the river.

Andrew H. Mercer identified the body at the hospital and will have it shipped to New Wilmington for burial. The dead man came from one of the oldest families in Mercer county. He is survived by A. H. Mercer, the Rev. J. M. Mercer of Carnot, Pa., and Mrs. Jennie McFerron.

Tragic Death of Child.

Elizabeth M. Harmany, aged 5, of 72 South Twenty-third street, was run over by a wagon of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company in front of her home yesterday afternoon and almost instantly killed. The wheels broke her neck. She died while on the way to the St. Joseph's hospital. The child was crossing the street and became confused as the team came on her. She got between the horses and was knocked down and run over before the driver, Jacob Aul, could stop the team. The driver was arrested, but later was released on bail.

Paul Sherbach, aged 57, of 57 Petrel street, Woods Run, Allegheny, died at his home yesterday from injuries received by being crushed between a street car and a wagon Monday last.

James McTighe, aged 65, of 12 Sweeney street, Allegheny, died at his home last night from heart disease. He had just left the supper table and went into an adjoining room and fell dead. He was employed in the city water bureau.

Nicholas Vezmark, aged 25, of 2832 Carson street, died at the South Side hospital yesterday from injuries received in Jones & Laughlin's mill September 29. He was struck on the head by a falling beam.

JONES WILL RECOVER.

Board of Prison Inspectors Will Meet Today at the Western Penitentiary.

The condition of Charles Jones, the negro prisoner in the Western penitentiary, who was stabbed last Saturday night by George Christian, the colored murderer, remained unchanged yesterday, but Warden W. McC. Johnston is of the opinion that he will recover.

The prison inspectors will meet this afternoon with Warden Johnston at the regular monthly meeting, and it is likely some action will be taken in the case of Christian.

The report that it was not Jones, but "Buck" Saunders who had been wounded, was denied last night by the warden. He says he does not know the name of the victim of Christian's knife, and is prevented, by orders from the prison inspectors, from telling the prisoner's number.

Former Mayor William J. Dethi yesterday received word from Harrisburg that he had been reappointed a member of the board of prison inspectors.

RUSSIA MORE COMPLAISANT.

Representations Made by United States Regarding Passports Referred to a Commission.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 6.—The representations submitted to Russia by the United States for the recognition without discrimination of American passports (treatment of Jews being involved) have not been entirely fruitless. After receiving consideration at the foreign office, the American note was referred to the high commission for general revision of the passport laws of the empire.

An official of the foreign office has been appointed by Count Lamsdorff to meet with the commission, which will sit under the direction of the minister of the interior. Ambassador McCormick, who had an extended talk with Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky, the minister of the interior, upon the subject this evening, found him quite sympathetic.

To Establish New Wireless Station.

GLACE, BAY, C. B., Oct. 6.—A contract has been let for the erection of a new wireless telegraph station near Fort Morien. The old towers at Cable Head are to be dismantled. There are to be two circles of poles connected with towers and the station is to be the most powerful which has yet been erected in Cape Breton.

New Agent Appointed.

V. H. Nivison of Coraopolis, freight agent for the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, has resigned his position, and is succeeded by A. N. Hood of Bentley. O. J. A. Hendricks succeeds W. J. Kirk at West Elwood junction, who takes Mr. Hood's place at Bentley.

JOHN SHARP WILLIAMS VENTS HIS SARCASM

Makes Reply to Charge That Democracy Is a Party of Retrogression.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Oct. 6.—Congressman John Sharp Williams opened the campaign at Louisville for the Democrats tonight. The meeting was preceded by a long parade.

Mr. Williams' speech was largely pitched in a key of intense sarcasm, dealing mainly with the record of the Roosevelt administration and the views of the president as set forth in latter's letter of acceptance. The speaker took some time to answer the charge that the Democratic party is not a party of constructive statesmen.

"They say we are the party of retrogression and criticism," said Mr. Williams. "To answer this it is only necessary to refer them to the administrations of Jefferson and Jackson, the founders and upholders of the principles we revere. Both of these presidents were pre-eminently of the constructive school—indeed, if either had a fault, it was that they might attempt too much."

SECRETARY SHAW SPEAKS.

He Declares Democratic Rule Is Synonymous With Disaster and Praises the President.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury, addressed a Republican meeting here tonight.

Mr. Shaw discussed the tariff, the business combinations and the silver issue, urging especially all Populists and free silver men to join the Republican party this year. He defended the Republican position on these three issues and praised especially the part President McKinley took in establishing the party policy along these lines. He said Democratic rule was synonymous with disaster. He praised President Roosevelt and his attitude toward business combinations.

ELDERS WERE ELECTED.

Free Methodist Conference Makes Appointments of Church Officers.

Election of district elders was the business before the Pittsburgh conference of the Free Methodist church during the morning session yesterday. Bishop E. P. Hart presided during the day. The election of elders was as follows: Pittsburgh district, A. D. Zahniser; Allegheny district, A. Wilson; Rochester district, J. F. Silver; Greensburg district, O. Gormley.

Reports of ministers of the various circuits showed a uniform advance financially and in membership. In the afternoon the Rev. J. H. Wightman of Cove Run preached on "Heavenly Citizenship." At the night session the sermon was delivered by the Rev. A. L. Whitcomb, president of Greenville college, Greenville, Ill.

TO BUILD ARMORY.

Officers of Fourteenth Regiment Confer With Committee of Councils.

At a meeting of the armory site committee of Allegheny councils yesterday afternoon the plans for the erection of a home for the Fourteenth regiment were talked over by the committee and Col. W. E. Thompson. Maj. Harry Fowler was present and took part in the conference. If councils will provide a site and assist in building the armory, Col. Thompson says Allegheny will be made the headquarters of the Fourteenth.

The committee instructed the city solicitor to draw up an ordinance leasing to the regiment as much land as is required for an armory site and parade grounds. A vigorous movement for the raising of a big fund for the building of the armory will be started at once.

MRS. PHIPPS AT ATLANTIC CITY

She Will Remain There Indefinitely and May Sail for Europe Later in the Season.

L. C. PHIPPS LEAVES THE CITY

Mrs. Genevieve Chandler Phipps, who was reported to have prepared to sail for Europe on the Baltic on Wednesday, and who is believed to have changed her mind while the big vessel was still swinging beside the White Star pier in North river, New York, is at Atlantic City. Mrs. Phipps is accompanied by her two children and will remain indefinitely at the seashore. L. C. Phipps, her former husband, who has been in Pittsburgh during the last 10 days, returned this week to Denver.

It was said that Mrs. Phipps would come direct to Pittsburgh when she left New York on Wednesday night. Inquiry at Grandview, the Phipps home in Fifth avenue, last night brought the response that Mrs. Phipps had taken her children and gone direct to Atlantic City from New York. It was stated that she would remain there for some time and had no definite plans as to her itinerary after leaving there. It is believed that she will return to New York.

At the Duquesne club, where Mr. Phipps had been stopping during his sojourn in the city, it was stated last night that he had returned to the west on Monday night. He left his offices in the Farmers bank building on the same night and said that he intended returning to Denver. He said that he had dispatched the business needing his attention here and was anxious to get back to his adopted city.

Further details of the settlement of the Phipps divorce suit were divulged yesterday. Under the terms of the settlement, it is said, Mrs. Phipps receives $1,000,000, provided she does not marry again for 10 years. If she does wed again $500,000, which is for the time held in trust, reverts to her former husband. Mrs. Phipps' repeated denials of her reported engagement to A. Hart McKee, which seem to be verified in the incidents connected with Mr. McKee's sailing for Europe, are to be received with full credence here, but some think that Mrs. Phipps has not entirely abandoned her desire to go to Europe. Her close friends last night intimated that she probably would go abroad later in the month, with Paris or the south of France as her destination.

Mrs. McKee, who is believed to know something of the latest story of her former husband's engagement to Mrs. Hugh Tevis, has been spending the summer at her cottage on Long Island. Mrs. McKee is the daughter of Dr. R. S. Sutton of Western avenue, Allegheny.

OFFICIALS ON TOUR OF INSPECTION OF MINES

Three Score of Experts Pay Visit to Plants of National Mining Company at Sygans.

A tour of inspection of the mines of the National Mining Company at Sygans was made yesterday by officials of the Frick Coke Company. The inspection was made at the invitation of the officers of the National Mining Company. Thomas M. Lynch is president of both companies, which are constituent members of the United States Steel Corporation, and the visiting officials made the trip in a special car, starting from Scottdale in the morning. The car was transferred from the Pennsylvania to the Panhandle railroad in Pittsburgh, and carried the visitors to Sygans, transferring them there from one mine to the other. Luncheon was served in the car, and in the afternoon the party returned to Pittsburgh.

The National Mining Company operates two mines in Sygans, which is just beyond Bridgeville on the Panhandle. There were 60 officials of the Frick Coke Company in the party of inspection yesterday, including W. H. Clingerman, general superintendent; J. P. K. Miller, chief engineer; A. A. Straub, real estate agent for the Frick company; a number of the different mine superintendents, including William Ramsey, superintendent of the Morewood mine; Superintendent Mack of Standard, R. E. Loughrey of Leissenring No. 1, Hood of Continental No. 3, Abrams of Continental No. 1, Shank of Lemont, Titterington of Oliphant, Tormey of Trotter, Boyd of the Lambert mine, Boyd of Continental No. 2, Ramsey of United, Downing of Dorothy mine, Finch of Bagley, Dumphrey of Marguerite, Stevenson of the Mammoth mine, Lynch of the Valley mine and Head, superintendent of Allen, together with the division engineers, and William Gates, assistant to J. P. K. Miller, the chief engineer, and G. E. Huttlemair, mechanical engineer. The inspection was for general observation and comparison.

RECEPTION TO PAUR.

James I. Buchanan Issues Invitations for an Event at the Duquesne Club, October 27.

James I. Buchanan, chairman of the Art society's committee that has charge of the affairs of the Pittsburgh orchestra, has issued invitations for a reception he will give in honor of Emil Paur, the new conductor of the orchestra at the Duquesne club on the evening of Thursday, October 27. The guarantors of the orchestra, past and present, comprise the guest list for this event. It will be the first public appearance in Pittsburgh of Mr. Paur in his new office, and naturally considerable importance attaches to the occasion.

Mr. Paur is expected to land in New York next Sunday morning. He is coming over on the steamship Hamburg, and will spend several days in the east before coming to Pittsburgh, making his headquarters meanwhile at the Hotel Savoy.

George H. Wilson, manager of the orchestra, leaves for New York this evening to meet Mr. Paur and confer with him regarding some of the detail work connected with the orchestra.

IS A CHAMPION OF PURE FOOD

Meat and Milk Inspector Murphy Will Stamp Out Adulteration.

Meat and Milk Inspector Jacob J. Murphy, of McKeesport, yesterday entered suits against Thomas Glasscow, a restaurant keeper, and Isaac Chotiner, a dairyman, for dispensing alleged impure milk. Mayor G. J. F. Falkenstein will hear the cases in the morning. The suit against Glasscow is the first of its kind entered by Inspector Murphy, but the forerunner of more sensational cases unless conditions improve.

Inspector Murphy says he is convinced adulterated milk and other adulterated food are freely dispensed in hotels, restaurants and even hospitals, and he declares he is going to stamp out this evil in his district.

Dr. C. C. Huff of the Homestead board of health announces that meat from all the shops in the Second ward will be tested. The attention of the board of health was called to the bad meat sold, by the arrest of E. Jorowski, who was fined for slaughtering within the borough limits.

"Jack the Peeper" in Homestead.

A "Jack the Peeper" has been operating in the Second ward of Homestead for the past several nights. Wednesday night Miss Mamie Smith and Miss Eva Altman were returning to their homes in Fourth avenue when the fellow came out of an alley and attempted to catch them. Miss Smith was taken ill soon after and is still in a serious condition from fright.

School Saving System Abolished.

The school saving system has been abolished in the public schools of Braddock, as it is claimed the work entailed too much trouble and was unsatisfactory to the pupils. The system had been in force at the schools for two years, but was never popular with the pupils.

Visitors at the Expo should not miss the Gallery of Russian Paintings. The great masterpieces there are magnificent.

Most thrilling religious feeling ever experienced when you listen to the Banda Rossa playing the great "Resurrection" at the Exposition. Last time tonight.

NUT PICKERS ARE COMING TO TOWN

Country Lads Here for Annual Trade in New Shotguns and Muskrat Traps.

HALLOWE'EN GOODIES PLENTY

Five thousand bushels of walnuts and shellbark hickories will be brought to Pittsburgh markets within the next week to be quickly converted into cash and traded in for new shotguns, muskrat traps, loaded shells and school books. The first autumn frost is really the country boy's most important date in the calendar. It brings down the nuts and opens the way toward acquiring the precious horde of money which he has been wishing for ever since the new fall sporting goods' catalogue was issued.

Frequent touches of frost have made him happy. Never was the nut crop better than this year and the promise of a universal celebration of Hallowe'en in the city indicates that he will realize a stiff price for his goods. Better than all this, the prices quoted for shotguns and the nimrod's equipment are lower than in former years. This means that three bushels of nuts will buy a dandy nickel-plated single-barrel breach-loader, and 10 bushels will be sufficient to take home a double-barreled gun that will kill a cotton-tail at 90 yards and pick a gray squirrel from the top of the tallest tree in Indiana county.

"Not all of the walnuts, hickories, chestnuts and butternuts will be bought from the Liberty street commission men," said an attache of the Pittsburgh market house yesterday. "The best nuts come right in from the adjacent country—from Washington, Indiana, Beaver, Butler and Westmoreland counties—and are offered for sale here on the public counters. Country boys arrive on the earliest trains and sell the nuts in small quantities to customers who want to be certain that they are getting fresh goods. The boys realize from $5 to $10 from a modest basket and some of them bring $25 worth on a single trip. Of course, not all boys buy shotguns. In about two weeks more the average farm lad will be ready to start to school. By that time the apples will be picked, the potatoes lifted and the corn will be ready to crib. The turnips will be attended to on Saturdays.

"The young farmer knows what he will need in the way of school supplies, and almost without exception he will get in this term's books from his nut money and will buy them from the second-hand bookshops. A score of boys were here on Tuesday at sunrise and tomorrow the market will be crowded with them. They are impatient to dispose of their goods and be ready to go to the exposition before noon. There they will wander through machinery hall for a couple of hours and return uptown to do their shopping. You never see Young America from the country spending much time in the music hall at the Point. They think far more of the amateur cross-roads band than any classical program given by the big bandmasters who visit the expo."

The champion nut harvesters come down on the Morgantown packets. They make their fall trip to Pittsburgh a big vacation journey, and beside taking in the exposition they spend a part of the day looking through the parks and in taking in a show at a popular-priced theater. The trip is an inspiration and the subject of a life-long memory for the humble sojourners with fingers dyed brown with walnut hulls. Hundreds of them will come to town before Hallowe'en.

LYE, NOT ICE CREAM.

Joke of Little Boy's Playmate May Have Serious Results.

"Here's some ice cream for you, Tom; eat it."

With this remark a little girl playmate of Thomas S. Raymer, aged 5, of McKeesport, handed him a toy plate containing lye, intending to play a joke.

The boy placed some of the poison in his mouth and ran to his home screaming in agony. A physician was summoned. The boy is in a critical condition, however, some of the lye having been swallowed.

REMARKABLE PIANO SALE GOING ON

At Ambuhl Bros.—Prosperous Times Again and the Greatly Reduced Piano Prices

ON ACCOUNT OF STORE ALTERATIONS

IS THE REASON WHY AMBUHL BROS. ARE NOW SELLING SO MANY PIANOS DAILY.

PUBLIC APPRECIATES THE OPPORTUNITY

TO SECURE ONE OF THE GOOD NEW HIGH-CLASS PIANOS AT A DECIDED BARGAIN—SALE ONLY LASTS SEVEN DAYS.

OPEN EVENINGS—632 SMITHFIELD ST.

Good times are with us again, that is certain. That they are here to stay for several years to come is unquestioned by the best of judges.

The extraordinary cut prices on the best makes of pianos that Ambuhl Bros. are now making on account of extensive alterations to be made in their store building would at any time naturally clear out a large number of instruments.

But now on account of the betterment of the times, people prosperous and will continue to be, they are taking advantage of this special ten-day sale of good pianos in large numbers.

They are getting the children pianos, the wise ones are buying now and at this sale while they can save a very goodly sum of money.

We must clear out a large number of instruments before our extensive alterations are started. You can take the pianos without profit to us.

We prefer to give our patrons the profit rather than take a loss in damaged pianos, retarded work, etc.

What makes?

Why, we offer you the world's best piano product at this sale. Your favorite piano is here, for the stock comprises practically all the good, reliable, standard makes, as follows: Kimball, the World's Fair premium piano; Chickering Bros., famous from every point of view; Hallet & Davis, Boston's most favorite piano, not only one of the oldest makes in America, but one of the very best. Then here are Sterling pianos, Capen pianos, Steinway pianos, Whitney pianos and numerous other makes.

We offer $200 pianos for $117.
We offer $250 pianos for $143.
We offer $275 pianos for $178.
We offer $300 pianos for $187.
We offer $325 pianos for $198.
We offer $350 pianos for $227.
We offer $375 pianos for $243.
We offer $400 pianos for $267.
We offer $500 pianos for $315.

Terms?

We make terms to suit you. The sale prices are based on cash, but we offer all our easy payment plan, $10 to $25 or more down, $6 to $10 or more monthly.

Used uprights? Yes, we have quite a number left to close out at half their real worth. Room we must have for these extensive alterations, and the only way we know of moving these pianos out quickly is to offer them at prices that will make them go.

For instance:
A $250 Arion upright, $75.
Cash or $5 monthly.
A $300 Hale upright, $90.
Cash or $5 monthly.
A $350 Vose & Sons' upright, $110.
A $400 Chickering & Sons, $135.
A $450 Kranich & Bach, $150.
A $350 Emerson upright, $125.
A $400 Kimball upright, $175.
A $500 Steinway upright, $240.
A $450 Kimball upright, $250.
Good square pianos for $18, $23, $38, $47 to $63.

Terms $6 to $10 cash, $3 to $5 monthly.

Organs, Organs, Organs! Used organs for nothing. We'll not charge you a cent for the organs, just for the work in repairing them, that's all. They go at $8, $12, $18, $27 to $36, and new organs go at $33, $48, $59 to $68. They are worth twice the money. Come and get one on terms of $5 to $7 cash, $3 to $5 monthly.

Sub-Postal Station No. 29---Notice.

Acting Postmaster General Wynne has issued an order closing the Pittsburg Postoffice, and all sub-stations, today between 10 A. M. and 1 P. M., out of respect to the memory of the late Postmaster General Payne. In compliance with this order, Sub-Postal Station, No. 29, located in our store, will be closed during the above hours.

New Household Linens--Useful and Decorative.

The books of the Pittsburg Customs House from year to year will show us the largest importers of linens in Western Pennsylvania. For this year our importations are heavier than ever before, which is saying much, as our outlet for fine to finest linens of all sorts is really one of immense proportions. We control the output of the leading mills in Dunfermline, Scotland, for Western Pennsylvania. We mention this to give you an idea of the extent of our linen purchases in the course of a year. You can buy the product of either of these mills nowhere else in this section of the country.

Naturally, buying on such a large scale, we receive, and can afford to quote lower prices than the people all around us. We quote some few prices by way of illustration.

Short Ends of Laces and Embroideries, Today.

Today, Friday, all the short ends of lace and embroideries which have collected from a heavy week's selling will be out on special tables for half of marked prices.

The short ends of laces run from ½ to 2 yards—the short ends of embroideries from ½ to 2 yards. This includes insertions, bands, edgings and all-overs.

In the Interests of the Wee Tots

$6.00 and $7.50 Coats for $2.50.

Sizes for children of one, two and three years—no two alike. They are a sample lot, which accounts for this latter fact, and which also explains the very unusual price. All fine materials, such as serge, venetian, bedford cord. Colors—red, tan, rose, light blue and a few shown in cream. These coats are made with turn-over collars—capes trimmed with fancy braids.

Another lot for children of the same ages, but finer goods. Shown in broadcloth, very fine serges and venetians—velvet capes—lace trimmed collars. Others in Russian style. Worth in a regular way from $9.75 to $12.50. On sale today for the pronounced underprice of $5.00.

Caps and Poke Bonnets to match any of these coats at 85c, $1.00 each and up to $10.00.

Our Newly Enlarged Department for Athletic Goods.

A rapidly increasing trade for requisites for every sort of healthful sport forced us (and we are glad of it) to enlarge this department of the East Basement. It now has all the variety anyone can wish for, and there is hardly anything relating to athletics or to physical culture but what is on sale there.

Everything for the game of Football.
Everything for the game of Golf.
Everything for the game of Hockey.
Everything for the game of Basket Ball.
Everything for the outfitting of Gymnasiums.

We also carry, in this department, Pennants of all schools and colleges—two shapes, pennant and burgee. Have them either of silk or felt. Initials in Roman letters, or full name of school or college in script.

While our prices for this class of goods are lower than anywhere else in the city, we make special prices to clubs. Please keep that before you.

Judging from the advertisements in the engineering periodicals requesting proposals for the supply of cars, sewer pipe, cement and machinery to the Panama canal commission, there is no expectation of Democratic interference with the plans. The commission has taken the construction work in hand with true American energy. The plans are complete and the material is being sought under the system of competitive bidding. One young American engineer has discovered in three months of practical investigation how to dispose of the Chagres river floods, which menaced the French engineers for 30 years. So it is along the entire line and the Panama canal will be working in less time than the world has deemed possible. This will be in spite of the Democratic suggestion to hand everything back to Colombia for a new beginning.

With the inspection of President A. J. Cassatt and other Pennsylvania officials yesterday, the Brilliant cut-off railroad may be said to be in use. This is one of the most important contributions in recent years to Pittsburgh transportation facilities. It will relieve the congestion in the yards east of Union depot, facilitate the transfer of freight between the main line and the north and west feeders and relieve passenger traffic from detention. The Pennsylvania system in the Pittsburgh district is now able to handle more than twice the traffic of 10 years ago, but the management foresees an early taxing to the utmost of every part of its system. The delay occasioned by opposition to the Duquesne way line will make the downtown freight terminal the weak link in the Pennsylvania's Pittsburgh chain in the next rush of traffic, and the city will share the inconvenience.

Watson's candidacy as the regular nominee of the Populist party organization is going to cut some figure in the New York election this fall. The nominating petition which has just been filed with his electoral ticket contains over 10,000 names, representing every county in the state. At the last presidential election, although the Middle-of-the-Road Populists nominated Wharton Barker for president, they did not have an electoral ticket in New York. The votes now given to Watson are just so many deducted from those cast for Bryan four years ago. Mr. Bryan's devoted followers in that state, while they may admit the force of the necessity which impels him to maintain his party regularity may not themselves feel under similar compulsion and may act upon his opinion expressed before the nomination that "Judge Parker is not a fit man to be nominated either by the Democratic party or by any other party which stands for honesty and fair dealing in politics."

In resuming work upon the Greater Pittsburgh movement, the chamber of commerce is addressing itself to a task worthy of its best energies. We would suggest that an integral part of the subject is special consideration of the governmental organization of a Greater Pittsburgh. Our present institutions are manifestly unfit for the government of a city of our present size. We are subject to village institutions, although we have long since passed the point where they might be serviceable. We should like to know how efficient administration can be expected under an organization of government which enables any council committee to hold up the public business at its own sweet will. Does anybody imagine that a city like New York could run under such a style of government? If we are going to be a big city we need the methods of a big city, and an indispensible agency is the existence of such an authority as New York possesses in the board of estimate and apportionment which can propose public measures whenever it sees fit and can of its own motion put the question to the city council. A fine Greater Pittsburgh we should have if it is to be governed by air-tight combines operating upon the basis of the hold-up opportunities foolishly extended in the organization of the city government.

It is authoritatively announced that Judge Parker is not going on the stump. This will be a disappointment to many of his adherents who hold that his personality has been so known to the general public that it would help the cause if he were to go among the people. There was a time when there might have been something in this, but that time has passed. Judge Parker won the nomination by his masterly silence, but when his personality was uncovered it failed to take with the public. In lieu of positive issues with an attractive personality behind them the Democratic campaign has degenerated into a personal attack upon President Roosevelt, the one point upon which all the party leaders can agree. Some light upon the troubles which the Democratic managers are having is cast by Bourke Cockran's indignant outburst when called off the stump after he had been advertised to speak in Philadelphia. "For the life of me," he said, "I can't understand their game. They tell me I can't talk tariff. I can't talk imperialism. I can't talk militarism. I must stick to detail. How in the name of God can I interest an audience by talking dry detail." It is really hard lines for an orator charged to the bursting point with rhetorical effervescence. There never was such a copious topic as imperialism. It has been embellished by the rhetoric of centuries, as it has been an opposition cry ever since party government has been in existence.

Cleveland's Appeal to Young Men.

Former President Cleveland has attempted the somewhat difficult task of making the record of the Democratic party appear so attractive to the young man that he will be induced to enlist in that organization from patriotic motives. In his article in the Saturday Evening Post he tells of a resemblance he finds in the present campaign to the days of Buchanan, which first persuaded him that he could best do his duty as a citizen by voting the Democratic ticket. When his choice was made in 1856, the Republicans were supporting John C. Fremont, whose nomination Mr. Cleveland thinks was made on account of romantic sentiment and the love for the spectacular, while the Democracy was following the "mature, undramatic and experienced Buchanan." The inference is that Fremont is comparable to Roosevelt and Parker to Buchanan.

Candidate Parker will not consider the comparison to Buchanan flattering, while the analogy between Roosevelt and Fremont is not close. Fremont was comparatively untried in the public service, while President Roosevelt has passed through a succession of employments. Fremont was little more than a standard bearer, but he pointed the way to a new era, while the Democratic candidate of that day was not only conservative but reactionary. Mr. Cleveland admits he was too young to vote that year, but acting on the convictions then formed he cast his first presidential vote against Lincoln, who has since been canonized by Democrat and Republican alike.

But Mr. Cleveland admits that in the past the Democratic party has gone astray. He says mournfully, "I do not say that I believe the party organization has in all things and at all times been true to Democratic principles, or that it has never entered upon foolish paths of apparent expediency or downright error." But in spite of its lapses Mr. Cleveland professes to see the Democratic party united this year and entitled to public confidence. Hence he thinks he may safely invite the young man to join. "I have no desire to shun the lamentable fact," says Mr. Cleveland, "that the active support of many young members of the party has been lost to the organization during recent years through mistaken leadership and undemocratic expedients." Why should they turn to the organization now? If we fairly catch the drift of Mr. Cleveland's oracular utterance, the inducement extended to the young man is that if he votes the Democratic ticket now he may be voting for another Buchanan or against another Lincoln! We doubt the force of that inducement.

Democrats in Pennsylvania.

P. Gray Meek, secretary of the Democratic state committee, has joined the rainbow chasers, though he is old enough to know better. Mr. Meek has been in politics in and out of Centre county for so many years that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. He was in Philadelphia a few days ago, however, and confided to a reporter, as a guarantee of good faith, that the Democrats are concentrating their efforts in Pennsylvania on certain congressional and judicial districts. He said they expect to carry seven districts for congress certainly and probably three more, and that they will elect seven of the 13 judges to be elected in November. Mr. Meek would not name the districts—that was a secret.

The venerable editor of the Bellefonte Watchman would have violated no political confidence worth mentioning if he had told the young Philadelphia reporter all about it, for almost any infant in the political class could name the districts which the Democratic leaders hope to carry, and could tell them their hopes will turn to ashes on their lips. They now hold the Thirteenth, Sixteenth and Twenty-sixth. Of these they are likely to lose the last named, the Democratic conference in the district having split and named two candidates. John H. Shull, the present representative, has filed nomination papers, believing the Dauphin county court will not recognize either his own or the other as the nomination of the Democratic party. Even in that event he cannot expect to poll the full Democratic vote, for his name will not be on the "straight" ticket and he will be opposed by the other Democratic faction.

Of the districts now held by the Republicans the Twentieth is closest. It is represented by Daniel F. Lafean, Republican candidate for re-election, who carried it two years ago by a majority of 591, while the two counties—York and Adams—of which it is composed, gave Robert E. Pattison 3,500 plurality for governor. These counties were reliably Democratic by large majorities until they were shaken by the panic of 1893 and the Democratic tariff bill of the year after. They were more shaken by Bryan's free silver folly which proved too much for A. B. Farquhar of York, previously one of the Democratic leaders of the state. Finally they gave a majority for Lafean under stress of the factional quarrel headed on one side by Henry N. Gitt of York and on the other by Peter N. Strubinger of Adams. From a deadlock of these factions this year the conferees fled to a compromise on William McSherry of Adams, a candidate not to the liking of either. All signs indicate that Mr. Lafean will win again.

Then there is the Tenth district, Lackawanna county, represented by Mr. Connell. Two years ago George Howell, Democrat, had a small plurality on the face of the returns, but there were fraudulent votes and Mr. Connell won on a contest before the house at Washington. Howell is a candidate again and the Democrats are working the sympathy game for more than it is worth. The Republican candidate this year, however, is a popular man, free from factional entanglements, and the Democratic hope there is not well founded.

Mr. Meek's next choice is probably the Seventeenth, where trouble in the senatorial districts is relied upon to embarrass Congressman Thad. M. Mahon in his canvass for re-election. The deadlock between Franklin and Huntingdon counties has been amicably settled, however, and the protests of Senator B. K. Focht over his defeat for renomination are not taken seriously. Mr. Focht won a reputation as a joker at Harrisburg.

There is no more chance for the election of Joseph E. Thropp in the Nineteenth. Mr. Thropp was formerly a Republican, but after he had been well rewarded by the party he followed John Wanamaker away from the party organization and attempted to upset his district. He was nominated two years ago on the Union party ticket, expecting a Democratic indorsement. He was disappointed, as the Democrats named Mr. Cresswell. Thropp withdrew and in his bitterness denounced the Democratic candidate. This year, with the assistance of Col. Guffey, Mr. Thropp captured the Democratic nomination and secured the indorsement of the Prohibitionists, who sometimes poll a large vote in Blair county. Mr. Thropp will not get the full vote of that party, however, nor of the Democratic, since his attitude toward Cresswell is well remembered. He is not popular in Cambria and is not likely to defeat John M. Reynolds of Blair, the Republican candidate.

Having disposed of Mr. Meek's first seven it is only necessary to say that Democratic chances in the remaining three, the Eleventh, Fifteenth and Twenty-third, are entirely mythical. Henry W. Palmer, Elias Deemer and Allen F. Cooper have been good and satisfactory representatives. They had good majorities two years ago and will have larger majorities this year. Mr. Cooper cannot possibly be beaten. Fayette and Somerset are reliably Republican any year and Democratic Greene is becoming an industrial county in which the Democratic dominance will soon be overcome. In brief, Mr. Meek and the other Democratic leaders may count themselves fortunate if they retain three of the 32 Pennsylvania districts without gaining any others. They are more likely to lose one.

Parks for the People.

A report has been submitted to the New York city board of estimate and apportionment, according to which park improvements will require an outlay of $12,000,000. This is a large sum of money, but is none too large to give the people of Greater New York the breathing spots they need and the facilities for enjoying them as they should. The parks of a city are the pleasure resorts of the working people. They are the places where the poor may have their summer vacations or the substitute for an outing at the seashore or in the mountains. That is the primary object of city parks and it should never be lost to sight in any scheme for their enlargement or improvement. Public parks are for the many who cannot afford private parks or long vacation tours. They may be used by others at their pleasure.

While in other cities a liberal spirit is shown in this matter, we have as yet been unable to secure in Pittsburgh any consideration of facilities for popular enjoyement of the parks. We have the parks, but there seems to be no disposition to improve them for public use. Promises were made for the erection of shelter houses, refreshment booths, and other means to secure the comfort and pleasure of visitors. These remain largely unfulfilled. The parks are not much more inviting than before. Some money has been expended on a race track in Schenley park that should have been the last improvement undertaken rather than the first. The general public has neither horses nor automobiles to run upon the track. It will find little pleasure in attending racing events with the consciousness that if a rainstorm should come up it would have no refuge from the elements.

The Pittsburgh parks are greatly in need of a comprehensive system of improvements to fit them for the uses for which parks are designed. The plan could be prepared at once and the money appropriated from year to year, as it could be afforded and as it could be expended to advantage. Shelter houses are the first need. The people who go to the parks ought to be made secure from storms that may come up suddenly on any summer day. Next there should be refreshments for those who are hungry or thirsty. After that should come amusements for the children and there ought to be no stinting of these. Last of all there should be amusement for adults, beginning with the simple requirements of those whose circumstances have enforced the living of the simple life. When all of these things have been provided race tracks might follow with propriety. The parks ought to be made to attract the people who are in need of pure air, those who have time to idle in pleasant surroundings but who have not the means to seek them in distant places, and above all others the children of the crowded districts who need open air for their healthful development.

An independence mass meeting at Manila will bring joy to the Democrats who want a promise of independence given to those people, but it will not cheer the hearts of the civil governor of the Philippines, or the American soldiers there.

Greater Pittsburgh is up in the chamber of commerce again. The chamber understands that the road to success is to keep everlastingly at it. The Greater Pittsburgh is overdue and success should attend this effort.

Hall and Meek are dreaming of victory in Republican congressional districts, but, like the Turk who woke "'mid flame and smoke," they will get their eyes open in November.

Gen. Grippenberg, commander of the Russian second army, is to go to the front this month, and the front will probably move up to meet him.

Another Pittsburgh boy has escaped from custody by jumping from the window of a moving train. This thing is becoming monotonous.

President Roosevelt was specially commended by the peace congress at Boston. That is, apparently, not a Democratic assemblage.

Emperor William has sent good wishes to the Baltic fleet. The German ruler is unerring in his ability to pick a loser to "jolly."

If there was a naval battle off Port Arthur yesterday morning the Russian ships are slow making friendly ports.

It is a bit harsh to ask Grandpa Davis to pay the bills and submit to the blue pencil at the same time.

Something is going forward at Mukden again and it is not the ghosts from the sacred tombs.

John Sharp Williams has unfurled the free-trade flag in defiance of Henry Gassaway Davis.

While the New York Democrats are fighting Odell, Mr. Higgins of Olean is making votes.

Pension order No. 78 is in no danger of revocation. Parker will not be elected.

Escops is willing to have Parker come back to stay. All will be forgiven.

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Police interference with women, as well as men, patrons of saloons was the subject of decisions in two courts today. In a magistrate's court it was held that the police had no right to arrest women simply because they were found in the back rooms of saloons. In the supreme court the decision was handed down that, although the police had a right to watch and inspect any saloon, it was illegal to interfere with customers. In the complaint out of which the latter decision grew it was stated that women as well as men patrons were interfered with. In the case in the lower court Magistrate Ommen said to a police captain, a detective and several policemen:

"I do not see anything in the penal code that calls for you to do what you are doing. I do not see any crime committed by a person who sits in a place drinking. You have no right to make arrests in such raids. If you went into the Waldorf-Astoria and locked up the persons drinking there the whole town would be in a riot, but this practice is all right on Third avenue—it goes."

This was drawn out by the arrest of several girls in a Third avenue hostelry on no other charge than drinking. The magistrate promptly released all of the prisoners and advised the officers not to again interfere in similar cases. If policemen were to be judges of deportment they would be the busiest men in town.

Mayor Meets With Libel Suit.

Mayor McClellan's removal of his civil service board has already resulted in a libel suit against him for $100,000 damages. The action is brought by "Hal" Bell, the commissioner whose resignation, according to the mayor, "was inadvertently accepted before knowledge of the seriousness of the charges against him had become known."

Bell bases his action on the ground that the letter of the mayor to him in connection with the removal of the civil service commissioners was unwarranted, and that his reputation has been attacked without reason. Prior to beginning the suit for damages, Mr. Bell joined with Commissioners Siegel and Crownshield in a protest to the mayor, in which they denounced his action as being without warrant in law or justice and as having had nothing but politics for a foundation.

Mayor McClellan said today that so far as he was concerned the matter of the removal of the civil service commission was a closed incident.

Nurse Girl Throws Up Her Job.

Policeman Guidera of the Arsenal squad saw a baby carriage standing alone in the middle of a grass plot in the park last evening. He found that it had an occupant, a baby boy about 6 months old. Hanging on the handle of the carriage was a nurse's cap and apron and a tag bearing the address, "No. 641 Tenth avenue." Guidera, who is the father of 11, trundled the carriage to the station house, where, the matron being ill, Sergt. Brady took charge of the baby, which was a prettily dressed, flaxen-haired chap. Brady sent for a nursing bottle full of milk and the baby was soon contented. A policeman who had been sent to the Tenth avenue address brought back Mrs. Eva Schrieber, who identified the baby as her son, Herman. She said she had had the nurse girl but two days and only knew her as Ida.

Boy Burglars Are Rounded Up.

With all the vernacular of the under world at their tongues' end, a band of youths whose ages range from 8 to 15 years were arraigned today in the Center street court by Detectives Kahn and McCartney. Two men were also arraigned charged with having received money stolen by the boys. The police say that during the last three or four weeks the youngsters have stolen more than $1,000, most of it having been taken from tills of stores on the lower East Side. The police had been after the band for two weeks, and it was only by hard work that they were able to bring about the roundup. One of the boys confessed.

Elevator Man Dies of Remorse.

John Bonnely, a veteran elevator operator in the Manhattan bureau of buildings, is dead of nervous prostration brought on directly by constant worry over the accidental killing of a passenger that occurred just a year ago. The passenger was a laborer, who had been long out of work and who had called at the offices to see Assistant Superintendant John L. Jordan, who had promised to give him employment. He fainted in the car from hunger, and in falling was caught between the floors. Although acquitted of all blame for the accident, the tragedy crushed out all Bonnely's former joviality and he sank steadily into a decline. He never again ran the elevator.

Battle Cry for "Big Tim."

"Big Tim" Sullivan, congressman from the Eighth district, is having the fight of his life. He is opposed for re-election by Frank L. Frugone, one of the editors of an Italian newspaper, the Evening Bulletin. There are 10,000 Italians in "Big Tim's" district, and they are all said to be banded against him. Although he had a majority of 16,000 at the last election, he has reason to worry, as the majority of his Italian constituents were for him then. As for "Big Tim's" qualifications, of his education, which he acquired principally in the streets of his district, he once said: "The newspapers are my library, the assembly was grammar school to me, the state senate was high school and congress is college."

Nips of New York News.

The next governor of New York is in the city, whether it be Higgins or Herrick, consequently the political pot has passed the boiling point.

A Brooklyn detective tried to whip a lawyer who accused him of offering to "fix" a case for cash. Those detectives are becoming extremely sensitive.

Policeman Manning made his tenth capture of a runaway horse today. "All in the line of duty," he modestly says.

Judge Parker has again refused to talk. He has a strong will of his own, or is it stubbornness?

Mr. Carnegie still holds the record for paying the highest personal tax. The city treasurer gladly received his check for $71,000.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

One who has not been in Johnstown since the flood of '89 can hardly realize that it is the same place.

In fact it isn't the same place at all. With the exception of the Methodist Episcopal church there is not a house standing in the business portion of the town that was there before the great disaster. And this grand old landmark, and floodmark, too, does not look quite natural on account of its being surrounded by fine business houses and elegant residences.

It was surrounded by residences the day after the flood, but they were residences in ruins—ruins that sheltered many dead. This church was in the center of the flood track, but on account of it being a very heavy and substantial stone structure it withstood the first onset of the tremendous wave and became the nucleus of a drift pile that diverted the powerful current to one side.

If there is a water mark on the house it is not plain to be seen. Or was the water so high that a mark cannot be readily seen?

Nor was Pastor Chapman there.

Wouldn't it be about the right thing to elect him pastor emeritus, or something of the sort, and locate him there permanently? He was the specially good friend of newspaper men on that dreadful occasion, but not of them alone, for he was a true friend to all who needed his friendship.

* * * * *

About the only word or mark one sees that relates to the flood is the tablet set in the front wall of the Cambria library, which relates that the building and library provided by the Cambria Iron Company was destroyed by the flood of May 29, 1889, and had been rebuilt and re-established by Andrew Carnegie in 1891.

This is a fine institution, and the Johnstown people are justly proud of it, for it is practically the school wherein many of the best artisans and business men connected with the great industries of the city got the better part of their education.

The next time you are in Johnstown drop in and see the library, and then look out over the vast acres covered with great mills and busy shops. The library should never be left out when speaking of the prosperity of Johnstown, for it is of the busy city a part.

Yes, there is a high-water line, and a very distinct one. It is marked by buildings that look old and shabby in comparison with others across the street or just around the corner. These old-fashioned and more or less shabby houses were above the flood line, while the newer ones over the way have been erected where those stood that were swept away. And that accounts for the presence of so many modern style houses in the city proper, as well as for the utter absence of tumble-down structures of any kind in the new section.

* * * * *

In a sense it would seem that the terrible catastrophe was a blessing to Johnstown, if not the making of it, but only in a sense.

The city proper has a population of 43,200, with a suburban population of 12,300, making a total for the greater Johnstown of 65,362, which is an increase of about 7,000 since 1901.

Thus you see that it is a city in fact, and no longer a town, but that old-fashioned termination will continue to impress strangers with the notion that it is only a town. But it won't make much difference in the output of steel rails, structural iron and the like whether it is a town or a city.

Just about where the park is now was a particularly desolate, flood-swept spot after the catastrophe. Not a trace of a house, not even a foundation stone could be found—nothing but gruesome things, and gravel and mud from the ill-fated dam.

With nothing but the hills, the stone bridge, the Methodist church and the railway station as guides, one who is there on his first visit since the flood will find it quite difficult to get his bearings. But what need for bearings when it was all, all a vast pile of drift, and no little of it human wreckage.

But the site of the old Johnstown is now occupied by a new and prosperous city, gardens are blooming where angry waters gurgled, and all is lovely where all was hell.

* * * * *

The people are still talking about the Johnnies who attended the soldiers' reunion, and particularly about the sentiments uttered in their speeches.

The exercises were fittingly opened by Adjt. Rose placing Maj. Ringgold on the firing line and telling him to pitch in, and he did with much the same vim and dash with which the Ringgold cavalry used to pitch into the reb cavalry or infantry.

This brought Col. R. T. Barton to the front and he stayed there, too, until he had won the good graces of all who heard him. He is commander of Gen. Turner Ashby camp, Confederate Veterans, Winchester, Va., and his comrades say the boys are going to make him the next governor of the state.

Following is a brief extract from his address which seemed to catch the hearts of the people, not merely because of the speaker's eloquence and pleasing manner, but because it recalled a great truth that is too apt to be overlooked:

"It wasn't the boys in blue nor the boys in gray back in the 60s who made the sacrifices. They were not the ones who suffered heartache after heartache and who were torn with dread and doubt as to their safety. Instead it was the loving wife and mother, the little children, or brothers and sisters, who were left at home alone. And if the sacrifice was great here in the north it was infinitely greater in the south. Here in the north, this great and largely populated country, it wasn't every family that sent its father or a son or brother to the wars. The country was so great that this was not necessary. But down in the south every family sent some representative, and there is hardly a family of southerners today which did not lose a loved one in that conflict or was overwhelmed with joy at the safe return of some husband or father or brother from the jaws of death.

"Who will say that the brave boys did not do what was right? They did do what was right. Whatever one thinks is right is the right thing to do.

"The spirit that led on the south in '61 or '65 is not dead yet, nor will it die. The people of the south are today lovers of the stars and stripes and while they feel a deep reverence for the "Stars and Bars" they are loyal to the emblem of these great United States. The war is over and there is no north; there is no south. We are brothers."

* * * * *

That isn't bad, not half bad, and is as true as anything can be while human nature is human nature.

If we stop for a moment and think rationally we will understand why there still remains some feeling against the north, but it is no greater, nor more unreasonable than the feeling in the north against the south.

The woman who lost a husband, a father, a brother, or a sweetheart in the war, whether she is in the north or in the south, will still retain some feeling of resentment against those who killed him.

This is human nature, particularly the human nature of woman.

The generation living during the war must pass away before this feeling is minimized, and another generation pass before it ceases to find expression.

No doubt the feeling of our forefathers against the English was as strong as that of the north against the south, but it has gone, entirely gone, and we mingle with the English now as though there had been no war between us, and yet two generations have not passed since the war of 1812.

Good will drifts on easy wing, but it will come, sure.

Red Cross War Dogs

Their Use in Manchuria.

One hundred and five dogs have received their degrees in Rome, and as many full-bred collies have been given a medical kit bearing the Red Cross insigna, says the New York Herald. These are the property of the Italian government and are considered among Italy's most valuable possessions. Five hundred more are now working hard for their diplomas and Red Cross badges, and these will soon be for sale to either the Russian or Japanese government. Both nations have put in a bid for a certain number and they will shortly be shipped to their respective destinations.

Quarters were built for them at the Italian capital, and they were put under the care of the chief army surgeon, who, with a staff of helpers, proceeded to train the dogs in Red Cross work.

Twenty-five gray blankets, holding two capacious pockets each, were ordered. These were marked with the Red Cross symbol and fitted out with those things most necessary to a nurse when bringing first aid to the injured.

In one knapsack-like pocket were placed two flasks and two flat biscuits. One flask was to hold pure water, the other a specially prepared stimulant, which could be taken without fear of injurious results by any wounded soldier. The remaining pocket was fitted out with a roll of bandages, a small adjustable splint, a soft silk handkerchief to be made into a sling, a probing instrument, such as every Italian soldier knows how to use, and a tiny sponge.

On September 9 at 9 a. m. the first squad was given its initial instructions. Five regulars in military uniform were given six hours' start of the dogs. The men tramped in circular courses until they thought they had successfully bewildered the dogs, who were allowed to watch them start. Then they dropped down on a mountain pass beside a hidden stream in a valley, some eight or ten miles distant, and, in an attitude of exhaustion, awaited results.

Three of the five were "run down" as soon as the dogs could cover the ground. The remaining two were discovered before sunset. It was found that the entire 25 dogs could be trained at once, and so by the end of the week the entire force was out trailing. Rapid strides they made in this week, too.

In two weeks' time the entire 25 understood that when they were let loose it was their business to find a man. The pack would start out together, noses to the ground and whining softly. In five minutes each dog would have started out on a scent. If by any chance two dogs were after the same man the one who came in second would immediately start off on another trail.

The first lesson, which it took the dogs only two weeks to master, consisted of merely scouring the country in search of soldiers. Perfection in this gained, the blankets were brought forth and strapped on. The dogs were then taught to bark at the man who had apparently fainted until he was aroused sufficiently to help himself from the knapsack which the dog carries on his back. Next these canine nurses were taught to guide the wounded man back to the tents which had been hastily erected for hospital purposes.

The next step was a little more difficult. After having learned to trace up the wounded, to offer the food and stimulants and to guide them to the hospital, it was deemed necessary to teach these clever nurses how to call assistance when the soldier was too seriously hurt to move unaided. With much patience and labor they were taught to send forth a wail of distress which will carry a great distance. This they will keep up for a great length of time when necessary.

Just one more step and their preparatory education was finished. This was to teach the beasts to race to the hospital tent for assistance in extreme cases, guiding the surgeon to the sufferer as rapidly as possible. In order to do this satisfactorily, the dogs were taught to distinguish between an exhausted man and one who was dangerously wounded. When the man would not move or offer to help himself from the knapsack, then the dog was taught to seek help at once. He was also taught to run for assistance when the soldiers so ordered him.

When the wounded man helped himself to bandages, food, etc., and moved about, the dogs learned that they were to sit by his side and cry for help until ordered back to camp or until assistance came.

All this went on in time of peace, when the woodlands and mountains through which the dogs searched were as quiet as nature meant them to be. Now these sensitive collies are nervous dogs, and it was feared that they would forget their mission of mercy and flee in terror if taken to the front during a battle. In order to avoid such a mishap, the officials ordered mock battles. The dogs were first held in leash during the fighting, and when all was quiet were set loose. There was a panic among the 105 well-drilled nurses during that first battle, and when they were sent forth on their work, with an occasional gun popping here and there, they shook with fear and refused to set forth on the trail.

Chauffeurs and Teamsters.

The International Brotherhood of Teamsters has ordered that efforts be made to bring chauffeurs into the union. The officers of the teamsters' organization say the chauffeurs are drivers of vehicles performing the same service as that rendered by hackmen and wagon men. It is not possible that the chauffeur will permit himself to be reduced from a thing that nobody can pronounce just right to become a mere teamster. A chauffeur in the category with drivers of coal carts, ice wagons and hacks! Is this lordly being who through his ogre-goggles looks with undisguised disdain upon ordinary mortals, who whirls around corners, whirrs over crossings and with imperious blasts on his strident horn commands all mankind to move aside or be smashed, to be classified and stigmatized as a teamster? Perish the thought.—Washington Star.

The Problem of Old Men.

It is a strange commentary on our modern civilization that while medical science is bending every energy to prolong the span of human life—to people the world with old men—the tendency of our economic system is to drive them out of business—to make them a charge upon the world, which is said to owe every man a living. Here is a question for political economists to digest, if possible, for the benefit of the coming generation: What shall the world do with its old men?—Chicago Journal.

CRIMINAL SUITS TO OPEN MOUTHS

Allegheny Women Are to Be Prosecuted in Big Batches Unless They Testify.

PROBING THE GRAFT CHARGES

The attorneys for the district attorney in the Allegheny grafting cases have concluded that wholesale arrests will have to be made to get results. They have plenty of evidence of what has been going on over the river, but it is not in as good shape as they desire. They say they can undoubtedly convict at least two men connected with the present administration, but they want to take in every person connected with the grafting system among keepers of disorderly houses. Enough testimony that can be relied upon has been secured to enter suits and probably make out a prima facie case, and some of the women, although they evidently did not want to give up information, told more than they intended.

Many of these women may change their attitude soon. There is not a resort in Allegheny that the proper information to convict the proprietress of two misdemeanors, keeping a disorderly house and selling liquor without a license, is not in the possession of District Attorney Stewart and his assistants.

Attorney John C. Haymaker last night said something would break loose in a very short time. He stated that the attorneys connected with the cases would confer in the district attorney's office at 9 o'clock this morning and decide upon preliminary action.

It is the intention to go after about one dozen of the best known Allegheny women, making two informations against each. These will be pushed to a conviction as a warning to others to tell the truth to the district attorney. If that lesson is not salutary a second batch will be prosecuted, and so on until they are willing to tell just what they know. The boasted protection of the alleged grafters will be tested and the women shown just what they can do for them after the district attorney gets started.

A special session of the grand jury will be called on these cases. After the informations are made they will be placed on the list in criminal court at once, so that a winter residence can be provided for them with the least possible delay, as the district attorney does not want the graft cases to hold over any longer than he can help.

Attorney John Marron yesterday said informations had been issued and warrants were out for three Allegheny women. One of these is said to have declared frankly that, considering her business and her place of residence, it would be inimical to her interests to antagonize the Allegheny police.

None of these women had been arrested last night, although Mr. Marron said he was confident they would "be in the bastile before sundown."

If warrants have been issued Alderman S. J. Toole knows nothing of them, according to his own statement. When asked last night he said:

"No informations other than that against Alderman Wadsworth have been made before me."

LARKIN MUST FIRST GO TO THE SUPERIOR COURT

Cannot Appeal the Filtration Bureau Payroll Case to the Supreme Tribunal of the Commonwealth.

The supreme court will not decide the questions raised by Controller John B. Larkin concerning the filtration bureau's payroll. As the suit upon which the court's decision is adverse to the controller was based on the salary claim of Morris E. Knowles, chief engineer of the bureau, and the amount is less than $500, the appeal must be taken to the superior court, which was established to entertain appeals for that amount and less.

The controller learned yesterday, after consultation with his attorney, George W. Guthrie, that the superior court is the one to which Judge Frazer's decision must be appealed. There are, however, some cases that can be carried from the superior court up, and Mr. Larkin said yesterday the supreme court may consider the present case as belonging to that class, for, while the amount is small, the principle involved concerns vital phases of municipal financial procedure.

The controller disputed the legality of Knowles' claim for salary on the ground that there was no specific appropriation by city councils to pay the salary, while Judge Frazer decided that, as the money derived from the sale of filtration bonds was raised for a specific purpose and the establishment of a filtration bureau was only carrying out that purpose, no specific appropriation by the city councils was requisite.

Councilman A. G. Roenigk is pleased with Judge Frazer's decision, for he sees in it a chance to create his public utilities fund, to establish which he has already introduced an ordinance. The measure provides that moneys derived from the vacation of streets shall go to such a fund, it being Roenigk's opinion that when a street is vacated the property owners who ask for it should be assessed something for the privilege. He believes the argument heretofore advanced, that city councils cannot establish such a fund, fails to the ground, in view of Judge Frazer's opinion.

PERSONALS

A reception will be tendered William D. Lewis of Oakland avenue at the Chatham street Welsh Baptist church, tonight. Mr. Lewis is one of the oldest Welshmen in the city and has a large circle of acquaintances in Western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio. He has been an officer in the Chatham street church for 50 years and is senior elder of the congregation and the reception is arranged by members of the congregation to commemorate his fiftieth anniversary as a church official. Addresses by friends in the Chatham church and other churches about town and numerous musical selections by well known local Welsh singers will form a part of the program. A general invitation has been extended to the Cambrians of the city to attend the reception.

John S. Duss, the famous bandmaster, left the city last night for St. Louis, where he will take in the sights of the world's fair. "Owing to this being the presidential year," said Mr. Duss, "our band will not make a winter tour. The musicians are scattered. We will not assemble again until next spring."

G. C. Collingwood, county treasurer, accompanied by his wife, left last night over the Pennsylvania railroad for Philadelphia.

J. B. Thomas, traveling passenger agent of the B. & O., left last evening on a business trip through West Virginia.

A party of Frenchmen, consisting of Messrs. Hochett, Hardelay and Rafford, arrived at the Lincoln yesterday on a tour of the United States industries. They are in charge of Tourist Agent Clark S. Aiken of Herron, England. They will visit all the local industries before going to the world's fair.

Coroner Albert C. Stephens of Atlantic City, is in the city on business and is stopping at the Seventh Avenue.

BELLICOSE ENGINEERS DROPPED FROM PAYROLL

Chief Henry Brehm of Montrose Pumping Station Resigns After Pugilistic Engagement With Assistant—William Shaw Suspended.

Fisticuffs has evidently become part of the routine of the officials and employes of Allegheny city. Following closely upon the encounter between Director Scandrett and Street Commissioner Martin Mitchell, comes a battle between city engineers at the Montrose pumping station, in which one of them is said to have taken the count. Mayor Wyman, who sits in judgement in all such cases, is at the Lexington races and the other administration officials are vainly endeavoring to keep the matter a secret until his return.

The entire water department has been thrown into turmoil by the row and its subsequent results. Chief Engineer Henry Brehm has resigned his position at Montrose pumping station; William Shaw, his assistant, has been suspended indefinitely, and James Drips, an engineer from the River avenue pumping station, has been sent to take Brehm's place until the mayor returns. Brehm and Shaw were the principals in the engagement and both are said to be nursing painful bruises.

The fight took place on Tuesday. What started it has not been told, but it is said Brehm was called an ugly name by his assistant, and for his temerity got a stiff upper-cut. He came back so handily that, according to one who saw it, Brehm went down and out.

Superintendent Alexander Bennie of the bureau of water was notified and hurried out to Montrose to look over the battlefield. After giving a hearing to the belligerents, he informed them they would have to take a vacation until Mayor Wyman returned and considered what should be done. This arrangement, apparently, was not to the liking of Chief Engineer Brehm, for yesterday he sent his resignation to Superintendent Bennie. The communication is said to contain some interesting reading, but Mr. Bennie is keeping it all to himself. He is manifestly worried over the turn things have taken and has not accepted Brehm's resignation. The latter is an experienced man, and it is said Bennie has a high regard for his services.

It is not known at Mayor Wyman's office when he expects to get back, but it is certain nothing decisive will be done in the case of the engineers by anyone but the mayor. As two other assistant engineers at Montrose are at present on their vacations, the big pumping station is running short-handed and those who work there say it would be a most inopportune time for a break-down.

THE DEATH ROLL

Henry R. Lewis.

Henry R. Lewis, aged 52, superintendent of carpenters at the Braddock plant of the American Steel and Wire Company, died suddenly at his home in Ninth street, Braddock, at 6:10 o'clock yesterday morning. Heart trouble caused death. The deceased was in his usual good health when retiring Wednesday night. He was born in the Point district, Pittsburgh, and early in life entered the steel mills as a pattern maker and for many years had been employed at Beaver Falls and Braddock for the American Steel and Wire Company. He is survived by a widow and one son, Harry R. Lewis of Braddock. His mother, a resident of Murraysville, Pa., and the following brothers and sisters also survive: Joseph of Wellston, O.; Charles of Vandergrift, Frank of Washington, Pa.; Samuel of Murraysville, Mrs. Phillip Hamilton of Irwin, Mrs. David Anderson of Negley, O.; Mrs. O. R. Mallet of Apolla and Miss Lucinda, at home. He was a member of the Lutheran church.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jones.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, aged 84, widow of T. G. Jones, died at her home in East Brady, Pa., yesterday afternoon of old age. Mrs. Jones came to this country from Swansea, Wales, when she was 6 years old and settled in Maryland. Sixty-four years ago she moved to Bradys Bend, where she had since resided. Mrs. Jones is survived by eight children—Mrs. Walter Evans of Butler, Pa.; Mrs. C. H. Kelly of Allegheny, Mrs. R. L. Jones of Pittsburgh, Mrs. C. Homer of East Brady, G. W. Jones, G. J. Jones and Llewlyn Jones of East Brady and Charles W. Jones of Allegheny. Mrs. Jones was a member of the East Brady Baptist church, from which she will be buried at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Dr. Thomas Ruggles Pynchon.

Dr. Thomas Ruggles Pynchon, president of Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., from 1874 to 1883, died yesterday at the home of a sister in New Haven. He was born in New Haven in 1828, studied at the Boston Latin school and was graduated from Trinity college at the age of 20. He entered the Episcopalian ministry and became rector of the Lenox and Stockbridge parishes. He was then elected professor of chemistry and geology and continued there until elected president. Dr. Pynchon was a member of the Geological Society of France and was once president of the American Meteorological society.

Mrs. Catherine Bachhoffer.

Mrs. Catherine Bachhoffer, aged 27, widow of Frederick Bachhoffer, a pioneer resident of Braddock, died at the family home, Kenmawr avenue, Rankin, yesterday morning after a short illness. She was born in Fredericksburg, Md., and moved to Braddock with her husband 34 years ago. She is survived by the following children: Frederick of Salt Lake City, George of Rankin, Albert of Braddock, Mrs. Elizabeth Champion, Alfred, John, Ella and Rise at home. She was a member of St. Brendan's Catholic church.

Mrs. Mary E. Hurst.

Mrs. Mary E. Hurst, aged 77, died yesterday at the home of her sister, Mrs. William K. Elkins, in Brighton road, Ben Avon. Mrs. Hurst, whose maiden name was Walker, was born in England and had lived in this country for many years. She removed from Allegheny to Ben Avon about six months ago. She was a member of the Beuna Vista Street Presbyterian church, Allegheny.

Mrs. Elizabeth Downey.

Mrs. Elizabeth Downey, one of the oldest residents of the Allegheny valley, died last evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. A. Deardorff, in First street, Aspinwall, aged 90 years. Her death was due to the infirmities of old age. She had lived in Aspinwall five years. Her husband died several years ago and she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Deardorff.

Miss Elizabeth Harrison.

Miss Elizabeth Harrison, aged 68, died suddenly at her home, 932 Aiken avenue, East End, yesterday of apoplexy. Miss Harrison was born in England and came to this country about 20 years ago. Funeral services will be held at her late home this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. John Grassler's Funeral.

Funeral services will be conducted over the remains of Mrs. Margaret Grassler at 8:30 o'clock this evening at the German Catholic church in Tarentum by the Rev. Father John Rienkl, the pastor. Mrs. Grassler, who was aged 55, died in Vine street, Brackenridge, near Tarentum, on Wednesday, after an illness of 12 weeks. She was born in Germany in 1848 and located in Brackenridge. Mrs. Grassler was a member of the German Catholic church of Tarentum. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Miss Annie, and one son, John, Jr., at home.

Obituary Notes.

Miss Mary Myra O'Donnell, daughter of F. B. O'Donnell, died yesterday at New Castle, aged 26.

Miss Delia Jennings, aged 22, daughter of the Rev. J. W. Jennings, pastor of the Ebenezer and Howe churches, has died at her father's home in California, Pa.

News has been received in Uniontown of the death in Greeley, Col., of Mrs. Minot J. Giddings, aged 26, who spent most of her life at California, Pa. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Hertzog.

Joseph F. Kolb is dead at the home of his parents in Spring Garden avenue, Allegheny. He was a member of Tarentum lodge 182, Ancient Order of Heptasophs. His parents, one sister and two brothers survive.

MORGAN CAUSED PANIC.

So Testified Member of Kuhn, Loeb & Company Regarding Northern Pacific Deal.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Otto Kahn of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., today in testimony before a referee, said that in May, 1901, J. P. Morgan & Co. and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. were competitors in a fight for control of the Northern Pacific railway.

"They were buying Northern Pacific common for this purpose," said he, "and so were we."

Mr. Kahn declared the panic of May 9, 1901, was caused by J. P. Morgan & Co.'s purchase of stock. Mr. Kahn refused to answer questions as to whom his firm represented in acquiring Northern Pacific stock.

ABOUT MEN'S UNDERWEAR

There are several classes of Underwear devotees—some are ardent for Linen—some enthusiastic for Wool—others never wear anything but Cotton the year round.

We have provided lavishly for all—of all from 50c to $4.00 for Shirts or Drawers.

But years of experience have taught us that the greatest demand is for a garment to sell for $1.00—most men prefer to pay that price.

That settled, we searched the field for the best to be offered for $1.00, investigating the merits of all the known makes.

The result is, that after buying many kinds and eliminating the bad and indifferent and retaining the good we have a showing at $1.00 that no doubt is not equaled for merit and variety in this country—Wool, Cotton and Mixtures of the two.

Garments that wear— and are elastic and non-irritant—that fit the body perfectly.

To this showing men are invited.

It embraces medium weight Balbriggan, Natural Wool and Camels Hair and heavy weight Natural Wool, Camel's Hair, Ribbed Balbriggan, Scarlet and Brown and Natural ribbed Wool Shirts and Drawers.

Also Union Suits at $1.00—and up to $11.00.

YOUNG MEN'S PAY ROLL CLUB

Citizens Leaders Launch a Piratical Undertaking in Hope of Capturing Primaries.

"ANDY" FULTON IS BARRED

Effort is being made to cast the cloak of Republicanism about the Citizens payroll so that it will be in shape to attempt a raid on the Republican party primaries next spring. Hays, Verner and Bigelow are keeping in the background and have placed Police Magistrate J. H. Vitchestain in charge of the piratical undertaking.

The scheme is to organize the payroll and all those who can be made feel the power of the administrations in Pittsburgh and Allegheny, under the banner of the "Young Men's Republican Club of Alleghcny County." It is to have roots in every precinct in the county, if some angel can be found to pay the freight. In the present campaign there is to be a great show of party loyalty and intense love for Roosevelt, Fairbanks and the whole Republican ticket. Next spring the plan will be to rough house the primaries and endeavor to nominate candidates bearing the tab of the Citizens leaders. The scheme having failed, the "Young Mens' Republican Club of Allegheny county" will be found endeavoring to make a fusion deal with the Democrats.

Jealousy is already showing. Vitchestain wants to be the whole show and he has barred that ardent friend of the young Republican, "Andy" Fulton, from participation in the movement.

Haven't "Got Her Going."

The Pittsburgh organization of the Young Men of the Payroll was formed last night at a secret meeting in Citizens headquarters. Vitchestain stood at the front door and informed all but payroll men that the meeting was secret. He explained that "this is just the nucleus, when we get her going we'll ratify and then every one can come in."

So far no age limit has been placed on the applicant for membership. One of the sub-promoters explained that any "fellow who is right and is willing to put up can get in." This means that any person who has been regular in his devotion to party wrecking and is willing to stand an assessment for the expenses of the "movement" can draw cards as long as Vitchestain is dealing. The entrance fee will be graded according to the size of the "privilege" enjoyed by the applicant. The machine Democrat will not be barred. When these party loving men were in the party wrecking game, they had a working agreement with the Democrats, and as a result at least 50 per cent of the payroll is made up of Democrats. They will all be admitted to membership and when the primaries are held next spring an attempt will be made to vote them.

Young Men of the Payroll.

At this gathering of party-loving patriots, Vitchestain presided. Right on the start he bellowed forth the alleged fact "that we are all Republicans." He told the Young Men of the Payroll that from now until November 8 they must "hand it out straight" for the whole Republican ticket. He concluded his vociferus and ungrammatical remarks by announcing that he had selected Thomas P. Jones as chairman of the club and J. Byron Drew as secretary. He assured his gallant defenders of the party faith that a treasurer would be named as soon as an "angel" could be found to make a treasurer worth while.

Having disposed of the question of officers, Vitchestain then proceeded to lay the ground work for the piratical undertaking he has been assigned to attempt. He ordered these resolutions adopted:

Resolved, That the chairman be empowered to appoint the chairman of the Young Men's Republican club in each legislative district in the city of Pittsburgh, and that said legislative district chairman be notified to call a meeting at once for the purpose of completing the legislative district organization.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the chairman to make application to the court for a charter for the Young Men's Republican Club of Allegheny County.

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed by the chairman for the purpose of securing permanent headquarters for the Young Men's Republican Club of Allegheny County.

Resolved, That the chairman be empowered to appoint a chairman on meetings and speakers.

Vitchestain Has Great Powers.

Resolved, That J. H. Vitchestain be appointed chief organizer of the Young Men's Republican Club of Allegheny County, and further, that he be empowered to select his own assistants for the purpose of completing this organization.

Resolved, That the chairman of the Young Men's Republican club be an ex-officio member of all committees.

Resd, That the chairman at the earliest convenience appoint one representative from each ward in the city of Pittsburgh to act as an executive committee.

The resolutions explain fully the purpose of the club. The promoters hope that it will scare the regular Republicans into making a deal, but the men who have fought the Citizens for the last three years will not enter into any bargains with the buccaneers. The policy of Chairman Ford has been to receive all of the Citizens who want to return to the party in the regular way, but when the attempt is made to break in from the top, there is every reason for believing that the entrance will not be made without a battle.

Vitchestain has ordered the Young Men of the Pay Roll to appear for a second rehearsal of the one-act farce, "Why We Love the Dear Old Party and the Pickings," on next Thursday night. Then "if we get her going, we may ratify."

The Sothern-Marlowe Repertoire.

The seat sale for the Sothern-Marlowe engagement, which opened at the Nixon box office yesterday morning, is perhaps the heaviest advance sale this theater has had since its opening week. The repertoire will be given as follows: Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, "Romeo and Juliet;" Thursday evening only, "Much Ado About Nothing," Friday and Saturday evenings and at the Saturday matinee, "Hamlet."

Pittsburgh Girl Hurt in St. Louis.

Miss Elsie Anshutz, daughter of Mrs. Louisa M. Anshutz of 235 McKee place, Oakland, was painfully injured in a street car accident in St. Louis, Mo., Wednesday. Miss Anshutz, according to the message received by her mother yesterday, received a scalp wound. Five other persons were also hurt. Miss Anshutz went to the world's fair a week ago with her grandfather, F. R. Martin, and an aunt, Miss Minnie Collier of Boston.

Moore and Larkin Think Differently.

Director Moore of the department of public safety does not think well of Controller Larkin's suggestion that the bureau of health be taken away from his department and turned over to the department of public charities. He is, however, not worrying, as the change could not be made without altering the city charter.

More Wells for McKeesport.

McKeesport Water Commissioners William K. Herwig, George B. Herwick and William Evans, will request councils to appropriate $5,000 to drill 10 additional artesian wells on the water works property in the Third ward. The city has 15 wells, but to decrease the amount of river water in use additional wells are imperative.

CAMPAIGN CHARTS.

Two of the handsomest campaign charts ever issued have just been put on the market, one a Republican and the other Democratic, and the principal feature of each is the very fine lithographs of the respective heads of the two great political parties, with a biographical sketch of each. Both charts have a frieze composed of pictures of all the presidents of the United States and both include excellent pictures of the national capitol, the White House and Mt. Vernon, and each chart also contains the party platform in full. W. H. Green of Carnegie is general agent for Allegheny county and reports that the charts are in great demand.

O'BRIEN SCORES THE DEMOCRACY

Says That the Party in the County and State Is a Laughing Stock.

BIG REPUBLICAN MEETING

Republicans of the Twenty-first ward opened their campaign last night with a big meeting in the Belmar school house. The speakers were Charles A. O'Brien, a Democrat, who will support the whole Republican ticket; ex-Judge Josiah Cohen, H. I. Riley and Joseph G. Armstrong. James M. Clark presided.

The feature of the meeting was Mr. O'Brien's speech. He made some very caustic remarks about the local Democracy. Mr. O'Brien said in part:

Have you ever seriously considered why cartoonists typify the Democracy as a mule? There are two reasons for this persistent representation. First, because a mule can stand anything; and, second, because his principal action is backwards. The Democracy is now recanting and retracting its avowed doctrines of the past eight years; recovering from the wild vaporings and freakish delusions of Bryanism and proclaims itself "safe and sane."

Democrats Have to Apologize.

Every intelligent man associated with the Democratic party in Allegheny county must apologize for it; nay, more, the Democracy of the entire state of Pennsylvania is a laughing stock and a by-word. Fifteen years ago the party in this county had some character and respectability, but to such base uses has it come, on such evil days has it fallen, that when an opportunity arises to become a factor in public affairs it is on the auction block to the highest bidder and we see in a presidential year its convention leave the high function of nominating candidates to somebody in a back room in Wylie avenue. The state Democracy is affected with race suicide, for it grows beautifully less every year and instead of a vigorous political entity as it once was, able at times to elect state officers, "it consists of a so-called "peerless leader" without a following, save a few faithful servitors who loudly proclaim their utter self-extinction and subjection to the boss. The result of this peerless leadership in Pennsylvania is seen in the fact that while the majority for Harrison in 1892 was only 83,750, the majority for McKinley in 1900 was over 288,000, and for Gov. Pennypacker was even 142,000.

Democrats Have Bad Record.

A retrospect of the national Democracy for the last 20 years is discouraging in the extreme to every thoughtful man. Judged by what it has accomplished, by its works, small indeed is its record, and if any man seeks reason for this failure of a great party which has had great opportunities, he will find it in two things, want of consistency in principle and want of courage in carrying out its pledges and professions. This lack of cohesive force and purpose is largely due to the incongruity of the elements of which the party is formed. The eastern Democrat is one thing, the western Democrat is another thing and the southern is quite a different type and he generally manages to dominate both the others.

Mr. O'Brien discussed the history of the Democracy from 1896 to 1904. He concluded in this wise:

Now, however, they have recovered sanity, we are told, or at least a lucid interval, and while they see prosperity on every hand, where a Democratic administration had left depression and distress; yet they perceive ruin and disaster to the nation through imperialism and trusts, which they propose to check, even if they have to wreck the country in the doing of it.

The Republican association of the Seventh legislative district will meet at Republican headquarters at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to elect a chairman to fill the vacancy caused by the death of George A. Chalfant.

WANT SITE FOR FOUNDRY AT OLD SYLVAN STATION

Efforts Being Made to Secure Property on Which to Erect Plant to Employ 300 to 400 Men.

The construction of a large new foundry at Sylvan station, just west of Verona on the Allegheny Valley railroad, seems to be assured. The deal has been in progress for some time past, and the matter of securing the location is being managed by a number of Verona business men who are greatly interested in the success of the negotiations on account of the increased activity it will bring to the town.

Efforts are being made to secure about 10 acres of the 30-acre Jones property at Sylvan station, lying just above the railroad and fronting on the tracks. The site is an excellent one for an industrial plant by reason of its railroad facilities, the plentiful supply of Allegheny river water and other advantages.

The promotion of the company is said to be largely in the hands of J. H. Degan of the Home Trust building. The men interested propose to make both iron and steel castings, it is stated, and the plans now under consideration will mean a building and plant sufficiently large to give employment to 300 or 400 men.

BOTANICAL SOCIETY MEETS.

Elect Officers and Hear Several Interesting Talks on Flowers.

The Botanical Society of Western Pennsylvania met in Carnegie lecture room last evening for the annual election of officers with 42 members present. All the old officers were re-elected. They are: President, William Falconer; vice president, Charles Davis; treasurer, Miss M. Lewis; secretary, Miss A. M. Deens; executive committee, Dr. J. F. Shafer and Mr. Howard Childs.

Henry Negley spoke entertainingly on "Flowers of Idaho," which he had observed during his vacation. Dr. W. P. Hamilton gave a talk on the plant life of the Highlands of Ontario, followed by a brief description of the Yellowstone park flora, with an exhibit of specimens, by Miss A. M. Deens. Miss E. F. Shallenberger exhibited a large collection of mounted specimens from Colorado Springs. Six new members were elected.

ADDS SIX NEW ROOMS.

High School Committee Approves of Improvements of Fifth Avenue Building.

At the meeting of the high school committee last night plans for finishing the top of the Fifth avenue building were adopted. The building is three stories in height, with a high roof attic. The latter has not been used and the plans provide for six large, well lighted rooms. The cost will be about $18,000.

M. G. Marshall of Canton, O., and G. F. Atkinson of Wallingford, Conn., were elected instructors in the commercial department. Director Edward Rynearson reported a total enrollment of 2,118 in the high school, 39 pupils being non-resident.

Want Deadly Crossing Abolished.

Loss of life from trains at Robinson street, Braddock, has influenced the Braddock and North Braddock councils to a move in the interest of safety. At a joint meeting of councilmen last night North Braddock representatives stated they would instruct for an overhead bridge at Thirteenth street and a tunnel under the tracks at Sixth street. Committees from the two towns are to meet Pennsylvania railroad officials to try to arrange matters.

Think State Should Pay.

Residents of Homestead believe that the state should provide funds to defray the expenses of treatment for dog bite when the victim is unable to pay, and to this end have framed a bill which Representative Robert McWhinney will present at the next session of legislature. When a number of persons in West Homestead were bitten during the summer it was found necessary to raise money by popular subscription to meet the expenses of the Pasteur treatment at a hospital.

Cows Poisoned; Tramps Gone.

Three cows belonging to Albert Lewickie and Peter Possic which had been pastured on the hill near the Indian mound, McKees Rocks, were found dead, poisoned, Wednesday morning. Two days before two tramps had been caught milking the cows, and on Tuesday Mrs. Possic went to their camp and threatened them with arrest if they did not desist in stealing milk. The tramps are gone.

BUSINESS MEN CONFIDENT OF REPUBLICAN SUCCESS

Ex-Senator Flinn Says He Hears No Talk But That Mr. Roosevelt Will Be Elected—Industrial Conditions Are Gradually But Surely Improving.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.—Ex-State Senator William Flinn, at the Bellevue-Stratford tonight, said that there was no doubt in his mind as to the election of President Roosevelt.

"A good indication as to how things are likely to go in November," said Mr. Flinn, "is the talk among business men at this stage of the campaign. In practically every instance the business men I have talked with not only look for the election of President Roosevelt, but they are shaping their business plans accordingly.

"Two months ago," continued the senator, "there seemed to be in some quarters a feeling that the Republican ticket might have hard sailing in November. No such talk is heard in business circles today. Business men, especially large employers of labor, are today making it plain that they expect the present national administration to be continued. I have yet to meet a man who is extensively interested in business ventures who wants a change. They know that a change of administration would result in chaotic uncertainty so far as they are concerned. No business man is courting uncertainty. In my judgment business is everywhere improving. The improvement is gradual, but steady. This is a healthy sign. I look for a marked improvement by the first of the year.

"It is significant, even at this stage of the presidential campaign, that business men are not talking politics to any great extent. Everywhere I go this fact is impressed upon me. It looks to me as though the people have made up their minds as to how they will vote in November and consider the incident closed until then. Business men are talking business, not politics. If they anticipated a change they would naturally be discussing politics."

Senator Flinn, while here, will visit Chairman Penrose. John Stevenson of Sharon today conferred with the state chairman. He introduced a delegation of foreigners who are in this country as delegates from Germany to inspect systems of fireproofing.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

PARKER WILL NOT UTTER A SINGLE WORD

Chairman Taggart Says, "No Amount of Entertaining Will Budge Him."

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Chairman Taggart at Democratic national headquarters gave out the following statement today:

Shortly after his nomination Judge Parker set about the consideration of the course of action toward the conduct of the campaign. He consulted many men of large experience in such matters, and made an examination of the course of every successful candidate. That done, he decided, as it was necessary for him to do, what his course should be, and he caused that decision to be made generally known. It was to the effect that he would not go upon the stump; that such speeches as he should deem it desirable to make could be made at Rosemount, following in that respect the McKinley precedent of 1896.

That decision made and announced he proceeded to work along the lines he had marked out for himself. He believed then—as he believes now—that he decided rightly and no amount of entreating would budge him. His record during all his life proves that clamor will not move him one iota. The incident is closed and those in charge of the campaign fully approve of the determination of Judge Parker.

Judge Parker has been importuned to speak in various states, and today's announcement is designed to prevent further similar requests.

REPUBLICAN MEETING HELD.

Campaign Opened in Indiana County. Adjt. Gen. Stewart One of the Speakers.

INDIANA, PA., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—The Republican campaign was opened in this county by a large mass meeting held in Library hall this evening, which was presided over by State Senator John S. Fisher. The town was decorated extensively with flags and bunting. All day delegations kept arriving. The meeting was preceded by a street parade. The hall was filled to its utmost capacity. The speakers of the evening were the Hon. W. P. Shaffer, Chester; Adjutant General Thomas J. Stewart, Harrisburg, and Col. Ned Arden Flood of Meadville.

Congressman Gillett Renominated.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Congressman Frederick H. Gillett, of this city, was unanimously renominated as Republican candidate for congress in the Second congressional district convention this afternoon. This is the seventh time Congressman Gillett has been similarly honored.

McDermott for Governor.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 6.—The state ticket of the Socialist Labor party, announced today, names Peter McDermott of Providence for governor.

STAUDENMYRS BURIED

Suicide and His Victim Are Interred in Different Cemeteries.

Funeral services were held yesterday over the bodies of George Staudenmyr and his wife, Amelia, at the home, 1408 Hutson street, Allegheny. On Tuesday the man killed his wife and committed suicide with a revolver.

The remains of the woman were taken to St. Joseph's church at 8:30 o'clock, where the Rev. Father Hipp held requiem mass. The few friends that attended the service returned to the home, where exercises were held over the husband's body by the Rev. William Warner of the German Lutheran church of Allegheny. Then both bodies were placed in hearses and borne to the cemeteries. Staudenmyr was buried in Uniondale and the body of his wife was taken to St. Philomena for interment.

At the inquest into the tragedy yesterday the coroner's jury found that Staudenmyr had killed his wife and then committed suicide.

OLD MAN TOOK PRISONER, BUT WAS ALSO ARRESTED

Because he was trying to drag to Central station a man whom he claimed had taken a dollar from him, William Watson, aged 60, of 1022 Locust street, was also locked up and a charge of disorderly conduct placed against both. The other gave his name as Mike McCleary of 18 Bedford avenue, but the police know him by another name.

The two were in a saloon at Sixth avenue and Grant street, and when Watson lost his dollar he caught McCleary and tried to drag him to the police station. McCleary resisted desperately when in the street and both bumped into Inspector W. D. Robinson, who arrested them.

"The Errand Boy."

Billy B. Van, in "The Errand Boy," a new musical spectacle, will greet his Pittsburgh friends next week at the Duquesne theater in his rollicking character of Patsy Bolivar. While Van mildly predominates the production, there have been left ample opportunities for magnificent choral effects, and these, combined with the scenic embellishments, make "The Errand Boy" a picturesque musical symphony.

Has your boy plenty of pluck? Does he hold out?

Grit, courage, strength, finishing power are essential these days. The reason why doctors so often order Ayer's Sarsaparilla for thin, pale, delicate children is because it supplies these essentials. It makes the blood pure, rich. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

GAINES SAYS HE WILL TAKE HAIR OFF KNOX

Tennessee Congressman Thinks He Is Left Alone to Fight the Trusts.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Representative John Wesley Gaines, who arrived here today, stopped over in Washington long enough to ascertain that Assistant Attorney General Day was back in town, and that the government had on hand about $450,000 of the appropriation that was made by congress to enable the attorney general to break up the trusts. Day has just returned from Alaska.

The Tennessee representation is fighting the tobacco trust. Gaines says that the trust compels the tobacco growers of the southern states, Porto Rico, Cuba, Hawaii, the Philippines, Turkey and the rest of the world, to sell their products at ruinous prices. Mr. Gaines has taken up the case of the tobacco growers.

"It has been claimed," said Mr. Gaines today, "that I began this fight against the tobcaco trust in order to secure my renomination and election. That's not true. I was renominated before this thing came up, and will be re-elected by 10,000 majority without opening my mouth in the district. But I am going into the campaign at once and propose to take the hair off that man Knox for putting the whole burden of getting proof against the tobacco trust on me. He has got nearly $500,000, or did have when he was in the department of justice, to investigate just such cases as the one I brought to light, yet he refused to appoint a single agent to help me."

WESTERN WOOL GROWERS AGREE WITH FAIRBANKS

Vice Presidential Candidate Is Given an Ovation at His Private Car in Nevada.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ELKO, NEV., Oct. 6.—Senator Fairbanks spoke at Elko today from the rear platform of his special car and had a large audience.

Senator Fairbanks addressed himself largely to Democrats, contending that Republican policies are better calculated than Democratic policies to protect their interests. Speaking of the wool growers, many of whom are residents of the community, he asked them if they were not more prosperous under the present tariff law than they had been under the Wilson-Gorman law by which wool had been put on the free list, and some one in the crowd responded in the affirmative.

The senator declared that not since the time of Washington had there been a president who had better administered the affairs of the country than had President Roosevelt. Three tremendous cheers for Roosevelt and Fairbanks and the Republican ticket were given as the train pulled away.

DEMOCRATS NEED MONEY.

Treasurer Peabody of the National Committee Makes an Appeal for Contributions.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—George Foster Peabody, treasurer of the Democratic National committee, today issued an appeal for contributions for the campaign fund. The appeal says:

There are about 14,000,000 legal voters in this country, and to intelligently present the issues of the campaign and the records of the candidates to this vast electorate requires a very large sum of money. The Democratic party has no industrial favorites from whom, either by promises or by threats, it can draw campaign subscriptions, but must rely for necessary funds upon patriotic citizens who believe in a government of law under the Constitution honestly and economically administered. From all such citizens I request such contributions as they are able and willing to make, for which prompt personal acknowledgment will be sent.

Back to Esopus Today.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Judge Parker expects to return to Esopus tomorrow. The number of callers at his apartments at the Hotel Seville today was the largest during his present visit. In addition to political callers and friends of the candidate several delegations were received and the reception room was crowded most of the day.

SOUTH APPROVES OF MR. ROOSEVELT

Democratic Policies Forced Negroes and Whites to Dine Together in Soup Houses.

COL. SLEMP EXPECTS VICTORY

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Oct. 6.

O. R. Hunbley, state senator from Alabama, at the noonday meeting at 496 Broadway, had this to say about lynchings throughout the country.

"The cause of lynchings is the hellbroth that Bourke Cockran and such orators are feeding the country. They cry out against Roosevelt dining with Booker Washington, but forget that Democratic policies force negroes and whites to eat together in cheap soup houses.

"I say Mr. Roosevelt never wanted to turn the government of the south over to the illiterates, but with him it was a question whether illiterate whites, with bombs under their coats, should have more privileges than law-abiding colored citizens. It is only a step from race prejudice to political, then religious prejudice, and this country will never base a man's right to hold office upon his views of religion.

"I am sorry to see Richmond P. Hobson of my state, hero of the Merrimac, dipping his skirts in the mud of politics. He says Roosevelt is the cause of lynching. It is these same sentiments expressed, painting the chief executive of the United States in the darkest hue, that caused the assassination of Mr. McKinley. If no other issue can be found than an attack on President Roosevelt, then the American people should rise up and wipe out such leadership.

"Theodore Roosevelt is the issue, and I thank God for that. There is a cry, 'Let the south alone.' If the south had been let alone in 1865 it would not now be a part of the United States. The business men of the south don't want to be let alone; they want to take part in upholding the law of the land and the flag, and get their share of the business."

Col. Campbell Slemp, the only Republican member of the Virginia delegation in congress, was in the city today. Col. Slemp was elected by a majority of only a few hundred votes two years ago, but he expects this year to carry his district by 3,000.

"I believe that not only will every Republican vote for Roosevelt, but every masculine Democrat as well," said former Gov. Black at the Fifth Avenue hotel today. Mr. Black said further: "The men who are responsible for the Republican vote in the localities where they are representative have a feeling of comfortable certainty about the election of President Roosevelt. My observation leads me to believe that the effect of this feeling is what many people have construed as apathy. I don't think that the New Yorker or any other city man can understand the deeply rooted impression among the people at large that in President Roosevelt and a Republican congress their interests will be safely and conservatively guarded."

Chairman Jones Wants State Secretary Fuller to Show Why Nomination Papers Are Rejected.

HARRISBURG, PA., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Secretary of the Commonwealth Fuller, having rejected the nomination papers of the Prohibition candidates for representatives and president judge in Mercer county, the Dauphin county court today granted a mandamus to compel him to show by what authority he refused to file the papers. The action against Mr. Fuller, which will be heard next Wednesday, was brought by Chairman Jones of the Prohibition state committee.

The secretary has rejected the nomination papers of the Socialist candidates for assembly in the First Dauphin district and for congress in the Eighteenth congressional district, on the ground that they are defective.

Miss Agnes Miller, of Chicago, speaks to young women about dangers of the Menstrual Period—how to avoid pain and suffering and remove the cause by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"To Young Women:—I suffered for six years with dysmenorrhea (painful periods), so much so that I dreaded every month, as I knew it meant three or four days of intense pain. The doctor said this was due to an inflamed condition of the uterine appendages caused by repeated and neglected colds.

"If young girls only realized how dangerous it is to take cold at this critical time, much suffering would be spared them. Thank God for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that was the only medicine which helped me any. Within three weeks after I started to take it, I noticed a marked improvement in my general health, and at the time of my next monthly period the pain had diminished considerably. I kept up the treatment, and was cured a month later. I am like another person since. I am in perfect health, my eyes are brighter, I have added 12 pounds to my weight, my color is good, and I feel light and happy."—Miss Agnes Miller, 25 Potomac Ave., Chicago, Ill.

The monthly sickness reflects the condition of a woman's health. Anything unusual at that time should have prompt and proper attention. Fifty thousand letters from women prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regulates menstruation and makes those periods painless.

READ WHAT MISS LINDBECK SAYS:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has greatly benefitted me. I will tell you how I suffered. My trouble was painful menstruation. I felt as each month went by that I was getting worse. I had severe bearing-down pains in my back and abdomen.

"A friend advised me to try Mrs. Pinkham's medicine. I did so and am now free from all pain during my periods."—Jessie C. Lindbeck, 1201 6th Street, Rockford, Ill.

BELTED THE CITY ON PENNSY RAILS

President Cassatt, Directors and Officials Make First Swing Around Pittsburgh.

EXECUTIVE IS WELL PLEASED

The Pennsylvania railroad has now completely belted Pittsburgh. On every side of its circumference the big system has a line and around this belt line there swung yesterday the president's special. When the trip had been completed and the handsome train rested near where it started, the president, directors and principal officers of the lines, both east and west of the city, pronounced it good. The millions upon millions of dollars that have been spent to make yesterday's trip possible were admitted to have been invested well.

The Brilliant cut-off is the last link in this chain, and it was to this portion of the belt line that Mr. Cassatt and his companions gave the closest attention. The special coming from the east reached Fifth avenue station about 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and, after being boarded by Robert Pitcairn, resident assistant to the president at Pittsburgh, it started on the trip over the new road. The special stopped at various places to get important points and then went on past the junction with the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley grand division across the Allegheny river to the junction with the West Penn.

Crossed All the Rivers.

The train then passed down the West Penn to the Ft. Wayne, the improvement work there put into service since the last presidential inspection, being carefully surveyed. From the Ft. Wayne the train passed to the Ohio connecting bridge and the officials saw the new yards at Scully, then went over the Panhandle to the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston and across from Port Perry to Brinton and past Fifth avenue again to Shadyside. There the special was sidetracked and the party spent the night.

Today they will go up over the West Penn to see still another plan forming gradually to remove from the south side of the Allegheny river the necessity for caring for the through freight over the Ft. Wayne from the west and over the P. R. R. from the east that still at times forms an impediment to the traffic which Pittsburgh originates and receives.

President Cassatt personally took the most active interest in all that he saw yesterday. The Pennsylvania's chief executive is looking much improved in health as compared with his last visit here. The strain upon him due to the fight with the Gould interests and the equally strenuous fight with a surplus tonnage had told upon him noticeably, but the intervening time has been more peaceful, and his appearance shows it.

Completion of Belt Big Event.

That he is pleased with the completion of his plan to have a belt line around this city, every inch of which would be the Pennsylvania's, is certain. He is never interviewed directly, but it can be stated on the best authority that he considers the opening of the Brilliant cut-off to be an event of the first importance in the relations of the road of which he is the head, with the city where the greatest proportion of its tonnage is originated. The new link is to be opened to general traffic on Tuesday, October 18, it was stated yesterday.

The personnel of the party which is making the inspection follows:

Alexander J. Cassatt, Alexander M. Fox, N. Parker Shortridge, Clement A. Griscom, Amos R. Little, William H. Barnes, George Wood, C. Stuart Patterson, Effingham B. Morris, Thomas De-Witt Cuyler, James McCrea, Lincoln Godfrey, Rudolph Ellis, John P. Green, Charles E. Pugh, Sutherland M. Prevost, Samuel Rea, John B. Thayer, Jr., Henry Tatnall, Joseph Wood, J. J. Turner, W. A. Patton, G. V. Massey, Theodore N. Ely, W. H. Brown, B. W. Carskadden, W. W. Atterbury, Lewis Neilson, K. S. Green, N. Spring, J. E. Hutchinson, Robert Pitcairn, E. B. Taylor, S. B. Liggett, G. L. Peck and Thomas Rodd.

The train in which they are making the trip is an especially handsome one, equipped with every luxury that modern passenger service has devised. Among the features is telephone connection in every car with the other cars. The train consists of the combination car Cassius, the compartment cars Chili, Cmena and Patagonia, the observation car Consort and Mr. Cassatt's car "60," with P. R. R. dining car 4422. The train is in charge of Conductor G. F. Ege of the Pennsylvania limited.

RICH ITALIAN WOMAN SAVED FROM DROWNING

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Mrs. Corinne Lorea, who is said to be one of the richest Italian women in the city, was rescued from the river at Spruce street this afternoon, she either having fallen or jumped in. She was unconscious when taken from the water. James O'Donnell, who made the rescue, nearly lost his life, receiving assistance before he could bring Mrs. Lorea to the wharf.

FATALLY INJURED BY A MINIATURE TRAIN

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—Albert Fankborer of Marion, Ind., chief engineer of the coal testing plant of the United States geological survey at the world's fair, was probably fatally injured today by one of the trains of the miniature railroad that runs through the mining gulch. Fankborer fell from one of the cars and was dragged more than 100 feet. His right leg was severed near the thigh and his abdomen badly cut.

MONROE DOCTRINE WAS DEFENDED

Resolution Reflecting on Its Worth Was Buried in the Peace Congress.

CARNEGIE'S PLAN APPLAUDED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—The arrest and subsequent reduction of military and naval armaments throughout the world was called for today by the international peace congress in resolutions adopted. The thanks of the congress were extended to President Roosevelt for his pledge to take the first steps toward a convocation of a new international peace conclave.

The most pronounced forensic and oratorical moment which the congress yet has seen came when a Boston delegate, Charles F. Dole, proposed to amend the disarmament resolution by a declaration that no necessity existed for the United States to view with suspicion the powers of Europe, and, therefore, it was quite unnecessary for America, with the purpose of enforcing the Monroe doctrine, to build up such an immense navy. Several delegates warmly opposed the amendment, first, on the ground that such a resolve should properly come before a congress composed of American delegates merely, and, second, on the ground that the congress had no right to criticise the American government for upholding by a suitable naval force a doctrine by the enforcement of which war had been excluded from the western hemisphere, and by means of an insistence upon the open door in the east preventing war also in that section of the globe. The Dole amendment was defeated by a large majority.

Resolutions were unanimously adopted congratulating the powers at the marked favorable development in signing of permanent and obligatory treaties. Baroness von Suttner of Austria announced that a treaty of independence to both countries was about to be signed by Great Britain and Austria.

Before adjournment a letter was read from Andrew Carnegie, dated Scotland, in which Mr. Carnegie suggested the institution of a unique plan for reaching universal peace.

Mr. Carnegie's proposition was: "Suppose that Britain, France, Germany and America, with such other minor states as would certainly join them, should unite, prepared, if defied, to enforce peaceful settlement, the first offender (if there ever was one) being rigorously dealt with, war would at one fell swoop be banished from the earth. For such a result surely the people of these four countries would be willing to risk much. The risk, however, would be trifling. A strong combination would efface it altogether. I think this one simple plan is most likely to commend itself to the intelligent masses. A committee might be formed to consider this. If a body of prominent men of each nation agreed to unite in urging the co-operation of their respective countries in the movement I think the idea would soon spread."

The letter was warmly approved by the convention.

Gen. Nelson A. Miles was the principal speaker tonight at a congress meeting held in Park Street church to consider the question of the reduction of armaments. Congressman Samuel W. McCall presided.

Another meeting, devoted to a discussion of the responsibilities of education in creating right ideals of international life, was held in Tremont temple. Prof. Francis G. Peabody of Harvard university presided, and the speakers included Baroness von Suttner and Dr. Yamei Kin of China.

PEACE MEETING TO BE HELD IN RODEPH SHALOM TEMPLE

Arrangements have been completed by the Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy, rabbi of the Eighth Street temple, for the first meeting in the interest of universal peace ever held in Pittsburgh. The meeting will be held next Thursday evening in the temple. Among the speakers will be Prof. X. Koenig of Paris; Charles Wagner of Paris; Dr. W. T. Evans Darby, secretary of the British Peace society; George Herbert Ferris, secretary of the Cobden club, London; William R. Cremer, M. P., and several other men notable in the peace movement.

HERERROS' POWER IS BROKEN.

German Commander Cables This Opinion—He Says Many Died of Thirst.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—Gen. von Trotha, commander of the forces in German Southwest Africa, cables an account of the recent operations, from which he concludes that the resistance of the Hereros is broken; that discord prevails among the native chiefs, and that many warriors are ready to surrender, but fear they will be shot.

The Hereros suffered terribly from lack of water, owing to the fact that they were driven from the water places into the desert. Many of the natives died of thirst.

PITTSBURGHER INJURED AT NORFOLK NAVY YARD

NORFOLK, VA., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Five men were injured in an accident at the navy yard today. Burke Coates of Pittsburgh, foreman of the Pittsburgh Construction Company, which employed the men, had both arms broken. The men were at work on a staging 40 feet above the ground. While moving a heavy block of stone the staging collapsed. All besides Coates were colored. Two of these will die.

INTERESTING FACTS.

For Nearly Every Man, Woman or Child.

A short time ago we published an article recommending to our readers the new discovery for the cure of Dyspepsia, called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and the claims then made regarding the wonderful curative properties of the remedy have been abundantly sustained by the facts. People who were cautious about trying new remedies advertised in the newspapers and were finally induced to give Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets a trial were surprised and delighted at the results. In many cases a single package, costing but 50 cents at any drug store, made a complete cure, and in every instance the most beneficial results were reported. From a hundred or more received we have space to publish only a few of the latest, but assure our readers we receive so many commendatory letters that we shall publish each week a fresh list of genuine, unsolicited testimonials and never publish the same one twice.

From James Yemmeisler, La Crosse, Wis.: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are doing me more good than anything I ever tried, and I was so pleased at results that I gave away several boxes to my friends, who have also had the same benefits."

From Jacob Anthony, Portmurray, New Jersey: "I have taken Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with the best results. I had Dyspepsia for 6 years and had taken a great deal of medicine, but the Tablets seem to take right hold and I feel good. I am a farmer and lime burner and I heartily recommend to everyone who has any trouble with his stomach to use these Tablets."

From Mrs. M. K. West, Preston, Minn.: "I have received surprisingly good effects from using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I gave one-half of my last box to a friend, who also suffered from indigestion, and she had the same good results."

From Mrs. Agnes K. Ralston, Cadillac, Mich.: "I have been taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and I am very much better and feel very grateful for the great benefit I have received in so short a time."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a certain cure for all forms of Indigestion. They are not claimed to be a cure-all, but are prepared for STOMACH TROUBLES ONLY, and physicians and druggists everywhere recommend them to all persons suffering from Nervous Dyspepsia, sour or acid stomach, heartburn, bloating or wind on stomach and similar disorders.

PRIMATE PLEADS FOR THE HOME

Archbishop of Canterbury Urged Guarding of Its Religious Life.

EPISCOPALIANS IN SESSION

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Oct. 6.—The archbishop of Canterbury, speaking before a joint session of the house of bishops and house of deputies of the Episcopal church at Emmanuel church today, delivered a message to the American body in which he urged that the church take steps to guard the religious life of the home. He said in part:

Your kindness will realize that it is not an easy thing for any man to respond to such words as have been spoken today. I have reached the culminating moment of a journey, the importance of which, as it seems to me, has been daily increasing—a journey undertaken with a direct view to this precise hour.

I well remember the time, seven and 20 years ago, when my brother-in-law, sent by his father, the then archbishop of Canterbury as bearer of the invitation to the second Lambeth conference, was welcomed by your general convention in this very place with a kindness which profoundly moved the old man's memories, when day by day, he watched, a few months later, beside the deathbed of that young man—his only son. And now it is my own high privilege to be the first archbishop of Canterbury to stand here in person.

It was of course, in the virtue of the responsible office which it is my anxious privilege to hold, that your invitation reached my hands, and that I stand in your presence today. One link of claim indeed there is which I possess alone, I think, among the diocesan bishops of England; alone certainly among all the archbishops of Canterbury whom the centuries have seen. It is this: My ordination to the episcopate came in part from you. Among those who laid their hands upon my head in Westminster Abbey on St. Mark's day in 1891 stood the venerable and apostolic figure of Benjamin Whipple, bishop of Minnesota, who, as he has himself recorded, came straight from Egypt to England on purpose to be among my consecrators.

But I am here by your courtesy, to learn rather than to speak; to understand, if it may be, somewhat more clearly than before the practical working of such a convention as has, in its new triennial gatherings, served your church so well for 120 years. Your problems are not all of them our problems. Of some of yours, and especially some of which concern the southern states, we have no experience whatever. Of others we have ample knowledge, but under conditions so different from your own as to render the comparison academic rather than practically serviceable. And others there are, so like these which are set for our solution in the older land, that the arguments on either side in the controversy might be transferred almost verbatim across the sea. Among them is the temptation common to ecclesiastics lay and clerical, in every clime and in every century, to give "means" rather than "ends" the main place in our thoughts, the temptation to lose the true proportion between large matters and small, the temptation to take a petty view of what life's issues really are.

Naturally, we want by all means to make certain that our church system and our church rules and canons, and our church services are loyal and orthodox, are coherent and straightforward, are reverent and helpful to those for whose good they are devised, and that our manner of worship is of the sort to evoke the very best that men can offer. But at this juncture, as it seems to me, the paramount necessity of all is that which concerns the family and the home, the common work-day life, that is, of the Christian people at large.

We can thank God for strong material progress, for an often high note of moral earnestness, and, here in America at least, for an eager output of intellectual force. But it would be vain to ignore the warning voice which tells us, on either side of the sea, of a certain decadence in the definitely religious life of the ordinary home; a falling off, that is, in the very force which gave its distinctive inspiration and its distinctive power to so much of our grandsires' life. If that be true, it surely behooves every gathering of churchmen to consider well what they can do to safeguard the men and women, and above all the children, of America and of England from a peril whose gravity it is impossible to over-estimate, because it affects the very foundation of our Christian life.

Be it ours, be it yours, when an ecclesiastical assembly, big or little, meets for high deliberation and executive resolve, to set ourselves to estimate and deal with the abiding level of our common life. If my presence in your convention be permitted, in the providence of God, to promote in any degree the efficiency of our church's life as a banded force for the bettering of what is amiss in public or in private things—for the ceaseless fight against impurity and selfishness and greed, against ignorance and apathy, against moral cowardice and half-heartedness, I shall rejoice indeed.

At today's session of the house of deputies several resolutions to make more stringent the canon on the remarriage of divorced persons were presented, following a report presented by the church's commission on uniformity in regard to marriage and divorce. The report said in part concerning the legal aspect of divorce:

That it is possible to produce harmony in place of the prevailing want of uniformity may seriously be doubted. It would require not only uniform legislation at a particular period, but that the statutes of these several states upon the subject of divorce and remarriage should remain unchanged, or should only be changed by common consent, so that the original uniformity should continue to prevail. What, if any, success can attend an effort in this direction will depend materially upon the possibility that the churches represented in the conference shall agree upon a uniform canon to apply to their church members and clergy. Whether this is possible the conference can best determine; but the committee easily reach the conclusion that if this be impossible, the task of endeavoring to bring out legislative harmony certainly will be hopeless. The states are not likely to co-operate in producing uniform laws more stringent than the existing laws of the majority of the several states.

After reporting against a change in the legal name of the church at this time, the committee appointed by the last convention was discharged.

Subway Tavern Bobs Up.

An attempt was made by I. Cameron Buxton of Winston, N. C., to present a resolution deploring the action of Bishop Potter of New York in participating at the opening of the Subway tavern in New York city, but the resolution was declared out of order.

Gen. J. H. Stotzenburg of Indianapolis, introduced a resolution condemning lynching. A number of the southern delegates voted to table the resolve but eventually it was referred to a special committee.

A resolution was introduced by Dr. W. R. Huntington of New York, providing for canonized legislation, permitting a special form of prayer to be used for "Swedes, negroes and others."

W. N. Singleton of Washington, D. C., introduced a resolution placing chaplains of the army and navy under the ecclesiastical control of the bishop of Washington. Mr. Singleton also requested the convention to petition congress to provide separate places for divine worship at all army posts. The matter was referred to a committee.

A resolution was passed providing for a committee of seven bishops, seven presbyters and seven laymen to consider the question of making Sunday school instruction more effective.

The diocese of Central Pennsylvania requested that it be divided into dioceses. The petition was referred to a committee.

At the opening service of the Woman's auxiliary of the board of missions today, the sum of $143,117 was contributed to the board. This sum represents the work of the auxiliary organization during the past three years.

HARRY WILLIAMS' WILL.

Dead Theatrical Manager Had Made Careful Provision for His Family.

The will of the late William H. Walker, better known as Harry Williams, was made public yesterday. The value of the estate is not given in the document, which was made by Mr. Walker on April 2, 1900. W. N. Ogden and Joseph T. Speer are the witnesses.

The will bequeaths the estate to Mrs. Walker during her life, and at her death is to be equally divided among the children, William L., Florence C., Eva V., and Harry C. All the life insurance policies made payable to his wife are to go to her absolutely and all other policies are to be divided equally among his children, excepting $10,000, which is to be divided equally between his sisters, Rebecca and Mary F. Walker of Baltimore.

The decedent's theaters are to be managed by his son Harry, who will receive $50 a week and one-fifth of the net profits, the other profits to be divided between the decedent's widow and children. The theaters are to be conducted until an agreement is made to sell, the proceeds then to be divided equally among his widow and children.

The widow is made executrix of the estate without bond, and is appointed guardian of the decedent's minor children.

STATE BANKERS MEET AT SHORE

All Hail the Return of Brighter and Better Conditions of Trade.

PRESIDENT LLOYD PRESIDES

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Young's Ocean Pier,
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 6.

In the 300 bankers who attended the opening session of the tenth convention of the Pennsylvania Bankers' association today in Hotel Windsor were many of the notable financial leaders in the state. They devoted themselves to the work of the conference during the morning, and this evening gathered around the banquet table. The toastmaster was W. R. Thompson, of Pittsburgh, retired, but he indicated that he was still in close touch with the financial affairs by the felicitous manner in which he presided.

The speakers included ex-Attorney General Robert H. McArthur of Newark, now with the Public Service corporation; Robert E. James, Easton, Pa.; Allen Brown Endicott, judge of the circuit court of New Jersey, and president of the Union National bank of Atlantic City; E. Southard Parker, Washington, D. C., who spoke on the "Banker at Washington;" Hon. M. E. Armstead, on "Interest and Deposits;" O. S. Herinenger, Allentown, Pa., on the "Banker and the Newspaper," and President W. McKay Lloyd, Pittsburgh.

It was the first time the association has met outside of the state, and President W. McKay Lloyd said that it was feared that a mistake had been made, as owing to the greater distanced to be traveled it would affect the attendance. Instead, the greatest percentage of the 600 members that ever gathered together in one meeting was present.

President Lloyd, among other things said:

A conspicuous feature of the times is the return of better feeling. More business is being done, more inquiries are being received. The salesmen of commercial houses, returning from their trips, state that they are able to sell more goods than for some time back. Iron and steel mills are starting, the stock markets reflect the growth of confidence, and to me the best business barometer in the state—viz., the Pennsylvania railroad, a short time ago put some 20,000 men on full time.

A friend of mine has it all figured out on the cycle plan. He starts with the panic of 1819. We will have good times from now on until 1908, when prices will have reached their height and started downward until 1911, when we will have the greatest panic in our history. I quote as follows:

"In the past stocks have gone up and down with the regularity of the ebb and flow of the tide. Some stocks even with the tide going out, dart higher than others, and tend to confuse the would-be buyer as to the general tendency. So with the incoming tide—some stocks tend to keep back, though the general tendency is higher, always higher."

Robert E. James of the Easton (Pa.) Trust Company, was re-elected chairman of the trust company section, along with Treasurer Redding and Secretary Stubbs.

Vice President W. R. Peck, of the Third National bank of Scranton will probably be made president at the annual election which takes place tomorrow.

DETECTIVES MUST TAKE OFF EXTRA AVOIRDUPOIS

Director Moore Objects to Officers' Overweight and Their Lavish Display of Diamonds.

"Alex, the city detectives are getting too fat and heavy. I wish you would have that gymnasium put in shape so they can get some exercise."

This was the order Director Harry Moore of the department of public safety issued to Superintendent of Police Wallace yesterday. Superintendent Wallace has arranged to have the gymnasium in readiness for the police and detectives next Monday. Director Moore will then advise the members of the front office to start in and reduce their weight.

Director Moore, in his younger days, was an expert athlete and oarsman. He enjoys looking on a well formed, active man. He is of the opinion the detectives should be equipped physically and mentally to wrestle with the problem of crime. Some of these men, he maintains, are too heavy, so much so they are not active enough to engage in a sprint after a thief or a hard fight with a thug. Detectives James W. Eagan and George W. Cole are the heaviest members on the force. Eagan tips the scales at 230 and Cole at 220. The other men each weigh about 200 pounds. Detective Charles Aymer is perhaps the best man physically on the force. He was an exponent of the roped arena before he became connected with the police bureau. Detectives Harry Jones, Oscar Sieffert and William Riley are three of the best rough and tumble fighters in the city, regardless of their overweight.

Beef and diamonds are the only objections Director Moore has to the detective bureau. He dislikes the display of jewelry among his front office men. Detective Eagan sports a diamond ring valued at $1,500 and Detective Riley wears about $2,000 worth of diamonds on his person. Recently Director Moore entered the detective bureau and put his hands to his eyes when he saw the display of jewelry among his men.

"You fellows with your 'sparks' make my eyes pain," was his comment.

BOGUS CITIZENS USED IN NEW YORK ELECTION

Tammany's Law Committee Notified That Naturalization Frauds Will Be Probed to the Bottom.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—In a letter to the law committee of Tammany Hall, State Superintendent of Elections Morgan today said:

It is a matter of common notoriety that elections in the state of New York have been tainted with corruption through the use of citizenship papers fraudulently obtained from both state and federal courts, and also through the use of forged certificates of naturalization.

Large as the number of certificates may seem which were cancelled by Judge Gildersleeve this number is but a small fraction of the naturalization frauds already discovered, and a much smaller percentage than will be discovered by this office before the first day of registration for the general election of 1904. This investigation will be continued by this office within proper legal bounds, without interference or dictation on the part of any organization, political or otherwise, or set of individuals.

ELECTED NEW OFFICERS.

Lutheran Missionary Society Concluded Annual Session With Election.

Mrs. R. H. Hay of Allegheny was elected president of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary society of the Pittsburgh synod of the Lutheran church, which concluded its twenty-fifth annual session in Trinity church, Allegheny, yesterday. Other officers elected were:

Mrs. J. C. Nicholas of Butler, vice president of the northern conference; Mrs. H. C. Keller of Aspinwall, vice president of the southern conference; Mrs. C. F. Saunders of Blairsville, vice president of the eastern conference; Mrs. F. T. Nicholas of Bellevue, recording secretary; Miss Clara Vatter of Pittsburgh, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. J. Snyder of Connellsville, treasurer. Mrs. W. J. Bucher was elected delegate to the Pittsburgh synod, which meets in Indiana, Pa., next week.

HERMINIE MINERS SECURE BRIDES FROM SCOTLAND

GREENSBURG, Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Mary Harley and Helen Christie Barclay arrived in Greensburg this morning from Scotland, and an hour afterward were married, the former becoming Mrs. Collin Methren and the latter Mrs. Robert Duncan Mitchell. The grooms are miners at Herminie and the double ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. E. J. Knox, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Governor Visits York Fair.

YORK, Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Gov. Samuel Pennypacker, with his private secretary, Bromley Wharton, visited the York fair here this afternoon.

KAISER SENDS HIS GREETINGS

German Day Is Celebrated by Thousands at the World's Fair.

SCHURZ SPEAKS ON LOYALTY

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6.—One of the largest demonstrations that has characterized the world's fair was the celebration today of German day.

The principal visitor was Baron Speck von Sternberg, German ambassador to America, who bore a greeting by cable from Emperor William. Another distinguished visitor was the Hon. Carl Schurz of New York, who delivered an address, in which he placed particular emphasis upon the fact that Germany values most highly the friendship of the United States, and that the long current rumors of possible friction between the two nations are simply canards conceived by unprincipled agitators.

Dr. Theodore Lewald, imperial commissioner-general from Germany to the exposition, was the host of the occasion, ably assisted by Dr. F. C. Rieloff, German consul at St. Louis.

Thousands witnessed calisthenics and gymnastics performed by turner societies and classes of children.

Emperor William's message was as follows:

I convey my imperial greetings and congratulations to those dauntless citizens of America whose wish it has been that the world's fair at St. Louis should not pass by without the celebration of a German day.

May this glorious day be celebrated in unmarred rejoicings and stand as a worthy testimonial of the important part played by the German immigration in the wonderful development of the great trans-Atlantic republic.

WILLIAM I. R.

Hominten, October 6, 1904.

Mr. Shurz said in part:

The German-Americans are the hyphen between Germany and America; we present the living demonstration of the fact that a large population may be transplanted from one to another country and we may be devoted to the new fatherland for life and death, and yet preserve a reverent love for the old. Whenever anyone comes to you with the old, long cold-blooded story that German officers are traveling through this country as spies, I pray you tell him boldly to his face that either he has himself invented such lies, or that he is engaged in circulating the lies of others. He does not know Germany at all who is ignorant of the fact that the German army is a solid, peaceable and honorable nation, who do not take to war as a sport, and that even if they were less peaceable than they are, the United States would be the very last country in the world with which they would wish to have a war. And what German statesman, be he ever so desirous of colonial possessions, could be so foolish as to forget for a single moment that the friendship of the United States is worth infinitely more to Germany than any colony in America ever could be.

QUIET FUNERAL OF HARCOURT

Only Family and Tenantry Present—King Represented at Memorial Services In London.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The remains of Sir William Vernon-Harcourt were buried in the family vault at Nuneham, Oxford, today with the utmost simplicity and privacy. Only the family and tenantry were present.

Simultaneously a memorial service was held at St. Margaret's church, Westminster, where representatives of King Edward and the prince of Wales were among the immense congregation, which included Ambassador Choate, Mrs. Choate, John R. Carter, second secretary of the American embassy, and the other ambassadors and ministers, cabinet ministers and personal and political colleagues of the deceased statesman.

FLIRTING IN THE LONDON CHURCHES

Kissing Indulged in During Prayers and Conversation Drowns the Sermons.

DEAN OF NORWICH AROUSED

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The dean of Norwich is on the warpath against the young people of London, whom he accuses of flirting in the churches during the service. He says he has received many complaints from members of the churches that young people sitting near them keep up so loud a conversation that it is impossible for them to hear the sermon, and that during prayers the young men use the time when the congregation was kneeling to flirt with and even kiss young girls, whom they had evidently met in the church by appointment. In a sermon which the dean preached in the cathedral he said:

"I ask you to pray that conduct which would not be tolerated in a theater or concert room may not be permitted or indulged in within these walls hallowed by the prayers of 800 years. I ask you to save this ancient shrine and the still more ancient city from such a scandal and disgrace. I have taken means of legal kind to prevent this, but I prefer to rely on the moral support of those who love these services."

A number of church officials are busy watching for young offenders during the services from posts concealed in the gallery, and any young man or girl caught flirting will be immediately ejected from the church.

LAST BRICK LAID IN NEW MT. WASHINGTON TUNNEL

With Appropriate Exercises Big Task is Completed—Cars Expected to Be Running by November 1.

The last construction work on the Mt. Washington tunnel of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, which will give quick trolley access to the territory back of the South Side bluffs, was completed yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock with appropriate exercises. As the last brick was laid, a large American flag was run up over the Carson street portal of the tunnel by P. E. Haley, an expert tunnel engineer who came to Pittsburgh from the New York subway work. As the flag unfurled John H. Danks led the several hundred men assembled in giving three cheers for the completion of the big task of boring the mountain.

Chief Engineer D. Neeld of the Beechwood Improvement Company, said that track laying, which has already been started, will be finished this month and that the prospects indicate that cars will be running through the tunnel by November 1.

Work has been peculiarly annual in its stages. It started October 6, 1902. The heading was completed October 5, 1903, and the brick work was so timed that it was finished exactly two years after ground was first broken. The tunnel, which has its Pittsburgh portal just opposite the south end of the Smithfield street bridge, is 3,600 feet long, 21 feet high and 24 feet wide. The stone portals, 40 feet high and 4 feet wide, are built of Beaver county sandstone. To line and roof the tunnel over 7,500,000 brick were used. Over 300 men were employed most of the time, working day and night. The total cost is close to $2,000,000.

The tunnel will contain double tracks, and through it will be run the cars of the Charleroi division of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, and other lines, to the populous section, rapidly growing more populous, south of the Mt. Washington.

KEENE PREDICTS RISE IN THE STEEL STOCKS

Napoleon of Wall Street Gives Optimistic Views on the Financial Outlook.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—James R. Keene's views of the financial outlook are tinged with a conservative optimism. Earlier in the year he told his friends that he believed the uncertainties of the harvest and of domestic and foreign politics then loomed too large on the horizon to warrant any fixed opinion as to the immediate course of prices. He now sees, however, very little cause for alarm concerning foreign politics; it appears that the war in the far east will not spread beyond its present area.

A continuation of another four years of the present policy in our home government seems fairly well assured. As for the harvest, despite a very heavy shortage in wheat and some apprehension as to the corn yield, it is generally conceded that the American harvest of 1904—including the big cotton crop—will bring the biggest return to our agriculturists of any harvest they have ever gathered.

This abundant and valuable harvest must inevitably be reflected in railway earnings. For this reason, Mr. Keene believes, that the railways must again become large buyers of steel products, and that these purchases will bring about a revival in the steel trade. Mr. Keene, therefore, tells his friends that those who are patient will see the securities of the United States Steel Corporation selling at very much higher figures.

Mr. Keene was a very large buyer of steel shares before this advance began. Mr. Keene, in talking with his friends, advises the purchase of low-priced stocks, preferably of companies which have not entered the dividend column.

HEAVY FIRING WAS HEARD AT CHEFOO

Believed It Emanated from Naval Battle Between Japanese Fleet and Port Arthur Squadron.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

CHEFOO, Oct. 6.—The sound of heavy guns has been plainly heard here during the day. This, taken in connection with the reports which have reached here that Admiral Wiren has made an attempt to break through Togo's lines, leads to the belief that a heavy naval engagement has been fought. For several weeks the squadron of heavy Japanese cruisers has been cruising between the straits of Pechili and Tien-Tsin, with the evident object of intercepting any effort the Russians might make to get to a neutral harbor should they succeed in making their way past Togo's line of battleships.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 7.—The admiralty claims to have no knowledge of the departure of the Port Arthur squadron. No direct orders have been sent to Admiral Wiren to break through the blockading fleet, but it is tacitly admitted that the admiral has discretionary powers to leave Port Arthur should the situation demand or conditions be propitious.

In naval circles it is pointed out that Wednesday morning the conditions might have been favorable for a sortie. Heavy storms raged Tuesday, which doubtless compelled the blockading vessels, and particularly the torpedo boats, to seek shelter, thus leaving the way clear for a dash to Vladivostok.

Bonds for Site for a Carnegie Library.

MANSFIELD, O., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—The city council has authorized a bond issue of $10,000 to provide a site for the $25,000 library building Andrew Carnegie tendered to Mansfield over one year ago. Mr. Carnegie's conditions were the furnishing of a site and the providing of a maintenance fund of $3,500 a year.

TYPHOID FEVER EPIDEMIC ABATING AT FINLEYVILLE

Several Hundred Patients Treated and a Number of Deaths Occur—Cases at Oil City.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 6.—The physicians in charge and the Finleyville board of health report some abatement in the typhoid fever epidemic, which has been raging at Finleyville. Several hundred cases have been treated and a number of deaths have resulted. The cool weather is believed to have checked the fever. The epidemic is thought to have been caused by refuse being washed into wells by the heavy rains of the early summer. The board of health has ordered every well and cistern in the vicinity of Finleyville cleansed and fumigated.

OIL CITY, Oct. 6.—The development of an unusual number of typhoid fever cases has aroused the municipal water and health boards, and they have recommended that citizens boil all city water before using it, pending an investigation. The supply is received from wells drilled close to the river bank and was considered free from bacilli. Samples have been sent to Pittsburgh bacteriologists for analysis.

SEAMAN SAYS ELECTION IS PRACTICALLY OVER

Pittsburgh Manufacturer Is in Colorado With Assurance of Roosevelt Victory.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

COLORADO SPRINGS, COL., Oct. 6.—J. S. Seaman, president of the Seaman-Sleeth Company of Pittsburgh, is here with a party of eastern capitalists en route to Ouray and the western portion of Colorado, where they have large mining interests. On the political situation Mr. Seaman said:

"The election is practically over. That's the reason I am away from home. If business conditions were as unsettled as they usually are during a presidential campaign I should be at home. But there is no doubt that Roosevelt will be re-elected by a large majority. The entire north is lined up for him.

"Business conditions throughout the country were never so good prior to an election, and the eyes of the country are turned toward Colorado. Men of wealth in the east appreciate the advantage of investment in this state, and they will turn their attention in this direction if Gov. Peabody is re-elected. If this state does not line up right it will do itself incalculable harm."

BURNED A $20,000 MORTGAGE.

Tabernacle Presbyterian Church Celebrates Freedom of Indebtedness.

While the congregation arose and sang the Doxology a $20,000 mortgage, representing the full indebtedness, was burned in the Tabernacle Presbyterian church, Collins avenue and Station street, last night. The church was crowded to its fullest capacity. Special music was provided and addresses were made by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Allan D. Carlile; the Rev. Dr. William L. McEwan and S. A. Armstrong, treasurer of the congregation.

During the exercises the pastor presented Mr. Armstrong with a gold watch on behalf of the congregation for his efforts in freeing the church of debt. Of the $20,000 debt, $17,500 had been raised during the present year.

RECKLESS GIRL CAUSED A SMALLPOX EPIDEMIC

Traveled in Crowded Passenger Coach While Her Face Was Covered With Pustules.

HARRISBURG, PA., Oct. 6.—There are 10 smallpox patients at Harrisburg's sanitary hospital and all are the result, the health department officials say, of the rashness of one girl, whose name they withhold.

This girl contracted the disease in Lebanon, remained there until the case was four weeks old, slipped out of the house and came to Harrisburg, her face covered by a heavy veil, in a crowded passenger car on the Reading road. Her case was here diagnosed as smallpox, and when the health officers went to quarantine the house they were met with a shotgun.

The girl, before she was detected, came into contact with many other people in the neighborhood in which she lives, and the 10 cases are the result, the officials say.

Aged Man Killed During Race.

BEDFORD, Oct. 6.—(Special.)—During the free-for-all running race at the county fair this afternoon Foster P. Woods of Washington, D. C., a veteran of the Civil war, while attempting to cross the track, was run down and fatally injured by a horse owned by Lute Hay of Meyersdale, dying several hours later. Capt. Woods was visiting his son-in-law here, E. S. Taft, editor of the Pennsylvania Hawkeye. He was 80 years of age.

Directors and Officers Elected.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 6.—(Special.)—The Fink Coal and Coke Company's stockholders met here and elected these directors: Dr. H. S. Bute, C. L. V. Bute; N. A. Rist, J. C. Moore, Robert McBurney, J. D. Frisbee, B. P. Patterson, S. W. Dunn and David Junk. The officers elected are: H. S. Bute, president; N. A. Rist, vice president; Robert McBurney, secretary, and John M. Core, treasurer.

LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.

Chicago at Exposition park.
Boston at Philadelphia.
Cincinnati at St. Louis.

There was a reminder of the approaching winter in the chilling breezes which swept across Exposition park yesterday afternoon and made the players of the Pittsburgh and St. Louis teams hustle about to keep warm. The teams were booked for a double-header and the Pirates made the best of the opportunity and by capturing both games, the first 6 to 5 and the second 10 to 1, worked their way back into third place.

Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather conditions a crowd of 2,150 shivered through the afternoon of baseball. The chilling wind was more than the majority of the regular grandstand occupants cared to stand and the sun seats in the open bleachers were the favorite view points. The players also got a move on and there was no loafing, with the result that the two games were played in little more time than it ordinarily takes to play one game.

In the first game Jack Taylor, the Pirates' old hoodoo, was given rather a lively bumping, the locals managing to bunch their hits on him and make them count in the way of runs. The receiving end of the Cardinals' battery was a bow-legged young man named Butler, who managed to make a fine mess of things in not only the first, but the second game as well. The Pirates soon realized that Butler was not the best man in the world to throw to bases and all kinds of liberties were taken. Once in the first game the young man essayed to head a runner off at second base and he heaved the ball into right field. This was more than Taylor could stand and he rolled on the ground with laughter.

Charley Case pitched the game for the Pirates, pitched it well and was given excellent support. The batting of the Pirates was timely, particularly McCormick's, whose three-bagger to right field in the sixth inning was responsible for two runs. There were a number of pretty fielding plays on both sides and the game was an enjoyable one, as it was free from disagreeable features.

Flaherty and McFarland were the pitchers in the second contest, which was cut down to seven innings. Flaherty started out a little wild, but soon settled down to business and the Cardinals' hits were few and far between. The visitors just managed to save themselves a shutout in the seventh, when Dunleavy drove the ball down into deep middle field and the hit counted for a home run. It looked to the spectators as if the hit could have been fielded faster and the runner held on third base.

McFarland was the pitcher who gave the Pirates a dose of whitewash on Decoration Day in the rain when Deacon Phillippe was out to the bad on results of which rendered him useless to the team all season. It was different yesterday, however, for the curves of McFarland had no terrors for the local batsmen, who went at him right off the reel, and the manner in which they pounded the ball all over the field must have made that pitcher feel rather cheap. The support given McFarland by his fellow players was something awful. This game served to give Tommy Leach a chance to display his wonderful fielding ability, and the manner in which he gathered in the most difficult fouls by chances brought prolonged cheers from the spectators. The scores:

Giants Will Not Get Vinson.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 6.—The National baseball commission today decided that the claim of the New York National league club to Outfielder Vinson of the Providence team is not legal, there being no agreement offered in evidence by the New York club to show that the New York club was to have the pick of the Providence players in return for Pitcher Milligan, who was turned over to Providence early in the season.

AMERICAN GAMES TODAY.

Boston at New York.
Philadelphia at Washington.
Cleveland at Detroit.
St. Louis at Chicago.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 6.—The local baseball season closed today. Cleveland winning two games from Detroit. The long hits by the Clevelands and Rhoades' fielding were features. In spite of the cold a good crowd was present. Lajoie made his two hundredth hit of the season in the first game. It was a two-bagger. The second game was called at the end of the fifth inning on account of the cold. Scores:

YALE WINS CHAMPIONSHIP.

Behr and Bodman Take Tennis Honors for Elis from Harvard.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.—K. H. Behr and G. Bodman of Yale won the intercollegiate tennis championship this afternoon by defeating in the final match F. J. Sulloway and J. J. B. Larned of Harvard. The contest was the best and most exciting of the tournament.

The only other match played was that in the semi-finals of the singles, between E. B. Dewhurst of the University of Pennsylvania, the present intercollegiate champion, and B. S. Prentice of Harvard, which was won by Dewhurst. Dewhurst will meet Le Roy of Columbia tomorrow in the finals. The summaries:

Doubles, final round—Behr and Bodman, Yale, beat Sulloway and Larned, Harvard, 6—4, 4—6, 2—6, 6—3, 8—6.

Singles, semi-final round—E. B. Dewhurst, University of Pennsylvania, beat B. S. Prentice, Harvard, 4—6, 6—2, 6—0.

Present Owners Do Not Like Being on the Losing End.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 6.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Philadelphia National league baseball club today the question of the disposal of the franchise and players was informally discussed, but no definite action was taken.

The report of President Potter of the club showed a financial loss, and it is said the sentiment of the stockholders favors disposing of the club. Mr. Potter said: "We shall finish the season and all debts will be paid, but after that it will be for the stockholders to determine whether they wish to continue."

HIGH SCHOOL HAS MEN UNDER A BAN

Faculty Disqualifies Four Old Football Players Because of Low School Work.

PRACTICE HELD BY ELEVENS

Football stock at the Pittsburgh High school took a big tumble yesterday when four of last year's players were declared ineligible for this season's team by the faculty because of low grades. The players under the faculty's ban are Duncan Worrel, the star halfback; Dick Woods, tackle; David Neff, guard, and Greer Orr, tackle and guard. The disqualification of these players leaves Wallace Johns, captain and tackle, the only old player for this year's team.

The order of suspension from the faculty was read to the boys by Prof. Saul before the afternoon's practice began. Gloom was written on the countenance of every player and the practice during the afternoon was in the most part listless in consequence. The first team was able to score but one touchdown against the scrubs, which was made by W. Johns. Dave Johns enlivened the crowd by a 60-yard run to the scrubs' five-yard line, getting the ball on a kickoff. Verner did well at tackle.

High school will play the W. & J. academy eleven Saturday at Washington and the red and black is not any too jubilant.

Shadyside Academy.

Capt. Williams kept his men for two hours at work of the hardest variety, getting in shape for the game with California Normal Saturday at California. The first team took the ball over the goal line on the scrubs six times, McCracken, Williams, Curry and Jim McCutcheon making touchdowns. The coaches also paid considerable attention to punting and running through the signals. Patterson was out at quarter again. Curry is still playing Dick Mueller's position, left half. Mueller has an injured leg.

Kiskiminetas.

The Kiski warriors were put through a brisk practice yesterday in preparation for the game with the Quakers of Johnstown Saturday at Saltsburg. Capt. Harry Gordan is still confined to his room on account of the injury sustained to his knee in last Saturday's game. He may be able to get in the sport next Saturday's game. The coaches are pleased with the work of Kumler, the fullback from Ohio. His punting is one feature of his work that delights.

W. U. P.

Eighteen men took part in the signal practice yesterday at Exposition park, which lasted one hour. Schmidt and Zieg were out and engaged in the practice. Leidenroth was the only absentee. Coach Mosse was improved yesterday, but symptoms of typhoid fever were evident.

Pittsburgh College.

The Pittsburgh college sophomores indulged in light practice yesterday afternoon. Rehearsing of signals and mass plays by the backs were features of the work. Under the direction of the coach, the weakness displayed last Saturday against St. John's lyceum was greatly remedied. The weakness consisted principally in lack of interference. The sophomores will play Oakdale H. S. tomorrow and will line up as follows: Rankin, l. e.; Cready, l. t.; McGrath, l. g.; Goff, c.; Troxall, r. g.; Grey, r. t.; Miskiow, r. e.; Spangler, q. b.; Dowling, l. h.; Neilan, r. h.; Keading, f. b.;

WILL BE MATCHED.

Jimmy Britt and Joe Gans Are to Meet in the Ring.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—Unless Al. Hereford balks at the terms demanded, there is now every prospect of a fight between Joe Gans and Jimmy Britt within the next 30 days.

Willie Britt's demands will be similar to those exacted by Young Corbett from Jimmy when the Corbett-Britt match was made. Figuring that Britt is the money-maker of the two, Willie demands that the purse be split as follows: Seventy-five per cent to Britt if he wins, and 50 per cent if he loses, and 50 per cent to Gans if he wins and 25 per cent if he loses.

FORBES, WESLEYAN CAPTAIN, JOINS THE YALE SQUAD

Ewing Rafferty Strong Candidate for Center at Princeton—Cornell Loses Simons.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 6.—"More speed, make those plays go faster," and similar strenuous admonitions kept the four Yale football elevens on the jump today throughout a long and hard practice. Nearly all the regulars who played yesterday were given a rest, but were called on to help in coaching the others. Only one score was made, a touchdown by the first eleven after much line bucking in which W. White, fullback, was injured. He sprained an ankle, and had to be carried to the cars. Lydig Hoyt, the best punter in Yale, is abed with a badly injured knee, the result of a kick in yesterday's game. Fearful that Hoyt may be incapacitated indefinitely the coaches today gave Roome plenty of kicking practice.

Yale coaches today gave welcome to Robert W. Forbes, who resigned yesterday as captain of the Wesleyan eleven. He entered Yale today as a student. Because of some scholarship deficiency he was not allowed to play with the team at Wesleyan, and when the faculty refused to give him a second examination, he resigned and came to Yale, where he can enter a class later. He joined the football squad to help develop the team and next year will be a candidate himself. He is a big tackle with a good record in athletics.

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Princeton's varsity was allowed a short practice this afternoon and 10 minutes of scrimmage against the Tigers' work. Rafferty of Pittsburgh was again tried at center and his rapid improvement has marked him as a strong man for the position. Stannard, the St. Louis heavy weight, who has been playing right tackle, received an injury in the Wesleyan game and was on the side lines today with a lame shoulder. He will be back in the game with Washington and Jefferson on Saturday. The feature of practice was the brilliant work of Munn at halfback, who gained steadily through the line and made a sensational tackle which downed Foulke after a 30-yard end run.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Coach Warner continued his individual instruction of the Cornell players today, paying particular attention to the tackling. The whole squad was given a long trial at the dummy and tackled it until the sawdust began to run. The men were then taken onto the field and drilled in running down the field on punts. Later the varsity lined up against the scrubs and many formations were gone through, Coach Warner directing the men exactly through what holes to carry the ball. A five-minute scrimmage ended the day's work.

It was definitely decided today that Cornell will not have Simons, the giant guard, in her line, the big freshman being at the last moment unable to enter the university.

W. & J.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Great improvement is seen in the playing of the W. & J. team this week. They had their final practice this afternoon and will leave for Princeton tomorrow.

Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Harvard's football practice today was featured by the appearance of Jones, the famous colored Exeter tackle, who during his school days had almost as great a reputation on the scholastic gridiron as Capt. Hogan of Yale. Two seasons ago Jones was tried at end, where up to the time of an injury, he showed up in an unusually strong light.

AUTO RECORD BROKEN.

Chicago Drivers Reach the Metropolis After Long Journey.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Tired, travel-stained, generally bedraggled, but happy in the knowledge that they had broken the record between Chicago and New York by nearly 14 hours, Bert Holcomb and Harry Sandall whizzed up to a garage in Thirty-ninth street near Broadway this afternoon in a 35-horse power automobile.

The record-breakers left Chicago at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. The run was made in 58 hours and 45 minutes elapsed time, and 51 hours and five minutes corrected time. Exactly 13 hours and 58 minutes was clipped from the best previous record. From Chicago to Cleveland, Bert Holcom and R. W. Haroun drove. From Cleveland to Binghamton, N. Y., Eddie Bald and Larry Duffie handled the machine. Holcomb was the only driver to make the entire run. The best time made was 58 miles an hour, and the average for the run was 24 miles an hour.

Beltzhoover to Have Show.

The Beltzhoover Athletic club will hold a smoker at Leiderkranz hall, Beltzhoover, tonight. The entertainment will consist of boxing, wrestling, singing and dancing. All the prominent boxers and wrestlers of the city have promised to attend. Invitations have been extended to the Pittsburgh and Chicago baseball teams. Any person wishing to perform will report at the hall before 8:30.

The Giants' Benefit.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The New York National league pennant winners were given a benefit today at the Polo grounds. There was an attractive program of baseball, athletics, wrestling and pugilistic events. Some of the boxers surprised the onlookers by their thoroughness.

FOUR RECORDS ARE BROKEN IN RACE

Tiverton Wins First Two Heats Under Time and Sweet Marie Equals Performance.

MARE ALSO SETS NEW MARK

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LEXINGTON, KY., Oct. 6.—The Transylvania for 2:12 class trotters, value $5,000, today, resulted in possibly the greatest contest in the history of the trotting turf, and was won by Sweet Marie in the three final heats, the first two heats going to Tiverton. Four world's records were made in the Transylvania today, besides lowering the event record and making the fastest mile of the year on any track. When Tiverton won the first heat in 2:05¾ he lowered the event record and made the fastest trotting record of any horse this year. When he won the second heat in 2:04½ he again lowered these records and made the world's record for the fastest second heat in a race. Sweet Marie won the fourth heat in 2:08¼ and the fifth heat in 2:09, thus establishing a world's record for the five fastest heats ever trotted in a race. The average time for each heat was 2:06 11-20. The first three heats averaged 2:05¼. The time by quarters of the five heats was as follows:

First heat	:32½	1:04½	1:35¼	2:05¾
Second heat	:32½	1:02¾	1:33	2:04½
Third heat	:31¼	1:02¾	1:33	2:05
Fourth heat	:32½	1:04½	1:36	2:08½
Fifth heat	:33	1:05¼	1:38	2:09

Sweet Marie, the winner, is owned by William Garland of Los Angeles. In the betting she was favorite for the race, but Tiverton was favorite for the first heat.

PRESBYTERY LINES TO BE RELOCATED

Reapportionment of at Least the Western End of the State Is Recommended.

TWO LOCAL BODIES TO UNITE

That the Allegheny and Pittsburgh presbyteries of the Presbyterian church will be consolidated and the boundary lines of all presbyteries in Western Pennsylvania, and possibly throughout the state, will be readjusted and conformed to county lines was made apparent yesterday during the hearing in the Conestoga building before the commissioners of the Pennsylvania synod on the boundary line controversy between the Pittsburgh and Washington presbyteries.

A year ago 10 West Virginia churches in the Washington presbytery asked privilege to withdraw and enter the Wheeling presbytery. This led to warm discussions and the final withdrawal of the churches from the Washington presbytery. The general assembly at Buffalo this year authorized the erection of the West Virginia synod on October 18 this year, which synod is to include the resigning churches. As a recompense the Washington presbytery asks for 13 churches in the Pittsburgh presbytery, which are in Washington county.

Commissioners Appointed by Synod.

Pittsburgh presbytery opposes this and the Pennsylvania synod appointed a board of commissioners to consider the matter. The commissioners were the Rev. Dr. George S. Chambers of Harrisburg, chairman; former Gov. James A. Beaver, former assistant Attorney General James A. Stranahan, P. Elliott Patterson, the Rev. Dr. William P. White and the Rev. Dr. Sherman H. Doyle of Philadelphia and the Rev. Dr. R. M. Patterson of Melbourne. Drs. Chambers and White were the only commissioners in attendance yesterday.

Representatives from the Pittsburgh, Redstone, Allegheny, Washington and Blairsville presbyteries were in attendance as follows: The Rev. Drs. C. P. Cheeseman, J. C. Bruce and G. M. Kerr and Laymen William C. Lilley and E. E. Fulmer of Pittsburgh; the Rev. Drs. A. S. Milholland and J. C. Malloy and the Rev. I. C. Decker of Redstone; the Revs. J. A. Platts and W. O. Campbell and Laymen J. S. Siagel and John Boyd of Allegheny; the Revs. W. H. Slemmens, Frank Fish and J. R. Hosack of Washington and the Rev. E. S. Wallace and Layman Samuel Hamilton of Blairsville.

Making a Great Presbytery.

Dr. J. C. Bruce of the Pittsburgh presbytery made a minority report. He is firm in the belief that the Washington presbytery should get what it asks for. He held that Washington had been relieved of 19 churches, or 37.8 per cent of its strength, and the claim for the 13 Washington county churches in this presbytery would return to it only a portion of its loss. He urged that the Pittsburgh and Allegheny presbyteries be united with a few of the churches now in the Blairsville and Redstone presbyteries. He submitted a proposition which would give Pittsburgh presbytery 155 ministers, 110 churches and congregations aggregating 35,045 members. This would make Pittsburgh presbytery the third largest in America in ministers, the first in America in number of churches and the second in point of congregational membership. His plan calls for a general reapportionment in Western Pennsylvania.

Dr. Cheeseman, chairman of the committee from Pittsburgh presbytery, presented a report giving pointed reasons why the lines of the local presbytery should not be changed. All present spoke either for or against the proposition.

Arguments Advanced for Pittsburgh.

Arguments advanced were that Pittsburgh was easier of access to the Washington county churches than were points in their own county, owing to railroad accommodations. The fact that the local presbytery was better able to finance missionary work in this adjacent field was advanced.

The Blairsville delegation announced that Braddock churches were anxious to leave their presbytery and join Pittsburgh. McKeesport churches were said to be anxious to leave Redstone presbytery and come here. Nearly every delegate announced that there was a sentiment for changed boundary lines in his presbytery. Allegheny and Pittsburgh delegates declared strongly for consolidation. Dr. Kerr, who had made a strong argument for the retention of the Washington county churches in this presbytery, arose later in the day to announce that he would vote to relinquish them if Allegheny and Pittsburgh presbyteries were joined and there was a general revision of boundaries throughout the western section of the state. The sentiment spread rapidly and the Washington presbytery delegates announced that they would not have pressed their claims so strongly if a general revision had been promised.

United on General Proposition.

There was absolutely no dissension upon the points raised that the whole western section, if not the whole state, should have lines readjusted to conform as nearly as possible to county lines. The Rev. J. R. Hosack declared that in the upper portion of Washington presbytery four presbyterial lines met, and the community would petition for the establishment of a new presbytery there to be known as the Beaver presbytery.

The commissioners will report to the next session of the Pennsylvania synod, which meets in Oxford, Pa., October 20. It was the opinion among the delegates yesterday that a general revision of boundary lines would be recommended. This action would require the appointment of many committees and sub-committees, and final action in the re-establishment of lines would not be possible for at least a year. However, the consolidation of the Allegheny and Pittsburgh presbyteries will no doubt be accomplished.

SOCIETY

EDGEWOOD society, together with a number of guests from the East End, made the new Edgewood clubhouse its center of social activity last night, when the building was formally opened. The Edgewood club is a purely social organization which sprang into existence only last spring. Its membership is limited to 200, its present number of members. James B. Graham is president of the club, with Charles Garland secretary and Charles E. Willock treasurer. The board of directors includes these officers and Charles M. Thorp, A. S. McDonald, Frank G. Wallace, O. B. Craig, E. J. Lloyd and John F. Miller. The entertainment and reception committees appointed to serve only for last evening were composed of the women of the club. The reception committee consisted of Mrs. James B. Graham, chairman; Mrs. Matthew Bigger, Mrs. R. A. Ebe, Mrs. J. D. Schouder, Mrs. A. W. Cadman, Mrs. William McCance, Mrs. C. C. Mellor, Mrs. J. C. Hill, Mrs. C. E. Willock, Mrs. F. P. Wallace and Mrs. O. B. Craig, the entertainment committee including Mrs. W. N. Burt, chairman; Mrs. R. W. Anderson, Mrs. McCrady, Mrs. S. M. Moffit, Mrs. Allen W. McEldowney, Mrs. William Rock, Mrs. Ramsey, Mrs. S. M. McElroy, Mrs. C. M. Thorp, Mrs. E. J. Lloyd, Mrs. A. S. McDonald and Mrs. Charles Garland. The building formally opened last evening is being used only as a temporary clubhouse, as the members expect to take possession of their new building now being erected on the same grounds early in January. The building in use at present is the R. D. Alexander residence, remodeled and furnished by the club members. The house, with the property which fronts 300 feet on Maple avenue, was purchased for $16,000, and an additional $12,000 is being put into the new clubhouse. This is to be a cement structure, in which will be a bowling alley, billiard hall and all the necessary apartments of an up-to-date clubhouse. The men and women received together last evening, and the entire clubhouse was thrown open to the inspection of several hundred guests. On the lower floor, which is finished throughout in green and white and furnished with oriental rugs and mission furniture, are the large double parlors, the smoking room and the hall. The ladies' room and reading room are on the second floor, which is done in blue and white, with furniture of rattan.

Tyson-Melhorn.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized on the evening of October 5 at the residence of Major W. W. Tyson of Erie, Pa., when his daughter, Sara E., was united in marriage to Robert Samuel Melhorn, a son of the Rev. J. K. Melhorn of Homestead, Pa. The attendants were Miss Jean Meyer of Shadyside, as maid of honor; Miss Hazel Smith of Edgewood Park, and Miss Zoe Rankin of McKeesport, Pa., as flower girls, and little Lois Smith and Martha Menough, who carried the ribbons. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. Wilson of Erie. The bride and groom left on an evening train for an extended wedding trip through the east. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Meyer, Miss Jean Meyer and Frank Meyer of Shadyside; Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Smith, the Misses Hazel and Lois Smith of Edgewood Park, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Menough, Miss Martha Menough of Wellsville, Ohio; Capt. Abraham Miller of Bellefonte, Pa.; Miss Anne Melhorn of Homestead, Pa., and Mrs. Rankin and Miss Zoe Rankin of McKeesport, Pa. Major William W. Tyson, the father of the bride, is quartermaster of the State Soldiers and Sailors' Home. A sad feature connected with the otherwise happy event was the very evident and serious illness of the father of the groom, the Rev. J. K. Melhorn of Homestead, Pa., who was to have performed the ceremony. It was not until Tuesday night that word was received that Mr. Melhorn would not be able to reach Erie, that he had been removed to Passavant hospital in Pittsburgh.

Rodgers-Hamilton.

A beautiful new home, the gift of the bride's father, will be ready for occupancy next month and after their return from their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hamilton will take possession of it. Their wedding was a handsome event last evening at "Windsor," the home of the bride's parents, Capt. and Mrs. William Horace Rodgers. Mrs. John Speer Donaldson, herself a bride of the past summer, was her sister's matron of honor. Two little nieces of the bride, Miss Charlotte Hunter and Miss Lucy Buehlnder, were flower girls and the latter was formed by the ribbon bearers, small brothers of the bride, Philander Knox Rodgers and Henry Clay Frick Rodgers. Walter Forbes Rodgers, Jr., served as best man. Capt. Rodgers gave his daughter away and the marriage was solemnized by the Rev. N. W. Holmes, pastor of the Sarvice Methodist Episcopal church. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton left after the supper for Washington City where they will spend their honeymoon, returning to be at home on Tuesdays in November.

Mrs. Furey's Reception and Dinner.

Quite the largest and most beautiful affair attended upon the visit to this city of Miss Florence Stanley of Philadelphia was the reception given by her hostess, Mrs. William M. Furey, at the Country club, Homewood, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Furey and Miss Stanley received together. Mrs. Furey wore a white lace robe and Miss Stanley spangled tulle over pink. They were assisted by Mrs. H. D. W. English, Mrs. Frederick F. Babcock, Mrs. Seymour Stone, Mrs. James Francis Burke, Mrs. A. Grant Anderson, Mrs. G. A. Samuels, Miss Jean Dunlavy and Mrs. G. W. Kadyk. Mrs. Furey's mother, Mrs. Follansbee, of Steubenville, Ohio, presided from 3 until 5 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Furey gave a dinner for the out-of-town guests and a limited number of men, the latter guests including the husbands of the married women and Frank Hickway and Charles Taylor.

Mizener-McKown.

J. Burd McKown, assistant treasurer of the People's Savings bank of Pittsburgh, was married to Miss Alice Lorraine Mizener, daughter of ex-Mayor [illegible] Mizener of Erie, at the bride's home at 7 o'clock last evening. The Rev. R. Bradbury, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, performed the ceremony. The bride wore a [illegible] trimmed with lace that has been used in the Mizener family for three generations. Miss Frank M. Lowry, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor, Ralph Vincent Minkel, a brother-in-law of the bridegroom, acting as best man. The flower girls were Miss Margaret Hill, a niece of Mr. McKown, and Miss Eleanor Mizener, a niece of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. McKown will make their home in Bartlett street, Oakland.

Luncheon for Bride of Next Week.

Although quite simple, the luncheon given yesterday by Miss Alfred Kidd in honor of Miss Eleanor Turnbull Gibson was a delightful little affair. Covers were laid for 16, the guests including Miss Gibson, who is a sister of the hostess and will marry William Mollvaine Robinson next week; Miss Helen Walker, Mrs. Charles Morris, Miss Irene Succop, Miss Eleanor Laird, Miss Gertrude Laird, Mrs. Thomas Evans, Miss Myra Boyd, Miss Walter Lloyd, Miss Nell Hine, Mrs. McMurray Smith, Miss Helen Thompson, Miss Sallie Murdock, Miss Alice Thomas, Miss Catherine Chambers and Miss Marie Gibson. The luncheon was given at Miss Hine's home, Forbes and Wightman streets, Squirrel Hill.

The Mellors Leave Today.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mellor of "The Laurels," Edgewood park, will leave today to attend the wedding of their niece, Miss Dilora Reinhart, daughter of the well-known artist, Charles Stanley Reinhart, and Harold La Tourette Renner in Flushing, L. I., tomorrow afternoon. The wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the Episcopal church in Flushing. Fifteen hundred invitations have been issued. Miss Emily Reinhart will be her sister's maid of honor, and Charles Stanley Reinhart, a brother of the bride, will give her away. Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Mellor of Edgewood, who have been in the east for several weeks, will also be guests at the wedding.

Wedding Invitations Out.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Anna Louise McCrady, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. McCrady of Aiken avenue, and William Stadler Kidd on Thursday, October 20, at 4:30 o'clock. The wedding is to be held at the home of the bride, the Rev. Dr. Daniel Barchet officiating. Dr. Barchet is pastor of Christ Methodist Episcopal church, of which the bride is a member. Mr. McCrady will give his daughter away and a sister, Miss Clara Louise McCrady, will act as maid of honor, the only other attendant being the best man, Leslie Gaither Kidd, a brother of the bridegroom. A home dance after the ceremony at the Sutherland apartments, on Mellon street, East End, have been announced.

Will Wed an Ohio Girl.

On the evening of October 19, Dr. William M. Holt of 700 Monticello street, East End, will be married to Miss Pearl Scott at the home of the bride's mother in Lisbon. The ceremony will be performed by Dr. Horn's father, the Rev. Dr. Isaac P. Holt of Wheeling, W. Va., and will be witnessed by only the immediate relatives. The only attendants will be Mrs. Elva Beebout of Canton, Ohio, matron of honor, and Dr. A. P. Schuster of Allegheny, groomsman. Dr. and Mrs. Horn-Holt will be at home after December 1.

Sewickley Girl Engaged.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hegner of Dover street, Sewickley, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Nellie Mary Hegner, to John P. Kuipers of Emsworth. The wedding will be in the late fall.

Notes of Society.

Mr. And Mrs. William T. Graham of Allegheny are expected home from their wedding trip late next week. They are still in the east.

Mrs. H. Peely of East End avenue entertained informally yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Lottie Lillian Jahn, who will be married to John Paul Garling on Tuesday.

Miss Mary Burchfield of Baum street and South Negley avenue was hostess at a prettily appointed luncheon yesterday at her home. Covers were laid for 12. There was no special guest of honor.

A Dainty Dressing Table

Dressing tables artistically designed are more in vogue than ever. The one shown in the above illustration is manifestly an artistic type, rare in design and altogether very pretty. The carving is chaste and exceedingly ornate. Made of mahogany, and in width is three feet three inches. It is provided with a heavy plate glass mirror 24x30 inches.

Such a handsome dressing table, correct in style and beautiful in appearance, gives an air of refinement to the boudoir that is unmistakably pleasing. Its pattern is altogether original.

An advantage not to be overlooked in buying furniture here is that this is the largest furniture house in the world.

AMONG THE CLUBS

Will Soon Celebrate Anniversary.

The Woman's club of Ben Avon will hold its first meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. A. C. Knox in Park Row, Ben Avon, next Tuesday evening. The program includes a greeting by the president, Mrs. F. A. Schumaker. Mrs. George F. Brown of Crafton, a member of the New Era club of Pittsburgh, will be the honor guest and will read a paper on the biennial convention of women's clubs in St. Louis last June. Mrs. John Soleberry will read a paper on the world's fair. The topic for the coming season is England, Scotland and Ireland.

On November 15 the tenth anniversary of the organization of the club will be celebrated and Mrs. T. G. Evans, the first secretary will read its history.

Work Among the Foreigners.

The semi-annual meeting of the Allegheny Presbyterial Missionary society will be held in the United Presbyterian church of Valencia next Thursday. There will be morning and afternoon sessions. The principal business will be the election of delegates to the Woman's General Missionary society. Miss Emma Dean Anderson will make an address on "The Women of India and Our Indebtedness to Them," and Mrs. Mary Cloky Porter will speak of the Northfield summer schools for women's missionary societies. A conference on work among the foreigners of the city will be conducted by Mrs. J. D. Fraser and Mrs. J. A. Duff and will be followed by an address by the Rev. V. Lima of Schoenville.

Considering Philanthropic Scheme.

The East End branch of the Allegheny County Woman's Christian Temperance Union has under consideration the establishing of a coffee house in Pittsburgh. The subject was brought up at the last meeting by Mrs. Jonathan L. Slater and the president, Mrs. J. C. McDowell, was instructed to appoint a committee to make inquiries into the feasibility of establishing such a house and suggest suitable plans for carrying the work forward, the idea being to provide a place downtown where those who cannot afford to pay much may obtain refreshment at a low price and where nothing containing alcohol will be used. The committee consists of Mrs. Slater, Mrs. Joseph Morrison, Mrs. James McMasters and Mrs. Hattie Stewart.

Discussed Work Among Italians.

In the Union United Presbyterian church at Gayly yesterday, the Women's Missionary society of the Monongahela presbytery held its semi-annual meeting. At the morning session devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. J. D. Sands. "Italian Work" was the subject of an address by the Rev. John B. Fortunato. Reports were made by Mrs. E. G. Given, secretary of literature; Mrs. D. S. Little, Bellevue, home manager; Miss Carrie M. Reed, of the committee on Italian work; Mrs. E. E. Brown, treasurer; Mrs. George S. Smith, junior secretary; Miss Edna Young, literary secretary; Mrs. J. T. McClory, thankoffering secretary.

Change in Plans.

The Thursday afternoon club of Wilkinsburg has been compelled to postpone indefinitely its [illegible] tea, which was to have been observed on Thursday of next week. The postponement is due to serious illness in the family of one of the hostesses for that day. A meeting of the executive committee will be held in a few days and it will consider the advisability of combining the program for the first regular meeting day, October 27, with that of president's day, an earlier date than that conflicting with the time of the meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women in Lancaster.

Delegates Elected.

The Nursery Alumnae association of the Homeopathic hospital yesterday elected two delegates to attend the second annual meeting of the State Graduate Nurses association to be held in Philadelphia October 26, 27 and 28. The delegates are Miss Ella Cooper of Allegheny and Miss Belle Jones of Swissvale. The meeting was conducted at the home of Mrs. William M. Penfield, Meadow street, East End, and after the [illegible] business session refreshments were served by the hostess.

Colonial Dames to Meet.

The first meeting of the Western Pennsylvania committee of the Colonial Dames will be held on Friday afternoon, October 20. The regular monthly meeting should have been held yesterday, but was postponed a couple of weeks, as the greater number of the members of the committee have not yet returned to Pittsburgh after the summer spent in travel or at their summer homes.

Decides to Send Delegates.

Contrary to the usual custom the Women's club of Sewickley will this year send delegates to the annual meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, to be held at Lancaster October 18, 19 and 20. Those elected are Mrs. Theodore W. Nevin, Miss Anne Nevin and Mrs. Clarke P. Rose.

Classes in Modern Languages.

The department of education of the Women's club of Sewickley has made arrangements for the language classes to be organized again. The [illegible] will open Thursday, October [illegible] with Prof. Scalwelt in charge, the [illegible] following morning under Miss [illegible] the literature class January 2 under Miss [illegible] R. Underwood.

M'CLEAVE SAYS B. & O. WILL NOT LOSE PROPERTY

Railroad's Counsel Minimizes the Effect of the Court Decision and Says a Patent Has Been Granted.

Johns McCleave, the legal representative of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at Pittsburgh, said yesterday that the title of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad to the property in question in the suit just decided by the United States circuit court of appeals is not affected by that decision. Since the litigation was instituted, he said, the state legislature has passed an act allowing the state to grant patents for all abandoned channels of rivers in Pennsylvania. The Baltimore & Ohio has taken advantage of this act to secure a patent for the back channel between old "Smoky" or Kilbuck island and the Allegheny city shore of the Allegheny river. This, Mr. McCleave says, will give the railroad a perfect right to maintain its tracks as they are.

Stephen G. Porter, city solicitor of Allegheny, will bring suits of ejectment against the railroad company as soon as the formal decree of the court has been entered. This will not be for 30 days, it is said, under the rules of the court. The decree in question forbids the city of Allegheny from alienating or leasing to the railroad company the land in question.

PYTHIAN SISTERHOOD ELECTS GRAND OFFICERS

Public Installation Will Be Held in Realty Hall, Eighth Avenue, Homestead, This Evening.

The grand assembly of the Pythian Sisterhood of the Domain of Pennsylvania will close in Homestead this evening, when a public installation of the grand officers elected yesterday will take place. The grand assembly delegates are guests of the Homestead sisters, and Mrs. Joseph Macmath of Homestead is chairman of the entertainment committee. The convention is being held at Realty hall, Eighth avenue and Amity street, Homestead. Following are the officers of the grand assembly elected yesterday:

Grand chancellor, Mrs. George Pann, East Pittsburgh; grand vice-chancellor, Mrs. C. A. Cook, Allegheny; grand prelate, Mrs. W. [illegible] Johnstown; mistress of exchequer, Mrs. P. J. Hall, Pittsburgh; grand [illegible]ing, Mrs. Joseph Macmath, Homestead; grand assistant mistress-at-arms, Mrs. William McCormick, Connellsville; grand inside guard, Mrs. William [illegible], Johnstown; grand outside guard, Mrs. Wesley [illegible], McKeesport; grand [illegible], Mrs. C. Van Eppen, Latrobe.

SWORE OVER TELEPHONE.

Anxious Husband Had Great Provocation and Was Released by Superintendent.

For swearing over the telephone yesterday because he could not get in communication with his sick wife, James Anderson of the East End was arrested and locked up the greater part of the day, charged as a suspicious person.

Anderson learned that his wife, who is in Rochester, was very ill and tried to reach Rochester through a pay station on Second avenue. According to the story he tells, instead of giving him the proper connections some one on the other end of the wire started to "kid" him, and exasperated at the delay, he swore. A woman in the drug store where the 'phone was located called an officer, who arrested him. As soon as Supt. Wallace learned of the facts he released Anderson until the hearings this morning.

STOCKS AVERAGED LOWER AND TRADING FELL OFF

St. Paul and the Steel Stocks Led the Reaction. Reading and Copper Made New Records. Local Market Active and Irregular.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

In the New York stock market yesterday there was a falling off of several hundred thousand shares in the volume of sales and a general reaction in prices. In some respects the market was the most logical witnessed this week. There was a subsidence of sensational rumors, and the manipulation was less apparent than for more than a week past. The steel stocks and St. Paul were leaders in the reaction, but the entire active railroad list averaged from ½ to 1 per cent lower for the day.

There were some conspicuous exceptions, however, and the session did not pass without the establishing of some new records. The most notable in this respect was Reading. The common stock displayed great strength and finally reached 70⅞, which was ⅞ above the previous high mark made last month, and less than 2 points below the record made during the great boom in 1902. Delaware & Hudson also sold at the highest price of the year, reaching 174½. These were the only railroad stocks which closed at a net gain for the day. There was no news to account for the movement, and the latter had no effect upon the remainder of the list.

Another stock to sell at the highest price of the year was Amalgamated Copper, which reached 61¾, but closed only ¼ per cent higher for the day. Brooklyn Rapid Transit sold at 59⅜, the highest of the year, and closed at a net advance of ⅜. The other traction stocks were heavy. Metropolitan selling down to 118⅞, and Metropolitan Securities to 80¼. There were rumors of a hitch in the much-talked-of deal for the consolidation of these properties, but the movement in this group of stocks was overshadowed by the liquidation going on elsewhere.

At the opening there was heavy trading in Southern Pacific, which advanced moderately on the higher London quotations. It soon became apparent, however, that the bull manipulators had either exhausted their stock of rumors, or that they were intent upon taking profits, and the market quickly declined to a lower level. St. Paul broke to 183 and closed at the lowest. Union Pacific sold off to 102½ and also closed at the lowest. Atchison and many of the lower-priced issues also declined during the afternoon and displayed little rallying power.

U. S. Steel preferred held its own relatively better than any other members of its group. It opened at 75⅛, rallied to 75⅝, reacted to 74¾, recovered most of its loss, and then in the final dealings sold off to and closed at 74½. The common stock declined ⅜ per cent to 17¾ and closed at 17⅝. The sinking fund bonds declined to 85¾ and closed at 85⅞. The weakest member of the industrial list was National Lead. The common sold off to 22½ and the preferred broke 4 points to 92, both closing at the lowest. The tone of the general market at the close was rather heavy.

The day was free from news that might be classed as influential in affecting values. The damage by floods in Texas and Oklahoma was reported to be very extensive, and this may have caused the decline in Gould stocks and other southwestern issues. On the other hand, all commodity markets were lower. There were violent breaks in both wheat and corn and both these cereals as well as cotton closed at the lowest prices of the day. The primary receipts of wheat were again large, amounting to 1,102,000 bushels, against 880,000 bushels, and export clearances of flour were again very light. The money market was steady and without important change.

The weekly reports of the foreign government banks were favorable. The Bank of England reported a decrease of $8,455,000 in gold bullion and a decrease of $7,410,000 in loans. The rate of discount remained unchanged at 3 per cent. The Bank of France reported a decrease of $4,110,000 in gold and a decrease of $7,345,000 in loans.

Crucible Steel was again the leader of the local market, more than a third of the total transactions being in this stock. The common rallied to 7 and closed at 6⅞ bid and sales. The preferred rallied to 43⅞, which is within 1¼ per cent of the high price of the year, and it closed firm at 43 bid. There was no additional information regarding the bond proposition which will be submitted at the stockholders' meeting on the 19th inst., and the only explanation for the strength was the report that a bull pool was operating in the stock. U. S. Steel common and preferred sold off in sympathy with the decline in the east and closed at the lowest. The Harbison-Walker issues were strong, the common advancing to 6 bid and the preferred to 52½ bid. National Fire Proofing common and preferred also advanced fractionally and closed firm. U. S. Glass sold at 50, an advance of 4 per cent and the highest price ever quoted on the local board. The Westinghouse stocks were dull and heavy. Air Brake sold at 134, a decline of $1, and was offered at that price. Electric declined to 82½ and closed at 82 bid. Philadelphia Company preferred was more active than for a long time past, more than a thousand shares changing hands at 45¼ to 45¾. The buying orders appeared to originate in Philadelphia, where there have been rumors of a deal with the United Gas Improvement Company. Other natural gas stocks were fractionally lower. Coal stocks were strong, Pittsburgh Coal preferred advancing to 67⅜ and River Coal preferred selling at 24. There was no business in bonds.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The local stock market held its own well yesterday in the face of the reaction in New York. There were more net gains than losses, and the latter were not as a rule important. The upward movement in Crucible Steel preferred would probably make better progress if the annual meeting were out of the way. It was rumored in the street that the forthcoming annual report would be less satisfactory than generally expected, and it is thought possible that the stock will react when the figures are made known. If the improvement in trade continues, however, it will have a favorable effect upon Crucible as well as other iron and steel stocks.

There were no sales of Pittsburgh Coal common and dealings in the preferred slightly exceeded 500 shares. The latter was firm and closed at 67⅜ bid, the highest of the day.

The sale of United States Glass at 50 represented an advance of $4 a share over the last previous sale, and is the highest price quoted for the stock since the first year of its organization, when it began dividends.

Manufacturers Light and Heat and Ohio Fuel supply declined slightly while Philadelphia Company was advancing. Philadelphia Company preferred closed at a net advance of 75 cents a share.

The Westinghouse stocks were neglected yesterday, and Airbrake and Electric closed slightly lower.

The directors of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company have declared a quarterly dividend of 2 per cent on the preferred shares and an interim dividend of 3 per cent on the common stock, payable November 1 to shareholders of record October 15.

The directors of the Consolidated Ice Company of Pittsburgh declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the preferred stock, payable October 20. Books closed October 10 to 20, both inclusive.

The regular 2 per cent semi-annual dividend on Atchison common is payable December 1, to stock of record November 10.

H. B. Cladin directors have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent on the common stock, payable October 15.

For several months there has been steady buying of the stock of the Consolidated Gas Company of Baltimore in that market. This buying has been ascribed to New York sources, but a late rumor associates it with interests identified with the United Gas Improvement Company of Philadelphia.

The annual report of the American Steel Foundries Company shows total net income of $629,260, a decrease of $1,158,705.

The buying of Reading on the advance yesterday was said to be for First National bank (of New York) people. The stock is quoted on a dividend basis, and predictions are made that a dividend will be declared before the end of the year.

Michigan State Telephone directors have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on the preferred stock, payable November 1.

The Chicago board of trade will be closed Saturday, which is Chicago day at the St. Louis fair.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the National Union Fire, Henry C. Bushman was elected treasurer of the company to succeed the late John G. Holmes. Mr. Bushman was also elected a member of the board of directors.

The Missouri state crop report estimated the yield of corn in that state at 175,000,000 bushels. One of the crop experts last month estimated the yield at 190,000,000 bushels.

Gross earnings of New York Central for September increased $194,000.

Copper prices have again been advanced this week. Lake is now 13⅝ c a pound; electro 13c, castings 12¾c. This makes an advance of ¼ cent a pound all around this week.

A Steel Corporation official estimates that the earnings for the past quarter "will be nearer $19,000,000 than $18,000,000."

Dun & Co. say: "Notwithstanding the fact that failures have increased 10 per cent over the same nine months last year, it is gratifying to find that the increase occurred in the first quarter of 1904, and the past six months actually show smaller liabilities than were reported for the corresponding part of last year. This indicates that the worst point of the depression in business has passed, and that current conditions are gradually becoming more satisfactory; a logical result of the more conservative attitude of business men throughout the nation. Such an exercise of caution is not only calculated to reduce the losses through insolvencies, but may be counted upon to reduce surplus stocks in all hands from the manufacturer to the consumer, which in turn promises a larger and better sustained distribution of merchandise as the purchases expand with the growth of confidence."

The organization of the Standard Coke and Steam Coal Company, with a capital of $150,000, has been effected through the firm of W. S. Matthews & Company, Keystone building, of this city, for the purpose of operating a field of 1,500 acres of Pittsburgh and Freeport coal, at Wheeling Junction, W. Va. A charter was granted by the governor of West Virginia on September 24, and the following officers and directors were elected: Walter Kennedy, president; J. T. Blair, vice president; Max W. Kurniker, secretary; W. A. Giffin, treasurer; Alexander H. King, H. Fred Mercer and J. C. Boyer, directors. The company expects to start mining by January 1, all preliminary arrangements having been perfected.

The failure to declare the dividend on the Steel Foundries preferred stock and the reported $10,000,000 bond issue of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, were deterrent influences on the iron and steel group.

United States government old 4s declined ⅛ per cent on call in New York yesterday.

The United States Steel Corporation has over $55,000,000 cash on hand subject to check. This is an amount nearly $5,000,000 greater than on December 31 last, and is almost the largest amount it ever held at any one time. Its cash strength can best be appreciated when it is compared with some well-known railroads. The appended figures are from the official reports of the Steel Corporation for 1903 and 1902 and the 13 American railroads at the close of the fiscal years 1904 and 1903, the corporation's fiscal year closing with the calendar year:

FIFTH AVENUE PROPERTY SOLD

Kaskel Solomon Makes Good Profit on Lot Disposed of for $50,000.

MORE DEALS IN RENTING

Kaskel Solomon has sold to a well-known downtown business man the former John S. Lambie property on the south side of Fifth avenue, near Van Braam street, Fifth ward, for about $50,000. The deal was handled by the Freehold Real Estate Company, and shows that investors still have faith in the future of property beyond the hump. Mr. Solomon bought the property in 1902 and nets a handsome profit by its sale. The lot is 35x120 feet, and is improved with two three-story brick buildings occupied as stores and dwellings. As the income value of this and similar properties in the neighborhood is comparatively small it is evident that their value in the eyes of the buyers lies chiefly in the possibilities of profit to be derived. In spite of the depression that followed the voting down of the hump removal it is to be noted that with one or two exceptions every deal made in outar Fifth avenue this summer and fall has been at a profit, and at least three good-sized deals are now pending for property in that vicinity which, if put through, will establish new price records.

Piles of Refuse in Alleys.

A striking case of negligence on the part of the bureau of health was brought to the notice of that body this week by two real estate men who happened to be interested in the handling of a property in the East End. The lot runs back to an alley, and in grading it preperatory to building a house a deposit of 13 feet of tin cans and rubbish was found. The alley was not in a hollow but was unpaved, and the debris had been tramped into the mud for years until the alley was much higher than the adjacent properties. The streets on both sides of it have been built up with good houses for years, and it was evident that either the residents had dumped their trash into this alley or others had hauled in the refuse. The find was discussed by the respective owners that it promptly declared off all negotiations for the property. This is only one of many cases which could be easily pointed out where the alleys are blockaded with piles of disease-breeding refuse. In some localities of the city according to the statements of property owners there seems to be no restriction on the amount of ash and filth piled in the out-of-the-way places, and it is only when the properties change hands or some residents on the nearby streets become more than usually outraged that decisive action is taken in the matter.

Second Avenue Lease Signed.

Hartje Brothers have leased to the Briggs Machinery Company the buildings at 238 and 240 Second avenue, between the Hartje warehouse and the plant of Weaver, Costello & Company, for a term of five years. The buildings are old brick houses, one of two and one of three stories, and the firm will take possession at once. Hartje Brothers leased the property last year from the King estate.

Parke & Company have been appointed agents for the eight-story building on Wood and Ross streets commonly known as the "Wilkinsburg skyscraper." There are 60 offices in the building, which belongs to Leopold Vilsack, and 65 per cent of these are now rented. Of this total 16 have been rented since September 1, showing that there is a steady demand for good business quarters in Wilkinsburg.

E. I. Sweeny, who is now building five houses in North avenue, near Swissvale avenue, Wilkinsburg, has decided to build five more similar dwellings in the same street at once. The lots are 26x122 feet, and the houses will cost $4,500 each.

The 123 houses which John P. Schaffer and E. H. Reisminger are building in Hamilton avenue, East End, are up to the second story and a few of them are under roof. The houses will be much better than the ordinary dwellings built in rows, and the demand for such dwellings in that locality is evidenced by the fact that the Homewood Real Estate Company has already rented many of them, although they will not be finished for several weeks.

Popular Plan of Operation.

Economy. The Real Estate Trust Company sold for John H. Galey to W. D. McCarty a two-story red brick house on 20x100 feet in Ohio View avenue, Economy, for $3,000. This house is one of 10 which Mr. Galey is building at Economy to suit prospective buyers. The houses contain six rooms and bath and command a fine view of the Ohio river.

Wilkinsburg. Parke & Co. sold for W. L. Stewart to John Wessler 50x120 feet in the west side of Savannah avenue near Henrietta street, Third ward, Wilkinsburg, for $3,500. The buyers will build a $7,000 house.

Fletcher street. C. C. Hamilton sold for J. H. Wise to Harry W. Dilmore an improved lot, 22x70 feet, in Fletcher street near Lang avenue, Twenty-first ward, for $2,000.

Carnegie avenue. Thomas McCaffery sold through D. Shields for C. Schuhler to A. Kalchthaler No. 5148 Carnegie avenue, a brick and frame house on 20x100 feet for $4,700.

Ingleside. Through the office of John A. Sharp, William Walker sold for William Watson Smith to Theodore Bitzer lot No. 18 in Broad street, in the Ingleside plan for $1,200.

Lancaster street. The Commonwealth Trust Company sold to Robert Thomson an improved lot, 50x120 feet, in the west side of Lancaster street, near Sanders street, Twenty-second ward for $8,000.

Meade street. Joseph Caldwell sold to Alma Z. Hutchison, 60x110 feet in the north side of Meade street and Lexington avenue, Twenty-first ward for $4,800.

Sheridan avenue. Emma E. and Samuel Young sold to J. H. Orr, 40x100 feet in the east side of Sheridan avenue, Nineteenth ward for $4,400.

Butler street. George Dippold sold to Edward Hinrichs, 24x115 feet in the south side of Butler street, Twenty-first ward for $1,000.

New Buildings Authorized.

The Pittsburgh bureau of building inspection issued the following permits yesterday:

To Thomas McNeil, brick dwelling, Linden avenue, Twenty-first ward, to cost $15,000; W. E. Olsom, two brick veneered dwellings, Idlewild street, Twenty-first ward, to cost $7,200; George L. Bennett, brick veneered dwelling, Monticello street, Twenty-first ward, to cost $5,500; M. L. Arner, brick stable, Edna street, Sixth ward, to cost $4,683; Mrs. H. Matthews, brick veneered store and dwelling, McCandless avenue and Windsor street, Eighteenth ward, to cost $3,800; Edward Ogden, brick veneered dwelling, Fairmount street, Nineteenth ward, to cost $3,500; A. B. Wilson, concrete block dwelling, Kedron avenue, Twenty-first ward, to cost $3,000; William J. The capital stock is $230,000 and the liabilities are placed at $323,755. The receivership is attributed to failure of the American Cotton Company, with which the other company was connected.

SHIPPED LETTUCE BACK IN THE LOCAL MARKET

Ashtabula Growers Get Busy With Heavy Frosts—Grapes Show Slight Advance.

Shipped lettuce made its appearance in the local market again yesterday, after having been out for the summer season. During the summer the lettuce grower at the distant points is at a disadvantage with the farmer and gardener here at home. When the heavy frosts come he begins to get back into the business. Up around Ashtabula is the great lettuce district. They raise it there, thousands and thousands of heads, under glass. They only ship it into Pittsburgh and other markets when the local supply is cut off by cold weather. Spinach is another vegetable luxury that is coming in now from up Ashtabula way. Both spinach and lettuce are selling at 30 and 35 cents a basket.

Business was extremely dull along the street yesterday, but the dealers are anticipating a big boom in another week. The cold weather is rapidly winding up the local supplies of all kinds of produce, and in another week or two the man who handles shipped stuff will be having his innings against the farmer. The farmer has had good times of it this summer, as prices were good all through the season, and the demand was heavy. Generally speaking, there have been few better years for the local farmer and gardener than the produce season now ending. At the same time there have been few years that showed brighter prospects for the men who know nothing of growing things, but who attend strictly to the business of selling them. Times are improving rapidly, and with mills going and money plenty there is every reason on their part to look for a great winter trade the rest of the fall and during the winter season.

Receipts of fruit and produce yesterday were light. The reports from the railway yards showed 12 apples cars, making 42; grapes, 6 cars, making 33; peaches, 3 cars, making 20; pears, 5 cars, making 23; sweet potatoes, 1 car, making 22; miscellaneous, 6 cars, making 11.

Grapes took an upward lift yesterday, due to a raise at the point of shipment. The increase was caused by rains in the grape belt, which halted picking and made the supply scarce.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts of hay, grain and feed at the several railway yards yesterday were: Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 1 car straw, 1 car oats, 5 cars hay. Baltimore & Ohio, 12 cars hay, 1 car straw. Pennsylvania lines, 22 cars oats, 40 cars hay, 2 cars feed, 1 car corn and oats, 2 cars rye, 4 cars straw.

Oats and corn are in good demand. Shelled corn is extremely short and the price has gone up. Hay continues in heavy demand and the quotation has dropped a little on the heavy receipts. Rye moved up a little yesterday. The crop is said to be a good one, but not heavy. The grain is of excellent character and the supply is just about equal to the demand.

DUSTERS AND SMALL WELLS REPAY WORK OF THE DRILL

Southeast of Mannington, Marion county, W. Va., the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its second test on the E. W. Hamilton farm through the Gordon and has a duster. In the same district the same company has drilled No. 43 on the B. F. Blackshere farm into the Gordon and the hole has filled up 300 feet with fluid. Near Downs Station, in the same county, the South Penn has drilled its No. 4 on the E. T. Price farm into the fifth sand and has a fair gasser at that level. On the east side of the Folsom district, Harrison county, the South Penn has drilled its No. 3 on the John Stout farm through and 30 feet below the Gordon and has just a show of oil. No. 6 on the P. Starkey farm has been completed in the Gordon and is producing 15 barrels a day. At Smithfield, Wetzel county, the South Penn has completed and shot its No. 14 on the B. W. Peterson farm and it produced 15 barrels the first 24 hours. The same company has drilled its No. 52 on the Genina Robinson tract 20 feet into the Gordon and the hole has filled up 1,000 feet with fluid.

In the Richwood Run district, Wetzel county, Trees & Brast have drilled their test on the J. O. Kearns farm through the Gordon and have a duster. In the same district the South Penn has drilled its No. 3 on the Alfred Batson farm into the Big Injun and has developed some gas, but has no show of oil. In the Salem district, Harrison county, the South Penn has completed and shot its test on the Homer Bartlett farm and has a show for a small pumper. The hole has filled up 500 feet with fluid. The same company has completed its test on the T. & J. Williams farm and the hole has filled up 500 feet with oil from the Gordon. The No. 2 on the Davisson-Smith farm has been completed and is producing 15 barrels a day.

In the Wick district, Tyler county, the Carter Oil Company has drilled its No. 10 on the J. W. Musgrave farm through the Big Injun and has a duster.

Near Burton, on Churchs Fork, Wetzel county, the Philadelphia company has drilled its No. 4 on the Sarah Anderson farm into the Gordon and has developed a good gas pressure, estimated at 3,000,000 cubic feet a day. This well is 500 feet east of No. 1 on the same farm and will not be drilled deeper at present.

Near Bula, Monongalia county, Carnahan & Co. have drilled their test on the Orphus Thomas farm into the deep sand and the well is reported to have made several large flows.

Near Logansport, Marion county, the Delmar Oil Company has drilled its test on the Hays farm into the Gordon and the hole has filled up 1,800 feet with fluid. In the Mt. Morris district, Greene county, Pa., John L. Dunn & Co. have completed their second test on the Elias Grim farm and have a gasser in the deep sand.

WITNESS LEFT BY WINDOW ROUTE

STOCKHOLDER ASKS DAMAGES

Deputy Sheriff John Pickett, while bringing William Rhodes, aged 17, from Huntingdon reformatory to testify in the case against Robert Smothers and Thomas Sterck, two central station officials charged with the murder of William O'Donnell, a prisoner, permitted the boy to escape from him by making a thrilling jump through a window at Greensburg. The deputy notified the Greensburg police and searched all night for his prisoner, but could find no trace of him. Rhodes was sent to Huntingdon on November 13, 1903, after pleading guilty to entering a dwelling house in South Highland avenue. He was a prisoner in central station on the night O'Donnell was arrested and occupied a cell a short distance from the one in which O'Donnell was placed. Rhodes was an important witness for the commonwealth against the two policemen, and the district attorney's office was preparing the case for trial. The witnesses were being examined and the court ordered Rhodes brought to Pittsburgh. Rhodes went into the lavatory just as the train was pulling out of Greensburg and jumped from the window. Edward Levy, who was one of the defendants in this case, has since died. The search for Rhodes is being continued and the Greensburg police soon hope to capture him. Smothers and Sterck are represented by Attorneys W. H. Stanton and J. F. Burke, while J. Robert Wright is assisting the commonwealth on behalf of the O'Donnell family.

Marcus R. Stewart entered suit against Charles Zimmerman and the Producers Mining and Smelting Company to recover $10,000 damages. A like suit for $1,000 was entered against the same defendants. The plaintiff alleges he was induced by Zimmerman, who is a director of the company and its eastern representative, to purchase stock amounting to $1,000. He avers the assets of the company were misrepresented to him and that he was refused his money when he demanded it.

In the suit of Mary F. Bechtold against Catherine Diroll and others, a jury decided that Jacob Wolff, deceased, did not execute a paper purporting to be his last will, and that he was of unsound mind at the time it was alleged to have been signed.

The testimony in the divorce suit of Anna S. Robbins shows that Oscar Robbins left her three months after marriage, and has disappeared, having never been seen since. He told her he was going to leave her, was tired of her and that married life was not what it seemed.

Maggie J. Stein has entered suit against Lew J. Stein for $10,000 damages for the alleged loss of her husband's affection and support. She says she married Nathan Stein, a brother, and through the malicious interference of the defendant her husband filed a libel in divorce.

Jesse Clare was sentenced to six months for assaulting Wong You, a restaurant keeper of 433 Third avenue.

It was impossible to maintain order in criminal court when Annie and Maggie Morgan were tried and acquitted of assault. The case resulted from a neighbor's row, and the testimony given in an Irish brogue convulsed the courtroom in laughter during the entire trial.

Vito Foglio, Raffaele De Biasi and Pasquelle De Biasi were convicted of a charge of felonious assault and battery made by Sam Piccoli, who alleges the men cut him 11 times.

In the equity suit of H. P. Dilworth against Frank F. Nicola, involving the options on which considerable property at the Point was purchased by H. C. Frick, the defendant has taken an appeal to the supreme court.

A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed by Morris Walsh against Thomas P. Herd. A claim for $3,075 88, on a judgment, was filed against Herd. The petitioner claims Herd committed an act in bankruptcy by allowing another creditor to procure a judgment.

A voluntary petition was filed by Julius Shallat and Nathan Lewis, partners in the Fashion store, 1010 Fifth avenue. The firm's liabilities are given as $3,456 18, with assets of $3,877 59.

A like petition was filed by William C. Lilly, a farmer of Washington township, Clarion county. He gives his liabilities as $3,713 30 and assets amounting to $5,300.

The following executions were issued: Mary Alston vs. A. F. Walther, $250; Equitable Building and Loan association vs. Daniel Brown, et al., $1,491; C. A. Brahn vs. E. J. Dietrich, $133; D. Howard Brown vs. Robert M. Mead, $178 80; Keystone Commercial Company vs. Aaron Thomas, $548 07.

AMERICAN NATION CONDOLES WITH WIDOW OF BARTHOLDI

Ambassador Porter, Acting Under Instructions from Washington, Sends Letter of Sympathy.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

PARIS, Oct. 6.—Acting on instructions from Washington, Ambassador Porter today sent Mme. Bartholdi the following letter:

Madame—The death of the eminent sculptor, who had always aimed at giving to his works the expression of some great idea or noble aspiration, has profoundly moved the American nation, which had received a lasting proof of his sincere admiration. As the interpreter of these sentiments the government of the United States has bidden me to say to you that the statue of Liberty Enlightening the World has rendered the name of Bartholdi dear to all my countrymen, who join in your grief and that of the artistic world. In acquitting myself of this duty, allow me to express my personal sympathies and those of all the members of the embassy who, like myself, had with Bartholdi friendly relations during the last 20 years, which have left in our hearts souvenirs we shall never forget.

KNEW ALL ABOUT INSANITY.

Prisoner Said That a Sane Man Would Mind His Own Business—He Was Discharged.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—(Special.)—Sane or insane? This was the question occupying the attention of Magistrate Pool in the Jefferson Market court today. Lawrence Cronin, 70 years old, was the prisoner.

"Are you insane?," asked the court.

"No, sir."

"Don you know what an insane man is?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, what is an insane man?"

"An insane man is one who does not mind his own business."

"Good. You are discharged."

FOUR CHILDREN DROWNED; OTHER PERSONS SAVED

Antarctic Relief Ship Arrives.

PLYMOUTH, ENGLAND, Oct. 8.—The Antarctic relief ship Morning arrived here today and subsequently proceeded to Sherness. This vessel with the Terlonova found the Discovery in January of this year near South Victoria and afterwards accompanied the Discovery to Lyttleton, New Zealand.

Chicago Merchants Visit Pittsburgh to Inspect Our Modern Department Stores.

Mrs. Charles Netcher, wife of the late Charles Netcher, owner of one of the largest department stores in Chicago, who has assumed the management of this large store, and who has about three thousand in her employ, sent Mr. Henry H. Hart, one of the managers; Mr. R. C. Mangold, assistant superintendent, and Mr. Long, architect, of Halbird & Roach, to Pittsburgh. While here they were the guests of Mr. Albert Silberberg of Pittsburgh, who accompanied them on a tour of inspection through all the largest department stores in Pittsburgh and Allegheny.

They were highly impressed with the latest improvements of modern stores, as they are going to tear down parts of their Chicago building, and plans are being prepared, where they have taken a great many ideas of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Netcher is carrying out the ideas of her late husband with great success. The above gentlemen are visiting Baltimore to see how the new foundations are being made and they will also visit New York, Philadelphia and Boston before returning to Chicago.

DEDICATED ITS FINE QUARTERS

Chamber of Commerce Meets in New Rooms and Shows Intention of Vigorous Actions.

SCHOOL TEACHERS ASK HELP

The elegant new quarters of the chamber of commerce in The Gazette building at Oliver avenue and Wood street were dedicated yesterday without formality by the holding of the regular monthly meeting. In honor of the occasion the chamber started in vigorously by condemning the proposed Grant boulevard traction franchise by adopting resolutions concerning municipal affairs, with particular reference to street construction and repairs, and listening to a delegation of school teachers who asked the chamber's support for the movement in favor of better wages.

President John Eaton presided. In his speech he welcomed the members to the new quarters, voiced the thanks of the chamber of commerce for the tasteful way in which the executive committee had decorated and furnished the rooms, and invited the general public to inspect the apartments at any time, as the object of the chamber of commerce was to foster and develop every line of trade and business interest. Mr. Eaton went briefly over the history of the chamber. He said that the list of members, since the organization in 1878, proved that the most public-spirited and representative men of Pittsburgh had belonged to the chamber of commerce and that the directors especially had neglected their own business interests to develop local, state and national interests.

Some Things It Did.

The final adjustment of many important questions had been influenced by recommendations of the chamber of commerce, Mr. Eaton said, notably the prosecution of the blind pool promoters in Pittsburgh; the abolition of traffic tolls on the Monongahela river, and the improvement of the Monongahela, Allegheny, Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

The chamber had taken a pronounced position in favor of trade reciprocity, irrigation of arid districts, international arbitration, sound money, tariff protection, the Isthmian canal and a new city charter. It had entertained many visiting bodies, such as the Pan-American congress, the international commercial congress, the congressional committee on rivers; it had prepared an important exhibit for the St. Louis exposition. In fine, it has always been prompt to consider all questions of international, national, municipal and local importance. Mr. Eaton concluded thus:

One of the most important matters that will require active participation of all its members will be to make our city what it should be—Greater Pittsburgh. Today Pittsburgh ranks as eleventh in population and sixth in manufactures, but Greater Pittsburgh, having nearly 800,000 souls, would rank fourth in population in this country and first, eminently first, in manufactures, for no other city in the world has a tonnage which compares with that of Greater Pittsburgh. Its tonnage—86,636,680 tons—is greater than that of New York, London, Antwerp, Hamburg and Liverpool combined.

Advantages of Consolidation.

The advantages of concentration of a community under one government, the business interests having their offices and banking facilities in one city, are too apparent to need recommendation. New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and St. Louis are examples we can well follow, for those cities have long since demonstrated the advantages and advisability of consolidation.

The new rooms are now formally opened, and may they ever be used to further the objects of our association, to protect, foster and develop the commercial and manufacturing interests of our community and to help in developing the country at large.

Supt. Anderson, the Rev. Dr. W. J. Holland, Oliver McClintock, Maj. A. P. Burchfield, Hugh Young, and others, spoke briefly, developing further the hints thrown out by President Eaton. The report of the committee on municipal affairs was read, and the resolutions recommending street improvements and the purchase of a $10,000 asphalt plant by the city and protesting against the using of the Grant boulevard for traction purposes were adopted.

This Would Mean Expense.

A. M. Hanauer and W. H. Stevenson spoke in favor of the boulevard resolution, and Oliver McClintock explained that no objection ought to be offered if the traction company cut into the hillside along the boulevard, for it could then run its cars as fast as it pleased without danger to persons driving on the boulevard.

The delegation of women representing the public school teachers' association consisted of the Misses Clarissa Moffitt, Jessie Hardie, Jessie Hill and Marion V. Neeper. Miss Moffitt said the delegation represented 900 ward school teachers, who had decided to ask the chamber of commerce to help them to secure better pay. Poor pay forced the teachers to practice economies that were hurtful to themselves and to the schools, Miss Moffitt said.

Miss Neeper is chairman of the committee on salaries of the Pittsburgh Teachers' association. She said she understood the chamber of commerce had for one of its objects the help and protection of the community, and she argued thus:

The boys now studying under the teachers will sometime take the places now held by members of the chamber in the great commercial and industrial affairs of Pittsburgh and vicinity. For the protection of the community it is necessary that those boys be taught well during the first seven years of their school life. Now, a teacher cannot teach well on poor wages and in a badly-ventilated and overcrowded schoolroom. Therefore the minimum pay of $500 a year should be increased to $600 and the minimum from $750 to $1,000, except in extraordinary cases, when it should be not lower, but higher, say $1,100.

Other Ways to Spend Money.

The delegation was requested to present the request in writing to the committee on municipal affairs, which will consider it. In her argument Miss Neeper had said that in some school rooms 100 pupils were under instruction. In considering the delegation's request the committee will take the overcrowded and unsanitary condition of the school houses into consideration and decide whether it may not better leave salaries unchanged and increase the number of teachers and improve the school houses in sanitary respects.

The resignation of William M. Kennedy as chairman of the Greater Pittsburgh committee was accepted, and Supt. Anderson was appointed in his place, with power to name the other members of the committee.

A resolution inviting the American Federation of Labor to hold its next annual convention in Pittsburgh was introduced and passed by unanimous consent, after John Bradley, the tailor, had withdrawn his point that the resolution ought first to go to a standing committee.

Bradley presented a resolution providing for a petition to ask councils to pass an ordinance compelling property owners living at street corners to put on their houses signs bearing the name of street or alley.

RAILROADS SUCCEEDING IN RELIEVING COAL CAR SHORTAGE

The railroads during the last week have done a great deal to relieve the serious car shortage which prevented the coal companies from shipping fuel to purchasers. A part of the situation grew out of the fact that the furnaces were holding ore cars at the docks and not unloading them, and that the coal companies had sent coal to the lakes where there were no boats into which to load the coal. This latter situation grew out of a congested condition in the northwest.

The railroads have been withholding cars from the ore trade until that congestion is removed and have also been withholding cars from the lake coal trade. The situation, therefore, has eased greatly. Than cars have been coming into this territory from other divisions of the trunk lines. In some places the demand for coal cars has not been strong and the railroads are finding that this equipment may be shipped into the congested territory. A certain exchange of power has also helped the situation.

It is a usual thing this time of year for a shortage of coal cars. All the coal operators shipping across the lakes make an effort to get as much coal shipped as possible before the insurance runs out on the lake steamers. The insurance runs out in a few days after which time the railroads will be in good condition to handle all traffic offered.

Excursion to Rhododendron Park.

District Passenger Agent T. E. Watt of the Pennsylvania railroad announces that arrangements have been completed for the annual excursion to Rhododendron park. It will be held Saturday, October 15, and a special train will leave the Union station at 8 a. m. on that day. The resort is located in the mountains and for years has been a point for one excursion a year.

May Build an Extension.

Plans are being drawn up, it is said, for an extension of the Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad from North Bessemer to Turtle Creek, where the northern terminal of the line will be located. The extension is to be made for the benefit of the Carnegie Steel Company. The present line terminates at North Bessemer, where it connects with the Union railroad and receives and delivers cars used in handling the ore to the mills.

Returned from Conference.

A meeting of the Vanderbilt passenger men has just been held in New York. A. J. Smith, the general passenger agent of the Lake Shore, and I. A. Robinson, general passenger agent of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, returned home yesterday. It was originally intended that all the passenger officials of the New York Central visit the world's fair after the meeting, but the plans did not carry. Arrangements were made to have a special train run to Pittsburgh, giving the officials a daylight ride over the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie.

Bessemer Changes Announced.

Owing to the close of the Exposition park at Conneaut Lake the several changes have been made on the Bessemer & Lake Erie. C. M. Brown, who was superintendent of the park, has been appointed supervisor of the road north of Greenville. R. V. Bagnall, train supervisor between Greenville and Kaylor, including the Hilliard branch, and T. F. Williams, supervisor of the line between Queen Junction and North Bessemer.

Railroad Notes.

R. C. Barnard, superintendent of the C. A. & C., was in the city yesterday.

Another conference between the officials of the Ft. Wayne and the Brotherhood of Trainmen was held yesterday. It is planned to hold daily meetings from now on until a settlement is effected.

The American Federation of Labor has filed a complaint with the interstate commerce commission alleging discrimination on the part of the Transcontinental Passenger and other associations in refusing reduced rates for delegates to the national meeting of the federation in San Francisco.

THE THREE RIVERS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 6.—The stage of the river at 6 o'clock this evening was 3.5 feet and rising. Weather clear and pleasant. Today's departures were: Katie Mac, Portsmouth; Levi J. Workum, Madison; Lizzie Bay, Louisville. Capt. Sam Coffin, formerly superintendent of the Queen City marine ways, suffered from an accident a few days ago in Vicksburg, which will lay him up for several weeks. He fell 15 feet from the upper deck of a boat, landing on his head, and then toppled over into the river. He was rescued by workmen and taken to his home.

WHEELING—River 2.11 feet and stationary. Cloudy and cool.

LOUISVILLE—River stationary. In canal, 2.1 feet; on falls, 0.0 feet; below locks, 2.9 feet. Clear and cool.

GREENSBORO—River 5 feet 10 inches and stationary. Weather fair and cooler. Columbia down Friday and Woodward up.

OIL CITY—River 1 foot 4 inches and falling. Weather clear and cool.

WAREN—River 1 foot. Weather clear and cool.

GALLIPOLIS.—River 3 feet 7 inches and stationary. Weather clear and cool.

PITTSBURG—River 4 feet 10 inches and stationary. Weather clear and cool. Down, Gazette, Scout. Up, George Gardner.

MORGANTOWN—River 5 feet 10 inches and stationary. Weather clear and colder.

STEUBENVILLE—River 2 feet 7 inches and stationary. Weather cloudy and cool.

PARKERSBURG—River 3.1 feet and falling. Weather clear and cold. The Bessie Smith left this afternoon for Wheeling.

The stage of water at Davis island dam, at 9 o'clock last night, was 3.3 feet and the river was stationary.

WILL HAVE TWO BOATS.

Captain Klein Will Use Them in Excursion Business on Local Rivers.

If reports along the river are correct, Capt. John Klein will be entitled to rank as a commodore next season. It is stated that he is going to purchase two boats to run in the river excursion business. If one boat makes a river man a captain, it is generally admitted that a fleet of two should but him up at least as high as commodore. Capt. Klein was busy all yesterday with the insurance agents adjusting the loss of his steamer Mayflower. He could not be seen to determine the truth of the report, but rivermen say that he is already negotiating for the boats and he fully intends to put two on the river trade.

The two flats which Jutte & Co. tried to float down the river some time ago have been safely landed at Marietta, their destination. They were loaded with iron cylinder timbers and stuck at Merriman. The recent swell in the river worked them loose and they were towed to Marietta by the little gasoline launch, Venus S.

October 15 is the date fixed for the opening of the Merrill dam, and all preparations for the event have been completed. Unfortunately there is only one big boat lying in that part of the river, which precludes the possibility of a river parade, as the boats from the Pittsburgh harbor cannot get down. The Boaz is lying at Rochester, and there is talk of chartering her for the occasion and making her the flagship of the fleet that will be assembled there. The others will be all small boats which can get up and down the river at any stage of water. The Boaz is a big one and will comfortably handle a large crowd.

J. T. Hatfield of Covington, Ky., who is engaged in the coal business at Pomeroy, left for his home last evening. He has been a guest at the Monongahela house and was a frequent visitor at the headquarters of Harbor 25.

The outlook for the coal business this season is particularly good. The increase in the price of coal stocks is an augury of what is to follow and rivermen generally are watching the market closely. Almost every boat on the river has been overhauled during the low water season and they are all in perfect condition for the rise when it comes.

The river water is having a bad effect on the boilers of all river craft now compelled to keep up steam, particularly the pump boats, which have to be kept going night and day. The trouble comes from the acid in the water, which eats out boilers and any metal work it comes in contact with. The rivermen are hoping for rain as much to clean out the rivers as to get their freight out.

Maj. W. L. Sibert, United States engineer in charge of the rivers, is at St. Louis attending the convention of United States engineers. He will read a paper there in relation to the improvement of the local rivers, and the efforts the government has made to improve them.

The Columbia went to Morgantown yesterday with a good freight and passenger list.

Capt. Gordon Greene and Charles F. Stadler have bought the steamer Neva. She has been running in the Gallipolis and Winfield trade and will be continued there. Capt. Greene is now the largest individual owner of steamboat property on the Ohio, owning the Greenland, Greenwood, Evergreen and Cricket, in addition to his new purchase. It is reported the Cricket will be placed in small trade about Gallipolis this fall.

Capt. William E. Roe of the Kanawha is said to be about to purchase the steamer Barnsdall. He will place her in the Marietta and Gallipolis trade as a feeder for his Kanawha trade.

KAISER OPENS A NEW TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

Spoke in Loud, Clear Voice, Which Refutes Report of a Fresh Growth in Vocal Chords.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

DANTZIC, PRUSSIA, Oct. 6.—Emperor William opened a new technical high school here today with considerable ceremony. The emperor emphasized his great interest in teaching "those technical sciences, which play such important part in the economic competition of nations."

The emperor's health is the subject of constant rumors which, after persistent inquiry, appear altogether without foundation. His majesty spoke in a loud, clear voice, which to those who heard him, was a practical refutation of the report of a fresh growth in the vocal chords, and especially as before the operation of 1903 the emperor's voice was noticeably impaired.

The emperor went to Hubertustock this evening. Prof. Slaby, the expert in wireless telegraphy, is his guest. One report was that the emperor will undergo an operation on his throat while at Hubertustock.

Production of Play Forbidden.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—The production of Oscar Blumenthal's latest drama, "The Dead Lion," has been forbidden by the president of the Berlin police. The play has for its subject the dismissal of Prince Bismarck with the subsequent psychological development of the old chancellor at Friedrichsruhe, all disguised by the laying the story in Castile during the Fourteenth century. Herr Blumenthal has appealed to the provincial government.

Stole Clothing, Watch and Money.

A thief entered the home of James Backman of Munhall, yesterday, while Mrs. Backman was in a nearby store, and stole some clothing, a gold watch and a sum of money. When Mrs. Backman met him coming from the house with a bundle under his arm he told her he was a laundryman looking for a customer.

Jasper Tried to Chew Down a Telegraph Pole

Jasper Smith, a Homestead negro, made a wager with a friend yesterday. It was, in effect, that he could chew down a telephone pole, and Jasper, just to show he was "dead game," went a little farther and stated that, having accomplished the job, he would never as much as look as if it had left a bad taste in his mouth. He lost the bet, was fined $1, and is now in a fit condition to spend several days in a dental chair. Smith had been imbibing of the stuff which makes men do strange things, and when a Homestead officer came along and found him at his strange task he placed him under arrest, but not until after he had had a rather tough fight.

HOSPITAL ASSOCIATION HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Elects Officers and Hears Report of Secretary Harper on Work Done.

The annual meeting and election of officials of the Hospital Saturday and Sunday association was held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room of the Free Dispensary building in Sixth avenue. The Rev. T. N. Boyle delivered the annual address, and predicted that the contributions for the coming year will reach $20,000, or over double the amount contributed this year.

Secretary and General Agent Samuel Harper presented his annual report covering the work done during the year. The report shows receipts aggregating $8,667 65 and disbursements of $8,336 12. The amounts received are classified as follows: Public schools, $2,215 13; churches and religious bodies, $1,931 06; booth collections, $1,338 24; private contributors, $516 50; fraternal and labor societies, $2,081 72.

The amount paid to different hospitals aggregated $6,641, and the total of free resident days at all of the hospitals in the city footed up 33,890 days. The amounts paid to the different hospitals were as follows: West Penn, $2,450; Homeopathic, $1,820; Allegheny General, $790; St. John's $550; Pittsburgh Hospital for Children, $440,65; South Side, $348,39; Presbyterian, $166,96; Free Dispensary, office privileges, $75.

Two hundred and thirty patients for every day in the year were cared for free of charge in the associated hospitals. This does not include a single case of the many thousands that receive dispensary treatment. Scores of persons, men, women and children, were admitted and cared for till well in hospitals on the recommendation of the association.

Short addresses commending the work of the association were made by William Dodds of the United Mine Workers' union; Mrs. L. H. Anderson of the executive board of the Presbyterian hospital of Allegheny; Director Edward Rynearson of the Pittsburgh High schools; Capt. J. W. Kreys superintendent of the West Penn hospital, and W. J. Robinson.

The election of officers resulted in the re-election of all of last year's officers as follows: President, W. M. McCullough; first vice president, W. J. Robinson; second vice president, Rev. T. N. Boyle, D. D.; secretary, and general agent, Samuel Harper; treasurer, Fidelity Title & Trust Company.

ALLEGE THAT MONAHAN REFUSED TO JOIN UNION

In the equity suit of W. H. Monahan against Charles Dietrich and others, to prevent his removal as superintendent of machinery in the bureau of fire, the defendants, who are members of the International Association of Machinists, yesterday filed answer. They deny that part of the plaintiff's bill where he says he "is fit and competent for said employment," for the reason, they say, they have no knowledge of its truth. They admit W. A. Mineely, business agent of the order, solicited Monahan to become an applicant for membership in local lodge 487, but they deny there was any conspiracy and the rest of the plaintiff's averments.

A Strong Man

Is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from indigestion or some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man doesn't feel just right, when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous and irritable, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man needs to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, stimulates the liver, nourishes the nerves, and so gives health and strength to the whole body.

Mr. Thomas A. Swarts, of Sub. Station C, Columbus, Ohio, Box 103, writes: "I was taken very sick with severe headache, then cramps in the stomach and my food would not digest, then kidney and liver trouble and my back got weak so I could scarcely get around. The more I doctored the worse I got until six years passed. I could only walk in the house by the aid of a chair, and I had given up to die. Then one of my neighbors said, 'Take my advice and take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and make a new man out of yourself.' The first bottle helped me and after I had taken eight bottles in about six weeks I was weighed and found I had gained twenty-seven (27) pounds, and I am as stout and healthy to-day, I think, as I ever was."

WAS CURED QUICKLY

Rheumatism in Two Severe Cases Mastered in a Few Weeks.

Public Interest Aroused by the Quickness and Completeness of the Cures, and the Remedy used by Mr. Schroeppel and Captain Balfour in Great Demand in the Vicinity of Their Homes.

In the winter of 1902-3 Mr. Schroeppel was attacked by rheumatism of a most pronounced and incapacitating type. So severe was the attack that he was confined to bed and was unable to help himself. The doctor was called in and treated him, but without success. He subsequently regained his health, however, by means which he described with great enthusiasm in response to an inquiry for particulars.

"After five or six weeks of helpless inactivity and pain," said he, "during which I was receiving visits at regular intervals from the doctor, I felt as bad as ever and almost despaired of ever being well again. About this time my mother, an old lady of eighty years, visited me and earnestly entreated me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for my ailment. She declared that she had received great benefit from their use in ridding herself of rheumatic pains at her advanced age, and she was confident they would help me. At her solicitation I gave up the doctor's treatment, reluctantly, however, and a member of the family was sent to the nearest drug store for a supply of the simple and inexpensive remedy which she so strongly recommended.

"And were you cured as the result of taking her advice?"

"Yes, quickly and thoroughly. Before the second box was finished I felt very manifest improvement in my condition, and within two weeks I was able not only to leave my bed, but to commence the spring work on my farm which had so long been neglected. I continued to use the pills, however, until eight boxes had been taken, although long before that I felt that every vestige of the disease had been eradicated from my system.

"Are there no traces of your former illness left?"

"Absolutely none. For a year and three months there has never been the slightest return of the old trouble, and that is the more remarkable because for years before every storm or spell of dark weather had caused serious and painful twinges. For this happy result I and my family freely praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Within the bounds of China township, St. Clair county, Michigan, there is no better known farmer than Mr. Henry Schroeppel. His fine farm, with its pretty white residence and attractive lawns and gardens, is admired by scores of people who drive daily to and from the city of St. Clair by way of the North road. Mr. Schroeppel's birthplace is at the homestead where King School stands, within a mile of his present farm, and the whole of his forty-two years have been spent on these two farms. His cure has naturally, therefore, attracted a great deal of attention.

One of Mr. Schroeppel's neighbors, Captain George Balfour, who during the months of navigation has command of one of the merchant steamers running between Buffalo and Duluth, after hearing of the salutary results in Mr. Schroeppel's case, decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for an attack of rheumatism from which he was himself suffering. He took eight or ten boxes and now declares himself free from this painful ailment. It is little wonder that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are much in favor and in evidence in almost every home in the community where Mr. Schroeppel and Captain Balfour are so well and favorably known.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure not only rheumatism, but also all diseases of the blood, such as anaemia, scrofula, erysipelas, and diseases of the nerves, such as neuralgia, sciatica and paralysis. They are sold by all druggists.
